PREFACE.

THE GENEALOGIST has recently lost two of its most able and constant supporters—Sir Edmund Bewley and General Wrottesley. The former was known to me only as a frequent and most courteous correspondent, from whom on questions relating to Irish genealogy I had long been accustomed to receive valuable assistance and advice. After a distinguished career at Trinity College, Dublin, at the Irish Bar and on the Judicial Bench, he devoted the close of his useful life mainly to genealogical and antiquarian studies, and his loss will be most keenly felt by his fellow workers. His additional note on the descent of the Fleetwood family, which appears in this volume, was I believe the last article which he wrote, and thus acquires an added interest. General Wrottesley was a contributor to this Magazine for over twenty years, and was one of the first to welcome me when I became Editor ; the friendship with him which followed will always be among my most pleasurable memories. An appreciative memoir from the pen of one well acquainted with his antiquarian labours will appear in the July number, and I have thought that no more fitting frontispiece to this volume could be selected than a portrait of one who was so well known to, and so great a favourite with, the subscribers.

Good wine needs no bush, and I need not enlarge upon the many excellent articles contained in this volume, which are, it will I think be admitted, fully up to the high standard of former years.

Mr. H. J. T. Wood desires me to express his regret that he has for a time been prevented by the pressure of other work from going on with his Pedigrees from the De Banco Rolls temp. Henry VII, but he trusts very shortly to be able to continue them.

I am glad to be able to announce that in the next volume a new Supplement will be commenced, consisting of the Administrations in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury from their commencement to at least the close of the sixteenth century, and perhaps to a later period, to be contributed by Mr. Reginald M. Glencross, to whom the cordial thanks of the subscribers are due. These Administrations were not included by Mr. J. Challenor Smith in his invaluable list of Wills published by the British Record Society, and the want of a dependable transcript of them has long been felt. I trust that our readers will kindly bring this Supplement to the notice of their friends, and that we may thus obtain many new subscribers.

H. W. FORSYTH HARWOOD.

The Genealogist.

NEVILL OF HABRUGH, BIGBY AND HALE.

It seems to me impossible to read Dugdale's account of the early Nevills in his Baronage, or the lives of the two Hugh de Nevills, said to be father and son, in the "Dictionary of National Biography," without being convinced of the great difficulty of rightly distinguishing between the various Hugh de Nevills, who lived in the first half of the thirteenth century, and held considerable estates in Lincolnshire. And yet I think with our present opportunities something can be done. Mr. Guiseppi's pedigree of the Essex Nevills, given us by Mr. E. Nevill in The Genealogist for July, 1907,¹ is a great help. Hugh de Nevill le Gras, of Grinsthorpe, is proved by a charter at Salisbury, Mr. E. Nevill has kindly told me of, to have been the son of Hervey de Nevill, and in 1229 Hugh's son, Ernisius,² paid a fine for his relief,³ and it was clearly Hugh de Nevill le Gras who married Desiderata, daughter and heir of Stephen de Camera, for Ernisius has her lands and is described as her son in 1235.⁴ And some Harleian Charters, with the help of other documents, give us a great deal of information about a branch of the family, which, as far as I know, has not yet been adequately dealt with. I transcribe the charters from the British Museum Catalogue, and venture to add a pedigree.

² The Christian name Ernisius has always puzzled me. Can it be Ervisius, otherwise Hervisius = Hervey? The father of Hugh Nevill le Gras was certainly Hervey, Mr. Drummond calls him Ervisius: Hugh's son is called Ernisius, should it be Ervisius? Ernisius de Nevill of Charter 54 B10 is called Hervey on the Yarboro' Roll, Linc. Notes and Queries, vii, 23.

Temp. Edw. I.

I do not set out the above pedigree as proved throughout beyond the possibility of a doubt, and shall be very glad of additional information, and, where necessary, correction.

A very useful document, which appears to be the original report of the jurors for the Wapentake of Yarborough in Lincolnshire, from which the "Hundred Rolls" were compiled, tells us⁵ that King Henry II gave to Hugh de Nevill, his "bachelarius," 4 carucates of land in Kirmington, and 2 carucates in Habrough as 1 fee without a charter, that King Richard I gave him a charter, and King John confirmed the gift. The same document tells us that Hugh de Nevill, grandson of the abovesaid Hugh, gave to Herbert de Saltletby a rent in Keelby fifteen years since (c. 1260). The first of these Hughs was dead in 1199, when Henry, his son, gave £100 to have his lands.⁶ In 1221 Henry was dead, and the King gave the custody of Hugh, his son and heir, to William de Albinacio,⁷ his lands being in Habrough, Kirmington and Hale. In 1243 Hugh de Nevill held 20 librates of land in Kirmington and Habrough of the King for 1 fee,⁸ $\frac{3}{4}$ fee in Hale of William de Dyve, who held of G. de Gaunt,⁹ and 1 fee in Bigby of Robert de Nevill, who held of the Bishop of Lincoln.¹⁰ So far the pedigree seems sufficiently proved, and William son of Henry de Nevill is mentioned on a Patent Roll in 1218. Then to the charter (54, B 8) of Hugh de Nevill of Bigby three of his sons are witnesses, Ernisius, Henry and Nicholas; and charter (54, B 25) mentions his son Geoffrey, and Peter, his father's uncle; and a son William is mentioned in another charter (54, B 24). It seems that this William obtained the fee in Habrough and Kirmington, for the Yarborough Roll, already quoted, tells us that Ernisius, brother and heir of William de Nevill, after William's death, gave it to Herbert de Salttletby. Ernisius had a son, Hugh (54, B 11), who by his wife Matilda had a son and heir, Thomas, under age in 1281 when Matilda demanded dower from lands in Hale which had belonged to her late husband Hugh de Nevill.¹¹ In 1303 the Habrough and Hale fees had passed away from the family, but Thomas de Nevill and Thomas de Rasen held the fee in Bigby, which Hugh de Nevill formerly held.¹²

I cannot carry the descent further, but I claim to have proved that there was a family of Nevills owning land early in the thirteenth century at Habrough, Kirmington, Bigby and Hale, distinct from, though doubtless related to, the Nevills of Essex, or Grimsthorpe, or Laceby. When Hugh de Nevill held in 1243 his fees in Habrough, Bigby and Hale, Hugh de Nevill le Gras was dead, and his son Ernisius had succeeded to his estates;¹³ and it was John de Nevill, the forester, son of Hugh de Nevill, who at that time held the Essex property and the fees in Lincolnshire, which came to him through his mother Joan de Cornhill.¹⁴ Then it can be proved that the father of Hugh de Nevill of Essex, was Ralph,¹⁵ and the father of Hugh de Nevill le Gras Hervey,¹⁶ facts which distinguish both from the Hugh de Nevills of Habrough and Hale.

The first portion of Mr. Drummond's pedigree of the Nevills in his "Noble British Families" may, with some notes, now help to show what progress has been made in unravelling the tangle, for it will be seen that we now have fairly good descents from five brothers and their uncle.

SOME MATERIAL FOR A PEDIGREE OF DR. EDMOND HALLEY.

John Aubrey records that Dr. Halley's father belonged to "the Halleys of Derbyshire,—a good family," and gives the coat armorial: "Sable, a fret and a canton argent."¹ Searches made at London and Oxford for a manuscript account of the Halley family have been unfruitful,² and, unless such a document exists in private possession, it would appear that no complete pedigree of the famous second Astronomer Royal has ever been compiled. The College of Arms has no record of any grant having been made to any person bearing the surname Halley,³ but the assertion that the coat: "Sa, fretty and a canton arg." was borne by the families of Hales, Hauley, co. Devon; Hawleys,⁴ has been deemed suggestive of a possible relationship between the Halley and Hawley families.⁵ In fact, some examples were discovered of the two spellings having been used indifferently in one family. An illustration of this is afforded by the name of Elizabeth Hawley, daughter of Peter Hawley, son of Robert Hawley and Elizabeth Kiddell, his wife, who are severally recorded under "Steward of Pattishall," in the published "Visitations of Northamptonshire, made in 1561 and 1618-19."⁶ Robert Hawley is described as "of Wittering" in Harleian MS. 1553, folio 205, while the will of Elizabeth Halley, of Whittering, is indexed as of record between the years 1520-26, in the "Calendar of Wills . . . Northampton and Rutland," edited by W. P. W. Phillimore, M.A., B.C.L.⁷ The village of Wittering, or Whittering, is situate about six miles west of Peterborough, in which latter place William Halley, an uncle of Dr. Halley, is known to have resided, circa 1673.

Amongst the wills and administrations recorded at Lichfield are twenty-one under the surname Halley.⁸ In seven instances the place of residence is named, and out of these seven, five are in Derbyshire. It follows, therefore, that of the total, probably about fifteen relate to the latter county, between the years 1533 and

Adm. of Humphrey and Margaret Halley, 1597 (page 241).

Many of the early wills are unregistered. The last-named Humphrey Halley may have been the grandfather or grand-uncle of his namesake, an abstract of whose will now follows:—

“Humphrey Halley, the elder, formerly citizen and vintner of London, now of Alconbury, Hunts. Whereas I had a lease from the city of London, of land in Candlewich Street, in the parish of Eastcheap, assigned to son Humphrey, Apr. 25, 1669. Lease from the company of fishmongers, of ground known by name of the sign of the Unicorn, in parish of All Hallows, Lombard Street, assigned to son William, Apr. 25, 1669. To son William, house in Fore Street, More Land and Purse Alley, in parish of St. Giles, Cripplegate. 40s./- to poor of parish of Alconbury. Daughter Elizabeth Cawthorne, sole executrix; residue to her. Dated May 7, 1672. Witnesses: Ambrose Cooker, Henry Aubrey, the mark of Edw. Phillips, Anne Morte. Codicil same date (and same witnesses); daughter Elizabeth to administer only for debts for which I have given security since Mar. 24, 1664. William Halley to administer for obligations incurred before that date. Item: I give to my son Edmond Halley, having formerly had and received of me, a full filial or child's portion, the sum of £5. Proved Oct. 23, 1672, by both executors. (P.C.C., reg. Eure, 122.)”

The year 1663 seems to mark the first purchase of land in Alconbury by Humphrey Halley,⁹ but it is not clear whether the purchaser was the abovenamed testator or his son Humphrey, who appears to have been buried at Alconbury, May 26th, 1676.¹⁰ It seems reasonably, though not positively, certain, however, that Humphrey Halley, vintner (who, in his will, describes himself as “very aged”) married Katherine Mewce, daughter of Nicholas Mewce and Elizabeth Morant, his wife.¹¹ In the parish records of Alconbury, is the entry of the burial of Katherine Halley, wife of Humphrey, September 12th, 1668. Elizabeth Morant was a daughter of Edmond Morant of London. Here we find the probable origin of the astronomer's Christian name, Edmond, which he always spelt thus,¹² when he did not abbreviate it into “Edm.,” as was his usual practice. The pedigree of Mewce of Holdenby,¹³ tracing from John Mewce of Calais,¹⁴ is especially interesting in this connection, for it gives a plausible explanation of the names Francis, Elizabeth and Katherine, as well as Edmond, in the Halley family. Francis Mewce, a brother of Katherine, married, 26 May, 1615, Elizabeth Washington, daughter of Lawrence Washington, of Sulgrave.¹⁵

Of the three sons of Humphrey Halley, vintner, William and Humphrey, junior, made their wills as follows:—

“William Halley of the city of Peterborough. To son Francis Halley, brick-built houses in Fanchurch Street in the occup'n of John Hayton and William Warrington, and to the hayres of his body, and for want of such hayres, to my wife for her naturall life and after her decease to the hayres or assigns of loving wife Ann Halley. To poor of Peterborough £5. To brothers Humphrey and Edmund Halley £10 a piece. To wife, her heires or assigns, all houses in More Lane, Purs Alley and Fore Street, in Cripple gate. Residue to wife. Wife sole executrix. Dated Jan. 30, 1673. Proved by Ann Halley, Mar. 6, 1674-5. (P.C.C., reg. Dyeer, fo. 146.)”

“Humfrey Halley, of London, gent. To two kinsmen Edmund Halley and Humfrey Halley £100 a piece. To kinswoman Catherine Cawthorne £60. To kinswoman Ann Cawthorne £100. To Ann Partridge of Alconbury and her two daughters, Elizabeth Partridge and Anne Monke £5 a piece. To kinsman Humfrey Cawthorne £50. To Elizabeth Goodwin, wife of Joseph Goodwin, citizen and goldsmith of London £30. To Elizabeth, daughter of above named, £20. To Sarah Robson of London 40s/- per annum for life. Also £5 to Sarah Robson. To Susan Sandwith, widow, of Alconbury, £3 per annum for life. To John Kersey £5. To Samuel Trott 40s/- 1s/- a piece to the rest of my near relations (not in this my will named) to be paid to him, her or them when he, she or they, each, every or any of them shall come and demand the same of my ex'ors, and not before. The rest and residue I do with a free heart wholly give and bequeath to my loving and well beloved brother, Edmund Halley, Citizen and Salter of London and I do hereby make and ordaine him, my said loving brother, my sole ex'or. Dated Feb. 23, 1674-5. Witnesses: John Payne, John Plomer, Thomas Mewce. Proved by Edmund Halley, June 3, 1676. (P.C.C., reg. Bence, fo. 66.)”

The fact that one Thomas Mewce was a witness to the will of Humfrey Halley is significant. Elizabeth Cawthorne, wife of John, was buried at Alconbury, Sept. 28, 1673, according to the parish-register. She must have been identical with the elder Humphrey Halley's daughter, whose death, presumably, took place between October, 1672, when she proved her father's will, and February, 1674-5, when her brother, Humfrey Halley, made his will.

Edmond Halley, salter, who was the father of Dr. E. Halley, was twice married, and died intestate, in April, 1684.¹⁶ Letters of administration of his estate were granted 30th June, 1684, to Sir John Buckworth and Richard Young, "in usum et beneficium Joannae Halley relictæ dicti defuncti et Edmundi Halley, filii dicti defuncti."¹⁷ Richard Young was the nominee of the widow, while Sir John Buckworth was appointed by the astronomer to represent his interests, as is shown by some Chancery proceedings, "Young vs. Halley," in the Public Record Office, 1693.¹⁸ The will of Sir John Buckworth, as of the parish of St. Peter le Poer (1688, reg. Exton, folio 2), makes no mention of Edmond Halley, and the document affords no evidence of any relationship having existed between them.

In the "Biographia Britannica" one finds concerning Edmond Halley, salter, these meagre remarks:—

"Possessed of an estate of a thousand pounds a year in houses, before the fire of London, yet as he was a great sufferer by that fire, so entring into an imprudent second marriage he became unable to renew the leases of his houses when the old ones expired, whence it came to pass, that his fortune mouldring away by degrees, sunk at last into a low ebb."¹⁹

Among his possessions in 1666 was a house containing nine hearths, in Finsbury, St. Giles, Cripplegate.²⁰

Respecting the birth of Dr. Edmond Halley, the astronomer, we have this record made by his contemporary, John Aubrey:—

"Mr. Edmund Hally, astronomer, born October 29, 1656, London—this nativity I had from Mr. Hally himself . . . He was born in Shoreditch parish, at a place called Haggerston, the backside of Hogsdon."²¹

A confirmatory and, in some respects, complementary, statement appears in the "Biographia Britannica":—

"Edmund Halley was born near London, October 29, 1656, in the parish of St. Leonard, Shoreditch, at a place called Haggerston, which then consisted of little more besides a country-house belonging to his father, Edmund Halley, who was a Citizen and Soapboiler in Winchester Street."²²

As there is no record in the parish of Shoreditch of the baptism of Dr. Halley, during the three months subsequent to his birth,²³ it seems possible that he may have been baptised in the parish of St. Giles, Cripplegate, the church of which, by the way, is said to be in one of the most interesting parts of London. On that spot Oliver Cromwell took unto himself a wife, and there also, was laid to rest all that was not immortal of John Milton.

The name of Dr. Halley's mother, the first wife of his father, has not been discovered. This is most unfortunate, for it has justly been remarked that the pedigree of a genius is quite incomplete without some record of his maternal ancestry. The astronomer has been described as an only child,²⁴ but John Aubrey calls him "the eldest son,"²⁵ and we now know that he had a younger brother, Humphrey, who died circa 1684.²⁶

Edmond Halley early turned his attention and his mental energies to science. Before attaining his twentieth year, he had published a very learned essay, in Latin, on "A Direct and Geometrical Method for Finding the Aphelia and Eccentricity of Planets."²⁷ It is impossible and unnecessary here to comment upon his many achievements. He travelled extensively, on both land and sea, and, among many other journeys, he left England 1st December, 1680, to make "the Grand Tour" of the Continent, according to John Aubrey,²⁸ who adds that "He returned into England, Jan. 24, 1681-2."²⁹ It is said that shortly after returning to his native land, Halley was married, in 1682, to Miss Mary Tooke,³⁰ who was a daughter of Christopher Tooke, Auditor of the Exchequer, and Margaret Kinder, his wife.³¹ Sir David Brewster remarks that "Halley lived harmoniously with his wife for fifty-five years,"³² truly a delightful picture of conjugal felicity, but one that contains an error of a year, for which the eminent Sir David is not primarily responsible.³³ Mrs. Halley was buried at Lee, 14th February, 1735-6,³⁴ which was about fifty-four years after her marriage.

Halley took up his residence at Islington, in 1682,³⁵ and later removed to a house in Golden Lion Court, Aldersgate Street, London.³⁶ The latter thoroughfare (a court on the east side of Aldersgate Street, a few yards north of the existing Falcon Street) has, seemingly, passed into forgotten history, but there is a bibliographical reminder of its former existence, for the second edition of Milton's "Paradise Lost," was "printed by S. Simmons, next door to the Golden Lion, in Aldersgate Street, 1674." It is stated that Halley had several children,³⁷ and Sir David Brewster undertakes to say, "both sons and daughters, some of whom died in infancy."³⁸ Possibly, this is true, but no other authority has been discovered for more than one son. The Parish Register of St. Mary's, Islington, contains an entry of the baptism of Katharin Hally, daughter of Edmond and Mary, 27th March, 1683-4,³⁹ but she was, undoubtedly, among the children who died in infancy, because Dr. Halley's two surviving daughters, Margaret and Katherine, named in his will, were both born circa 1688.⁴⁰ Yet we are told that "from 1684, his family was increasing apace."⁴¹ Among other entries found at Islington are these two burials:—Hadly, Kathern, Feb. 29, 1683-4; Hally, Mary, daught. of Edward, June 8, 1686. The Register of St. Mary's, Islington, yields no record of the marriage of Dr. Halley, in 1682. Some further facts might, possibly, be recovered from the records of St. Botolph, Aldersgate Street. We now come to the will of the astronomer:—

"In the name of God, I Edmond Halley, Doctor of Laws and Astronomer in the royal Observatory in Greenwich [so in the Register] park being in good health of body, as well as of perfect and sound mind and memory, considering the certainty of death and uncertainty of the time of it, in order when it shall happen, to leave behind me my family in peace, Do therefore make and Declare this my last Will and Testament in manner and form following; Imprimis: I recommend my Soul to the Mercy of Almighty God, And as to my Body; my Will and Desire is that it may be Interred in the same grave with that of my Dear Wife lately deceased, in the Churchyard of Lee in Kent. Next, since my son Edmond is in actual possession of the best part of the Real Estate of the ffamily and may Inherit the rest after my Decease, the whole being of greater Value than the personall Estate I have to leave my two daughters Margaret Halley and Katherine now wife to Mr. Henry Price, And besides he being retained in the Service of the Crown as a Surgeon seems to be sufficiently provided for, my Desire is that he may therewith be Contented and accept of Twenty pounds for mourning. As for my personal Estate consisting in the remainder of a Lease of a House in Cannon St., London, now in the occupation of Mrs. Mary Camm or her Assigns, as likewise in Goods, ready Money, Plate, Books, &c., I give them to my said two Daughters Margaret and Katherine to be equally divided between them, hoping that the division may be made amicably. Lastly I hereby constitute and appoint my said Two Daughters joint Executrices of this my last Will and Testament which is written with my own hand. Signed: Edmond Halley. Dated 18th June, 1736. Witnesses: James Bradley, Ellener Simpson. Proved 9th February, 1741-2, by Margaret Halley, spinster, and Katherine the wife of Henry Price. (P.C.C., reg. Trenley, fo. 53.)"

Dr. Halley died 14th January, 1742,⁴² that is, 25th January, 1742, N.S.,⁴³ and was buried six days later⁴⁴ in the churchyard at Lee, where a handsome tomb was erected by his two daughters the following year.⁴⁵ His tomb-stone was, however, removed to Greenwich, in 1851.⁴⁶ "He was of a happy constitution and preserved his memory and judgment to the last, as he did also that particular cheerfulness of spirit for which he was remarkable. . . . In his person, he was of a middle stature inclining to tallness, of a thin habit of body and a fair complexion, and always spoke as well as acted with an uncommon degree of sprightliness and vivacity."⁴⁷ A consensus of opinion would place him very near, if not second, to Sir Isaac Newton, amongst the world's geniuses.⁴⁸ One cannot refrain from expressing, at this point, the hope that the preparation and publication of a biography of that illustrious astronomer will not be much longer postponed; his career certainly contained all that is necessary to make a fascinating and instructive narrative for both scientist and general reader alike.

Several portraits of Halley are in existence, and lists thereof have been published.⁴⁹ One "done exactly like him, by Mr. Tho. Murray, who gave it," was placed in the gallery of the Bodleian Library at Oxford shortly before 13th November, 1713.⁵⁰ Another, ascribed to Dahl, in the possession of the Royal Society, was engraved for the "Imperial Dictionary of Universal Biography," to accompany Brewster's sketch of Halley. The latter copy appears also in Knight's "Gallery of Portraits with Memoirs" (1833) and elsewhere, and is, perhaps, after the picture that hung, it is said, in the ante-chamber of the Royal Society's house, in 1768.⁵¹ At the same epoch, however, that learned body possessed also another portrait of Halley, which was on the staircase,⁵² "left as a legacy, 1764, by his daughter," Mrs. Catherine Price.⁵³ It would, indeed, be interesting to learn if the last mentioned picture is identical with the one that, in 1757, was in the possession of the astronomer's son-in-law, Mr. Henry Price, and in which, we are told, Halley "is presented, by his own direction, holding in his hand a scroll."⁵⁴

Halley's elder surviving daughter, Margaret, who never married, died 13th October, 1743, in the fifty-fifth year of her age,⁵⁴ and was buried at Lee the 20th of the same month, "in linnen and the penalty paid.”⁵⁵ She is described as “late of the parish of St. Bridget, otherwise Brides, London, spinster,” in the Letters of administration of her estate which were granted, in November, 1743, to her sister, Katherine. The latter, who seems to have adopted the spelling Catherine, married, first, 2nd October, 1721, Richard Butler, of St. Martin’s-le-Grand, widower,⁵⁶ whose will has not been found. Mrs. Butler married, second, Mr. Henry Price, who made his will, as of St. Andrew’s, Holborn, May 31, 1755, proved 20th January, 1764 (P.C.C., reg. Simpson, fo. 25), making his wife his sole heir. Mrs. Catherine Price’s will, as of St. Mary Woolnoth, London, dated 8th July. 1764, proved 14th November, 1765 (P.C.C., reg. Rushworth, fo. 423), indicates that she died without issue.⁵⁷ Her death occurred 10th November, 1765,⁵⁸ and her remains were interred at Lee.⁵⁹

The real estate mentioned by Dr. Halley in his will, as being in the actual possession of his son, Surgeon Halley, in 1736, had been inherited by the latter from his mother a few months previously.⁶⁰ The other real estate owned by the astronomer, in 1736, may have been sold by him before his own death in 1742, but as to this there seems to be a reasonable doubt. Possibly, it was among the unidentified properties mentioned in the will of Mrs. C. Price.⁶¹ Surgeon Halley, born circa (?) 1700,⁶² entered the Royal Navy as a Surgeon in 1732; the last official entry in the Admiralty archives, of his service, is 8th August, 1740,⁶³ but it appears that he died early in February 1740-1, perhaps at Portsmouth.⁶⁴ A careful examination of the log-books of H.M.S. “Dursley” and “Bristol” (1739-1740), on which he is said to have served, did not reveal an entry of his name. His will and that of his wife follow:—

“I, Edmund Halley, Surgeon of his Majesty’s ship the Bristol, Capt. Wm. Chambers, without any further form or ceremony do give and bequeath unto my welbeloved wife Sybilla Halley all such Moneys, Goods, Chattles, Lands, Tenements, &c., that I now possess or may be posses’d of, by what Right or Title soever, leaving her my abovesaid Wife Sybilla Halley at my decease my sole Heir and Executrix to this my last Will and Testament. Dated 8th Nov., 1739. Witnesses: Jno. Poynter, E. Bradston. Proved 12th Feb., 1740-1, by Sybilla Halley. (P.C.C., reg. Spurway, fo. 39.)”

Witnesses: Thomas Friend, John Woodham, William Munro. Proved Nov. 13, 1772, by Sybilla Parry, power being reserved to Catherine Beaumont. (P.C.C., reg. Taverner, fo. 406.)"

The Index to Register Spurway contains after the name of Surgeon Halley, the word "Kent" and, in the margin, "pts," which may indicate, first, that his legal domicile was in Kent, and, second that he died upon the high seas. It has been thought a little strange that Dr. Halley, the astronomer, made no change in his will after his son's death.⁶⁵ Further than the entry of the burial of Mrs. Sybilla Halley, surgeon's widow, at Greenwich, 22nd May, 1772, there is no mention of her or her husband in the parish records of Greenwich. She seems to have been a widow when she married Surgeon Halley.⁶⁶

The evidence above presented indicates that the astronomer had only one son, Surgeon Halley, who attained years of maturity. If any descendants of the latter are now living, that fact has not been confirmed by documentary proof. There are traditions, however, which seem to imply that he had at least one child, a daughter, who married a Pyke, circa 1750. Long after these traditions were recorded,⁶⁷ it was discovered that (as shall presently be shown) a relationship between the Halley and Pyke families did exist, circa 1698-1718, and it is not at all certain that it was not continued or renewed by subsequent intermarriage, circa 1750.⁶⁸

The only two remaining Halley descendants of Humphrey Halley, vintner, appear to have been Francis Halley, sen., and Francis Halley, jun., whose wills are as follows:—

"Francis Halley of London, gent. To sonne Francis Halley and his heirs forever all my two messuages or residences in Mincin Lane (and) in Fenchurch St., and in case my sonne die without issue, to my sister Mary Ward wife of John Ward, for life, then to Nicholas Wright of the parish of St. Giles, Cripplegate. £10 to sister Mary Ward. Personal research by the writer, on this subject, during the last ten years, has been confined chiefly to the four principal libraries of Chicago which, fortunately, possess large and growing treasure-stores for the student. To the many British genealogists and others, who, attracted by the magic name of Halley, have taken a personal interest in this quest and who have courteously and promptly responded to the numerous inquiries submitted to them, the writer wishes to express his sincerest thanks. An especial grateful acknowledgment is made to Mr. Ralph J. Beevor, M.A., of St. Albans, whose original discoveries and whose generous collaboration, during several years, in the pursuit of many clues, both far and near, have rendered possible a sketch that could not otherwise have been put into its present form.

NOTES ON KENRICK FAMILIES.

By W. F. CARTER.

I now return to the Reverend John Kenrick, whose wife's ancestry has necessarily been dealt with more briefly than I could have wished. He died, as already stated, in 1745, and his widow (of whom I have given full particulars in the account of the Hamilton family), survived him for more than thirty years. She left an interesting will, of which the following is an abstract :—

MRS. SARAH KENRICK, widow of the Reverend John Kenrick, dated 28 April 1770.

"Whereas my late husband by his will dated 17 July 1742, did bequeath his estate to me with power to charge the purchased estates with any sum not exceeding £200 for the benefit of our younger children, and did appoint me sole executrix." She leaves to her eldest son John, "Henry's first volume on the Bible, Dr. Baxter's Works, one volume each of Dr. Manton's and Dr. Evans' Sermons, and Mr. Philip Henry's Life." Her son Archibald being dead, and his daughter Sarah living, she leaves to the latter £50, at the age of 21, and a silver watch, a silver spoon, a set of china, Mr. Henry's second volume on the Bible, Mr. Matthew Henry's Life, the Life of Col. Gardiner, the Christian Oratory of Mr. Bennet, and White's Power of Godliness. If Sarah dies under age, the £50 is to be divided equally between Testatrix's three younger sons Samuel, William and Edward.

To son Samuel Kenrick two silver spoons, one large silver cup, one silver candlestick and a pair of snuffers. To grand-daughter Mary Kenrick the picture of my father and mother. To son William, silver, and Mr. Henry's fourth volume⁶³ and the other books not disposed of. To son Edward Kenrick a silver porringer, a silver cup, two large silver spoons, Mr. Henry's fifth volume, one volume of Dr. Manton's Sermons, Fleming's Fulfilling of the Scripture, one volume of the Rev. Mr. Howe, one volume of the Rev. Mr. Baxter, "and any other book he has a mind of." Son William Kenrick to have all the linen. Grandchildren John, James, Timothy and Martha to have . . . guineas each to buy Bibles. My son John Kenrick to give the sum of £6 19s. 2d., due to me from him for goods in the house at Ruabon to his daughter Sarah and son Archibald to buy Bibles and other good books. The residue of my estate to sons William and Edward, and they executors.

Witnesses—John Brereton and John Adderley.

The Reverend John Kenrick and Sarah, his wife, had the following issue, seven children :—

1. John Kenrick, of Wynn Hall, of whom hereafter.
2. Archibald Kenrick, named evidently after his maternal grandfather. He was born 23rd June 1727, and was an ⁶³ If the abstract is not at fault, it seems that the testatrix forgot to specially dispose of Henry's third volume. I have noted at least one other case in which a testator has divided up this set of ponderous tomes. Mrs. Kenrick, it will be seen, divides up other sets also.

apothecary of Tower Hill, Wrexham.⁶⁴ "He died in a fever taken in his attendance upon a Patient,"⁶⁴ 12th May 1762,⁶⁵ and was buried on the 14th as "Mr. Archibald Kenrick, Apothecary and Surgeon," at the Presbyterian burial ground, Wrexham. He married⁶⁵ at Wrexham Church 5th December 1757, Margaret Wilkinson, spinster, (called "Mary" in the family pedigree), and they had issue, an only child:—

Sarah Kenrick, baptised at the Presbyterian Chapel, Wrexham, 5th November 1759, as "daughter of Mr. Arch. Kenrick, Apothecary, by his wife Margaret." Her grandmother's bequests to her have already been mentioned. She married,⁶⁵ at some date after 1777, John Stevenson, of Tipton, Staffordshire, and their daughter Sarah Stevenson (who died 14th December 1879) married in 1848 her second cousin George Smith Kenrick [see Pedigree (5*b*) of the Kenricks of Birmingham and West Bromwich]. I cannot say whether John and Sarah Stevenson had other issue besides Sarah.

3. Samuel Kenrick, of whom it is said,⁶⁵ "Tour of Europe," meaning I suppose, that he wrote an account of such a tour. He was born in 1728, and was a Banker at Bewdley, Worcestershire,⁶⁵ that town being then an important trade centre. It was, in fact, the highest port on the Severn up to which shipping of any size could come, and was therefore the point of contact for much of the trade between Bristol and the Staffordshire Iron District. Hunter states that Kenrick's Bank was one of the first Country Banks established in England. Samuel Kenrick died 6th October 1811.⁶⁶ He married⁶⁵ Elizabeth Smith, daughter of a Scottish Minister of Mayboll, Ayrshire, by whom he had issue:—⁶⁵

Mary Kenrick, who died unmarried in 1812.

4. William Kenrick, born 10th March, 1729/30. He carried on the business of a Brazier at Wrexham, apparently at the premises formerly occupied by his uncle Daniel. He died the 22nd, and was buried at the Presbyterian Burial Ground on the 25th May 1793.⁶⁶ He appears to have died unmarried.
5. Edward Kenrick (see pedigree "C" hereafter).
6. Daniel Kenrick, born and died 1736. Of him there is a note in his father's handwriting in Mrs. Kenrick's memorandum book:—"1736. My dear child Daniel Kenrick died of the small-pox on Thursday the 28th of October 1736, being the eleventh day of his sickness, and the ninth month of his age."

1. Sarah Kenrick, who was buried as "daughter of the late Rev. Mr. John Kenrick" at the Presbyterian Burial Ground 28th May 1757, her age being stated as 23.

JOHN KENRICK (son of the Rev. John, son of Samuel, son of Edward) succeeded, as eldest son, to the Wynn Hall estate. I have little information concerning him, but he was evidently born about 1725. He married Mary Quarrell, daughter of Timothy Quarrell,⁶⁷ of Llanfylllyn, Montgomeryshire, their marriage licence being dated 18th December 1750. Of her, says the Family Pedigree, "it is known that she had a sister Dorothy Quarrell;" but if that refers to one of the two persons mentioned in the epitaph below,⁶⁸ it will be seen that Dorothy can hardly have been her sister, though she might well be her mother or aunt. Martha Quarrell, whose death is also recorded in the epitaph, is called "widow" in the Chapel Register, which also describes both ladies as "lately

⁶⁷ This extremely rare name, of which one would gladly learn more, is derived, I suppose, from some "Quarr Hill," whose whereabouts I have been unable to find. Although the earliest reference I have discovered to the Quarrells discloses a family of them at Norwich in the fourteenth or fifteenth century, I think that they sprang from Herefordshire or the surrounding district. At any rate, about 1486--1493, Harry Quarrell, brother and heir to John Quarrell, brought an action in Chancery (Early Chancery Proceedings, Bundle 106, No. 61) against Thomas and David Quarrell concerning a messuage and lands in Wronbrigge (? Wormbridge), Herefordshire; while at the 1634 Herald's Visitation of that county, John Quarrell of Didley (in St. Devereux, near Wormbridge), was "disclaimed." In the seventeenth century I find Thomas Quarrell, gentleman, of Taunton, a testator in 1652 (P.C.C. Wootton, 24), and William Quarrell of Roxton in Bedfordshire a testator in 1653 (P.C.C. Wootton, 38), while in James Quarrell, who, with Timothy Thomas, is mentioned in 1657 as a "minister of the gospel" in the will (P.C.C. Wootton, 79) of Philip ap Richard, a Shropshire yeoman, of Measbury (Maesbury, three miles S.E. of Oswestry), we may perhaps have an ancestor of John Kenrick's wife. In the latter end of the eighteenth century there were a William D...s Quarrell, Esq., and Alice his wife, of Jamaica (Mis. Gen. and Her., 2nd Ser. i, 115), and in 1876 Henry John Quarrell, second son of the Rev. Richard Quarrell, of Weston-super-Mare, matriculated at Worcester College, Oxford. Mr. Thomas Chance Quarrell, of Worcester, represents, I understand, a family which has held land in Leigh, near Malvern, since about 1570, and there are several tombstones in memory of this or another Quarrell family at Fladbury, in Worcestershire. As I have stated, John Quarrell, of Didley, was "disclaimed" in 1634, but Burke's all-embracing "Armoury" assigns Argent, a chevron between three oak leaves sable as the arms of some Quarrell, whose habitation, period, and Christian name are left in splendid obscurity. [I am indebted to the courtesy of the Editor of The Genealogist for the identification of "Wormbridge," "Didley," and "Measbury."]

of Llanfylling." John Kenrick lived to the age of 78, and was buried in the Presbyterian Burial Ground, Wrexham, on the 15th July 1803, being described in the register as "of Wynn Hall in the parish of Rhuabon." John and Mary Kenrick had issue:—

1. John Kenrick, who was baptised at the Presbyterian Chapel, Wrexham, 9th October 1753. He married Sarah Savage, eldest daughter of Samuel Savage, of Clay Hill, Enfield, Middlesex, who was the son of a John Savage, whose parentage has apparently not been ascertained. Catherine, mother of Samuel and (second) wife of John, was the daughter of another John Savage, of Wrenbury, by . . . , eldest daughter of the well-known Puritan divine, Philip Henry. John and Sarah Kenrick spent the greater part of their early married life at or near Whitchurch, Salop, but he succeeded to Wynn Hall on the death of his father. He died in 1823, having had twelve children, five sons and seven daughters. The youngest son Edward Kenrick, born 10th February 1801, married Phœbe Ellen Hopkins, by whom he had two daughters; he emigrated to the United States. The fourth son and tenth child,

William Kenrick, was born 24th July 1798, and eventually succeeded to the Wynn Hall estate. He married Sarah, daughter of James Edmondson, of Lancaster, and died in 1865, having had issue:—

- (1) William Wynne Kenrick, who married Mary Ann James (daughter of John James, Town Clerk of Wrexham), by whom he left issue. He died in 1892, aged 54, in British Guiana, where he was Commissioner of Mines.
- (2) John Kenrick, of Wynne Hall, married Benedicta, daughter of John Foulkes, of Rhosddu Lodge, near Wrexham, and died s.p.
- (3) Arthur Hamilton Kenrick, of Tonbridge, Kent, now living.
- (4) Llewelyn Kenrick, now living unmarried at Wynn Hall,⁶⁹ Clerk to the Justices of Denbighshire, and County Coroner.
- (5) Herbert Archibald Kenrick.

⁶⁹ I have almost complete particulars of the Wynn Hall Kenricks, descended from John (who died 1823), but fortunately a member of the family is interested in the subject, and will, I hope, deal with their history more thoroughly and satisfactorily than would be possible for a stranger.

- (1) Sarah Savage Kenrick. Married at Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, 18th July 1866, Thomas Edward Minshall, son of Thomas Minshall, of Oswestry, and died in . . . leaving issue.
2. James Kenrick, who was baptised at Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, 13th May 1757. He was a banker, carrying on business at Hope Street, Wrexham, and dying "of a fall from his gig at Park Gate" (M.I.), 26th September 1824, was buried in the Presbyterian Burial Ground, Wrexham, on the 4th of October, the register stating that the burial service was taken by the Reverend John Kenrick, of York.
3. Timothy Kenrick, who was baptised at Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, 6th February 1759. He became a notable Presbyterian or Unitarian⁷⁰ Minister at Exeter, and was a theological writer of repute, his principal work being an "Exposition of the Historical Writings of the New Testament," which though soon rendered obsolete by the rapid advance of the science of Biblical Criticism, was well abreast or rather ahead of the learning of his day. There is a good account of him in "The Dictionary of National Biography," but the following particulars concerning him and his descendants are taken almost entirely from the "Family Pedigree." He married first Mary Waymouth (daughter of John Waymouth, of Exeter), who was the mother of his children, and died in 1793; second Elizabeth Belsham, who died in 1819, and was sister of the Reverend Thomas Belsham,⁷¹ Minister (1805—1825) of the Essex Street Chapel, London. Mr. Timothy Kenrick died 22nd August 1804, having had the following issue:—

- (1) John Kenrick, the well-known scholar and antiquary, who was born 4th February 1788. He was a man of quite extraordinary intellectual powers. A theologian with a consummate grasp of classical learning and literature; a profound Hebrew scholar, declared by Dean Stanley to be "in the same line with Blomfield and Thirlwall;" and an admitted expert in primitive and classical archaeology; he was content to remain as Minister of the comparatively unimportant Chapel of St. Saviourgate, York, and to give the world the benefit of his learning. And some will think it not the least of his services that he was chiefly responsible for "the admirable condition of the Museum at York in its department of Antiquities." He married in August 1821 Letitia Wellbeloved, eldest daughter of the Reverend Charles Wellbeloved,⁷² but by her (who died in 1879) had no issue. Mr. Kenrick died 7th March 1877. There is a full account of him in the "Dictionary of National Biography," and a delightful "In Memoriam" study of his character and life was written by the late Dr. Martineau.

(2) Samuel Kenrick. Born 11th January 1790, and succeeded to his uncle James Kenrick's banking business. Married 23rd September 1822 his first cousin Mary Anne Kenrick, daughter of his uncle Archibald Kenrick, but by her (who died . . January 1888) had no issue. Mr. Samuel Kenrick died . . December 1854.

(3) George Kenrick (The Rev.). Born at Exeter 1792, and was successively Presbyterian Minister at Chesterfield, Hull, Maidstone and Hampstead. He married three times:—First, in 1817, Mary Hodgson, daughter of the Rev. Richard Hodgson, of Doncaster, and by her had a daughter Marianne, who married in 1849 Abraham Champion, of Bristol, engineer, and died in 1898; second, 11th October 1822, Margaret Bowring, daughter of Charles Bowring, of Exeter. She died without issue, September 1824, and was buried at Exeter; third, in May 1848, . . . daughter of . . . Walters. The Rev. George Kenrick died in 1874. He was a man of some eminence in his calling, and is briefly noticed in the "Dictionary of National Biography." Hunter notes that he was living at Clifton, Bristol, in 1821.

(1) Lucy Kenrick. Born 27th March 1786. Married 26th November 1831 Timothy Smith, who died in 1834. She died in 1877.

(2) Mary Kenrick. Born May 1791. Married in 1813 Thomas Whitehead Reid.

4. Archibald Kenrick, ancestor of the Kenricks of West Bromwich and Birmingham. See Pedigree 5 b.
1. Mary Kenrick. Baptised at Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, 19th November 1751. Living 7th February 1773. Died unmarried.
2. Martha Kenrick. Born 1762. Baptised at Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, 18 June 1762. Married the Rev. James Parry, of Wrexham, afterward of Chester, where she died 2nd August 1853, but was buried at Wrexham.
3. Sarah Kenrick. Born 25th February 1777. Married Ralph Eddowes, of Chester, son of John Eddowes of a well-known family at Whitchurch, Salop. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eddowes emigrated to the United States, where she died at Hopley, near Philadelphia, 30th January 1815, having had at least thirteen children. He died in 1833.

A FURTHER NOTE ON AN IRISH BRANCH OF THE FLEETWOOD FAMILY.

BY SIR EDMUND T. BEWLEY, LL.D., F.S.A.

In an article on this subject in the last number of *The Genealogist*¹ it was asserted with some confidence, for the reasons there stated, that Thomas Fleetwood, who was Sheriff of Westmeath in 1625—1626, and again in 1626—1627, must have been the same person as Thomas Fleetwood, brother of Lady Lambart, and that the latter probably came originally to Ireland "to discharge the duties of Seneschal of the Manor of Kilbeggan, . . . or to act in some other capacity in the management of the extensive Lambart estates." The correctness of these conclusions has now been established by evidence recently discovered.

There are in the Public Record Office at Dublin somewhat more than 13,000 Chancery Bills filed prior to September 1634, which are still unindexed. A good many years ago a Calendar or Chronological Catalogue of these Bills was compiled, giving the dates of the filing and the names of the parties, but it has hitherto remained unbound and not accessible to the general public. This list has been carefully examined by Mr. Temison Groves, an experienced Record agent, well known to all workers in the Public Record Office at Dublin, and he very kindly noted for me all Bills to which a Fleetwood was a party. These proved to be eight in number; but two referred to the Fleetwoods of Munster, and two others to some litigation between Sir Miles Fleetwood and Lord Cavan; in the remaining four the first Thomas Fleetwood, of Kilbeggan, was a defendant. Of these latter, one was of no importance, being concerned merely with a claim against Thomas

Fleetwood on foot of a Bill of Exchange, but three proved to be of considerable interest. On 9th May 1622, Maltby Brabazon, William O'Molloy, and Robert Ware, Esquires, filed their Bill against the Right Honourable Lady Lambart, Baroness of Cavan, and Thomas Fleetwood, stating that the plaintiffs were sureties for George Maltby, who was indebted to Lady Lambart in the sum of £600, and that before they entered into the security required, Thomas Fleetwood "being brother and agent of the said Lady Baroness, and pretending himself to have authority to receive the rents and dispose of the lands of the said George Maltby" promised if they became sureties to get directions and authority to the under-tenants to pay the said rents to the plaintiffs, but that he had not only failed to obtain the promised warrant or authority, but had charged the under-tenants not to pay the said rents to the plaintiffs, and had recovered judgment against the plaintiffs in an action in the Common Pleas on a bond for the penal sum of £1,200 entered into by the plaintiffs with the said Thomas Fleetwood as a trustee for Lady Lambart.

On 21st June 1627, a Bill in Chancery was filed by Melchior Vanloere, of Dublin, against James Large and Thomas Fleetwood, alleging that by a bond dated 4th July 1626, the Right Honourable Dame Hester Lambart, Lady Baroness of Cavan, became bound to the plaintiff in the sum of one hundred and thirty-two pounds sterling to secure the payment of three score and seven pounds sterling. The sum not having been paid, the plaintiff went to England to make application to Lady Lambart, and she wrote her letters to James Large, of Tullocullin, in the county of Cavan, gent., steward unto the said lady and receiver of her rents in this kingdom, authorising him to see the plaintiff satisfied out of the rents of her estates, and also sent directions "unto Thomas Fleetwood, of Kilbeggan, in the county of Westmeath, Esquire, who is likewise agent and receiver for the said lady in this kingdom." That Large and Fleetwood had promised to pay, but had retained the letters and made no payment.

These two Bills clearly establish the facts that the first Thomas Fleetwood, of Kilbeggan, was the brother of Lady Lambart and acted as her agent in the management of the Lambart estates.

A Bill in Chancery was filed on 30th April 1629, by Dame Alice Fettiplace, the relict of Sir Edmund Fettiplace, Knight, against Thomas Fleetwood, Christopher Burnell, and Edmond O'Bronane, which stated that a judgment had been obtained against the plaintiff for £30 12s. 6d., whereon execution was issued "about Whitsuntide last to Thomas Fleetwood, Esquire, High Sheriff of the County of Westmeath," and that though the debt had been paid, possession of certain lands taken in execution had been wrongfully retained by Fleetwood and the other defendants. This proves that Thomas Fleetwood had served as Sheriff of the County for a third time in 1628. An examination of the Pipe Rolls for the period shows that this was so.

Rev. Jacques François Barnoun, bapt. at Leeuwarden 8 Sept. 1701; admitted = Frederika Anne de Guerin, Magdelaine Charlotte to the Ministry at Franequer, in Holland. 1723; Minister in London of mar. at Castle St. Chapel Susanne, bapt. at Leen- L'Artillerie in 1725, and later of La Patente; Rector of S. Augustine's, Bristol, 1731; of S. James', Westminster 8 May 1704, where he died 4 Oct. 1770; bur. at S. Martin's-in-the-Fields; will da. 8 June 1764, and pr. 16 Oct. 1770 (P.C.C., 352, Jenner).

Margaret Frederica Elizabeth, of S. James', West- minister; will da. 9 Apr. 1792; pr. 16 Jan. 1793 (P.C.C., 5, Dodwell).

Anne Henrietta, will da. 21 Dec. 1795, and pr. 14 July 1807 (P.C.C., 553, Lushington).

Rev. Isaac Jean Barnoun, bapt. at Leeuwarden 3 Nov. 1709; also studied at = Marie Réau²; will da. at Southampton Frederic Franequer; appointed to "God's House," Southampton. 1736; Vicar of Eling, 29 Aug. 1800; pr. 10 Sept. 1801 (P.C.C., Barnoun. Hants; d. 30 Mar., and buried 6 April 1797; will dated 25 Nov. 1785; pr. 572, Abercromby).

A

Frances Jeanne,³ b. 4 June, and Marie,³ b. 9 Aug., bapt. 25 June 1753; living in 1841 and bapt. 5 Sept. at Southampton, with Miss Mary Guinand⁴ as her companion. 1751.

Charlotte Agate³ [Agatha], b. 3 Jan. and bapt. 30 Mar. 1758.

James Henry Barnoun,³ b. 5 Aug. and bapt. 30 Sept. 1762; d. s.p. 1 Dec. 1843, aged 81, having mar. . . . wid. of . . . Davies, Clerk in the Ordnance Office and of Pall Mall; elected a DIRECTOR OF THE FRENCH HOSPITAL, 1 April 1809; will da. 26 July 1841. and pr. in the P.C.C. 4 Jan. 1844.⁵

² Doubtless the daughter of Captain Andrew Réau, of Hammersmith (but buried in Chiswick Church), whose will, made conjointly with his wife, Frances De Berdt, in 1736, and proved by the widow in 1750 (P.C.C., 399, Greenly), tells that they had an only child, Marie.

Susanne, widow of François Calandrini, of Geneva, was a daughter of a Charles Barnoun. But her will of 1765 (P.C.C., 365, Rushworth) tells nothing in regard to her own family. Her elder daughter, Madeline, was mother of the second Baron Braybrooke, and her younger daughter Sybille Catherine was, by Jean Jalabert of Geneva, mother of Francis Jalabert, who under the will of Israel Jalabert (P.C.C., 115, Secker) inherited an estate in or near Fittleworth and Petworth, co. Sussex, and married his cousin Frances Aldworth-Neville.

PARISH REGISTER SOCIETY OF DUBLIN.—Vol. ii. THE REGISTERS OF THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH OF ST. PATRICK, DUBLIN, 1677 to 1800, transcribed by C. H. P. Price, B.D., and edited by the Very Rev. J. H. Bernard, D.D., D.C.L., Dean of St. Patrick's.—Vol. iii. THE REGISTERS OF THE CHURCH OF ST. MICHAN, DUBLIN, 1636 to 1685, edited by Henry F. Berry, I.S.O., M.R.I.A.—Vol. iv. THE REGISTER OF PROVOST WINTER (TRINITY COLLEGE, DUBLIN), 1650 to 1660, edited by the Rev. Canon Hugh Jackson Lawlor, D.D.; and THE REGISTER OF THE LIBERTIES OF CASHEL (CO. TIPPERARY), 1654 to 1657, edited by James Mills, I.S.O.

The issue of no less than four registers in one year is an achievement of which any Society may be proud, and we hope that the Parish Register Society of Dublin will receive the due reward of its labours in a largely increased number of subscribers.

The Registers of St. Patrick's Cathedral do not begin before 1677, but in an Appendix to the Volume the Editor has added a long list of persons known to have been interred in the Cathedral itself, or in the adjoining Churchyard, previous to the commencement of the Registers. This list has been compiled from various sources, including the funeral entries in Ulster's Office, and will be of the greatest interest to historians as well as to genealogists. For some reason difficult to fathom all names in this Appendix of persons buried before 1677 have been omitted from the Index to the Volume. It will be remembered that the Memorial Inscriptions existing in the Cathedral were recently contributed by Dr. Bernard to vol. vi of The Publications of the Association of the Memorials of the Dead, Ireland (No. 3, part i, pp. 520-549). The Registers contain the burial of at least eight temporal peers of Ireland, and of the celebrated Duke of Schomberg, who was killed at the Boyne in 1690. There were also interred at St. Patrick's many peeresses, including Frances Jennings, Countess of Tyrconnell, sister of Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough; several dignitaries of the Church of Ireland, and numerous other persons of eminence, such as the Lady Beresford of the famous ghost story, and above all Dean Swift and Hester Johnson, known as Stella.

A glance at the list of pew-holders in the year 1686 given by Mr. Berry in his excellent Introduction is sufficient to show what an important district of Dublin St. Michan's was during the period covered by this transcript of the Registers. The fact that the "King's Inns" are situate within its confines brought not a few distinguished Irish judges to reside within the parish, and many particulars concerning them and their families are to be found here recorded. Numerous entries also relate to soldiers serving in Ireland, some of whom were of English origin. To the long list of interesting names given in the Preface, the following may be added; in 1653 appears the marriage of Colonel Henry Ingoldesby to Anne, daughter of Sir Hardresse Waller; on 24 April 1682 occurs the burial of the Countess of Clancarty (Clon Carty), and there are several entries relating to Captain James Stopphorth or Stopford, who must have belonged to Lord Courtown's family. Mr. Berry gives a welcome explanation of certain curious trade names such as slaymaker, translater, gabbertman, cleave carrier or cleave man, sneesing maker and heylar.

It is satisfactory to learn that the remaining portion of this Register down to 1699 is in type, and, together with a much needed Index, is shortly to be published.

Samuel Winter, the puritan Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, 1651—1660, kept a most careful record of all the baptisms and marriages celebrated by him in the different districts of Ireland which he visited during his residence in the country, together with some others not performed by himself. His Register is specially valuable to genealogists, for not only is the maiden name of the mother given in every baptism, but also the godparents or sureties. The most interesting entry is the baptism of a child of Henry Cromwell in Christ Church Cathedral in 1656. Among other well-known Anglo-Irish names which occur are those of Blennerhassett and Loftus.

The Register of the so-called Liberties of Cashel was compiled in compliance with the provisions of the Statute of 1653, which enacted that all marriages should take place before a Justice of the Peace, and be duly registered by an officer, appointed for the purpose. It contains no baptisms or burials. The names here are more distinctively Irish than in the other Registers hitherto printed by the Society, and there are few descendants of English settlers recorded. The persons married were nearly all dwellers within the baronies of Middlethird, Clanwilliam, Kilnamanagh and Ikerrin, in co. Tipperary.

ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF THE MEMORIALS OF THE DEAD, IRELAND. Journal for the year 1907. Vol. VII. No. 1 and No. 2 of Part 1.

It is impossible to take up one of the Journals of this Association without admiring the energy and public spirit of those who are combining to rescue from oblivion and destruction the memorials of past ages, and without a strong feeling of regret that a similar Society is no longer in existence in England. The Association owes much to its editor, Lord Walter Fitzgerald, who has been indefatigable in promoting its objects, and who has contributed a considerable proportion of the inscriptions contained in this volume. Among so many interesting monuments it is difficult to make a selection, and we have space to mention only a few, but the Dermont slab now in the Roman Catholic Church at Lusk; the tomb of Maud Plunkett in Malahide Churchyard, with the well-executed illustration accompanying it; and the inscriptions from Trinity College, Dublin, are all worthy of special mention. At p. 35 appears the inscription on a tablet in Glasnevin Churchyard to Dr. Delany, Dean of Down, husband of the witty and talented Mrs. Delany, and on p. 47, we notice the monument erected by Chief Justice Keatinge to his wife Grace, whose first husband Sir Richard Shuckburgh, of Shuckburgh, co. Warwick, was a valiant cavalier. As a Supplement to the Journal, with a separate pagination, some Irish Funeral Entries are in this volume commenced, and should prove a great attraction to subscribers. These have been copied from a manuscript now in the British Museum, but formerly belonging to the Office of Arms, Dublin Castle. It is curious that a few of these certificates relate to English people who resided chiefly in Norfolk and Suffolk, and whose connection with Ireland is not apparent.

We have also received:—NOTES ON THE EARLIER HISTORY OF BARTON-ON-HUMBER, by Robert Brown, F.S.A. Vol. ii.—COLLECTIONS FOR A HISTORY OF STAFFORDSHIRE, edited by the William Salt Archaeological Society, New Series, Vol. xi.—and THE SCOTS PEERAGE, Vol. v, all of which, together with some other publications, will be duly noticed in the October number.

Notes and Queries.

BATHURST BARONETCY.—Sir Francis Bathurst, Bart., was born at Lechlade, co. Gloucester, in 1675, and somewhere between the years 1695 and 1713 he married his cousin Frances, daughter of the Rev. William Peacock, Vicar of Cumnor, co. Oxon. This marriage is not recorded either at Lechlade or Cumnor. Their eldest son, Lawrence, was born in 1713. Sir Francis went to Georgia in 1735. According to Wotton, Burke and the Complete Baronetage by G. E. C., Sir Francis Bathurst died in Georgia about 1738, being succeeded by his son, Sir Lawrence Bathurst, who died s.p., when the title is said to have become extinct. I am willing to pay a reward for satisfactory legal evidence of the date and place of the marriage of Sir Francis Bathurst and the above mentioned Frances Peacock, and I shall also be obliged for any information as to the authority of the Baronetages for the statements that (a) Lady Bathurst died in Georgia 1736; (b) Sir Francis Bathurst died there 1738; (c) Sir Lawrence Bathurst died without issue.

NOTE ON THE FAMILY OF BUTLER, AFTERWARDS EARLS OF ORMONDE.

BY HAMILTON HALL, F.S.A.

The ordinary works of reference do not state the pedigree of this distinguished house with sufficient accuracy by a confusion easily pardonable where five successive Butlers bore the one name of Theobald.

The first Theobald went to Ireland, it is stated, in 1185. In the "Calendar of Documents relating to Ireland" we find him styled butler in an inquisition of Novel Disseisin against him by Manser Arsic in 1199 [108, 109], and this is the earliest reference therein either to himself or to his function. This year is also the first for which there are any records of Irish matters, properly so to be called, the entries during the reign of Henry II being mere returns by sheriffs and others of payments made in England for supplies, munitions, transport, wages and allowances in support of the forces in Ireland; and during the reign of Richard there is nothing. Under the county of Lancaster Theobald owed two palfreys for licence to go to Ireland in 1203-1204 [193]; in liquidation of which debt he paid ten marks the year following [248]. Against him John de Penris takes a writ of Mort d'Ancestor 20 December 1205 [380] touching the third part of a cantred in "Arelo." He was a witness to the undated charter granted by John as Earl of Morton to John archbishop of Dublin [1787], and he was dead 3 April 1206, when the justiciary is commanded to take into the King's hand all the lands which belonged to Theobald Walter "when he left Ireland" [288]; from whose lands nothing is to be removed, etc. [292]. Under the date 24 August 1214 it is recorded that the castles of Dorles, Roskere (Roscrea), Loske (Lusk), Armolen and Kakaulis had belonged to Theobald Walter, and seisin of them is to be given to Reginald Pons [514]. Dorles and Rokerell had been in the custody of Geoffrey de Marisco [516]; Robert de Mariscis was seneschal of Theobald's heir at Michaelmas 1219 [906].

The wife of Theobald I was Maud daughter and heir of Robert le Vavasour. She had restoration of her whole dower 20 July 1207, and Robert her father is to have possession of her thirds in Ireland of Theobald's lands [332]. In the same year the said Robert makes a fine of 1200 marks and two palfreys for her marriage and dower and for possession of the free tenements of her late husband as well in England as in Ireland [333, 367, 370]. She remarried Fulke FitzWarine, who had mandate for possession of her dower 1 October 1207 [336].

Theobald II, born in or about the year 1200, is called Theobald Walter 2 July 1221, when he was of age and was to have seisin [995]. He is called Theobald Pincerna 18 July 1222, when he was again to have seisin of certain of his lands of inheritance [1043]. He is grantee of the custody of the castle of Roscrea

5 February and 27 March 1224 [1154, 1171]. On the King's service in Ireland October 1224, he had respite for scutage till Easter 1225 [1220]; and respite for debts of Theobald his father 8 January 1225-6 [1341]. He was still in Ireland on the King's service 14 June 1226 [1379]. Two months later, however, namely "about August" 1226 [1443], he is subject of an adverse report by Geoffrey de Marisco the justiciary, whereby the King is advised that Theobald is assenting to the opposition of William Earl of Pembroke the Earl Marshal, and has fortified the castle of Dublin against the King, and so forth; in response to which letter Theobald is commanded 21 September 1226 to deliver the castle of Roscray to Geoffrey [1446]. Theobald is one of the sureties admitted by the King, that on the King's acceptance of Geoffrey's resignation of the office of justiciary, Geoffrey shall deliver the King's castles to Richard de Burgh, to whom is committed the office of justiciary, 13 February 1227-8 [1572]. Theobald is plaintiff against the prior of the Isle of St. Patrick touching a carucate of land in Balligossan, which prior has respite during his absence, etc., 10 July 1229 [1705], this suit being still undetermined 24 April 1230 [1800]. The disafforested region of Glendalough is described, 8 November 1229, as bordering, inter alia, upon Theobald's land of Arklow [1757, 1769]. Theobald is on the King's service over sea 4 June 1230 [1834]; and there he died 19 July 1230, as will presently appear.

When Geoffrey advised the King that Theobald was a rebel, he also professed a determination to do his duty against Theobald although he had married Geoffrey's daughter and had a son born of her. This letter is dated "about August" 1226, therefore Geoffrey must needs be speaking of Theobald's heir who was born by 11 June 1223, inasmuch as he had done homage for his lands and was to have seisin accordingly by 11 June 1244 [2686]; at which date he was therefore of full age. Theobald III was plainly deemed legitimate, since Richard Earl of Cornwall the King's brother, notwithstanding his enormous wealth, considered the wardship and marriage of this Theobald III worth securing; and more directly to the point, Richard de Burgh the justiciary of Ireland thought these worth buying at a large price in order to the advancement of his daughter. There is thus no reason whatever for doubting the general accuracy of Geoffrey's statement that Theobald has married his daughter. This Theobald II died, by the King's statement, on Friday before St. Mary Magdalene, namely Friday 19 July 1230 [1848], manifestly in Poitou, for on the same day mandate issues at Pont for Roesia who was the wife of Theobald Walter deceased to have dower assigned to her out of his lands [1845]; and still on the same day the King grants to Richard Earl of Cornwall the custody of Theobald's lands and heirs and the marriage of the heirs [1847, 1849]. Four days later, 23 July, the King being at or before the castle of Mirebeau, mandate issues to the justiciary directing him to "restore" to the Earl of Cornwall the issues of the said lands, if any such had been received by him, since Theobald's death [1848]. The seneschal of Leinster is commanded to give seisin to the Earl of Cornwall of the lands which Theobald held in capite [in Leinster within the bailiwick] of William Earl Marshal 11 April 1231 [1874]. The Earl of Cornwall sold the custody and marriage of the heirs to Richard de Burgh, who has confirmation thereof 21 June 1232 [1962].

The above named Roesia is usually called Roesia de Verdun, who on 23 October 1231 [1923], upon the death of Nicholas de Verdun her father, whose heir she is, makes a fine of 700 marks for her relief, and to have seisin of her father's lands, and that she shall not be constrained to marry. The obvious inference is that she was then a singlewoman of full age; and the superficial deduction is that she was not the widow of Theobald II, now fifteen months dead. Roesia de Verdun however had certainly one son John de Verdun her heir [2874]; which John was of full age by 3 May 1247, when he makes a fine to have seisin of her lands; his fine, for seisin only, is 1300 marks. He was also of full age by 14 May 1244 [2662]; for on that date mandate issues that he and Margaret his wife shall have seisin of their as yet undivided moiety of the lands of her grandfather Walter de Lacy. It is therefore clear that he was born by May 1223, if no earlier; in other words he was of the same age with, if not older than, the son borne to Theobald II by the daughter of Geoffrey de Marisco. The same Theobald II is usually called the father of this John de Verdun, but that is most improbable. As John was certainly born by 1231 when his mother makes her fine to protect herself against any marriage the Crown might seek to thrust upon her, then she was by that date a widow if John was legitimate.

Though the declaration that Roesia is entitled to dower in the lands of Theobald II does amount to a constructive statement that she was his wife and is his widow, it does not in any way suggest her to be the same person who is so uniformly described as Roesia de Verdun. That identification appears otherwise. Lynch (p. 81) alleges that "in 1225 Henry III wrote a special letter to Roesia de Verdun requesting her to marry his beloved Theobald le Botiller and afterwards addressed another letter to her father Nicholas de Verdun on the same subject." Lynch quotes his authority "Close Roll T.L. 9 H. 3, p. 2." That reference is presumably accurate; the letter is in Sir T. D. Hardy's Close Rolls [Rot. Litt. Claus., vol. II, p. 60], whereat it appears the date of this letter is Windsor 4 September 1225, and it is there followed by mandate to Nicholas to induce Roesia to accept Theobald. Superficially there is a sort of inconsistency between this precise command of the Close Roll and the phraseology of Geoffrey, but this may plausibly be explained by the limitations of an abstract. There is no absolute conflict of statement, and there is apparently no escape from the conclusion that having previously married a daughter of Geoffrey de Marisco, called Joane "sister and heir," or "coheir," of John de Marisco, which daughter was mother of Theobald's heir and was presumably dead by September 1225, Theobald II soon after that date remarried Roesia daughter of Nicholas de Verdun, and by that remarriage became merely stepfather of her son and heir John de Verdun. Roesia was dead 22 February 1246-7; then, as usually if not always, called Roesia de Verdun, when her lands are to be taken into the King's hand [2867], in case she might be indebted to the King [2868], wherein may be more than meets the eye.

Without presuming to declare the affiliation of John de Verdun an historic doubt, one must confess to personal ignorance, and to but the vaguest impressions concerning the identity of John's father. This however appears clear, that if he was but lately of age when he had seisin of Margaret's lands in May 1244, then he was at least two and a half years old when his mother Roesia was directed to marry Theobald in September 1225; and he may then have been anything in reason upwards. One has not met with any record suggesting that by grace he had this seisin in his nonage; nor with any evidence shewing his age at any time; nor with any clear record as to his father's name; nor with mention of any dower of Roesia, save what she took by the precipitate mandates on the death of Theobald; and one does not know that John held either anything derived from Theobald, or anything whatever coming to him otherwise than by his mother or by his wife. Towards the filling of this void of ignorance it is needless to say any contributions will be acknowledged with unaffected gratitude; and if John can be proved a son of Theobald in any other than a canonical or colloquial sense, solutions of the problems thereby raised will also be heartily welcome.

Theobald III, it has been argued already, was born by 11 June 1223; his wardship and marriage were purchased in 1232 by Richard de Burgh [1847, 1849, 1874, 1877, 1878, 1962]; and Theobald had done homage to the King for his lands by 11 June 1244, when mandate issues that he is to have seisin thereof accordingly [2686]. He was thus some seven years of age when his father died in 1230; and he was himself dead by 3 August 1248 [2958]. Custody of his castles and lands is committed to Peter de Bermingham 5 November following [2975]. John Fitz-Geoffrey (FitzPiers) the justiciary for a fine of 3000 marks is to have custody of Theobald's lands and heirs and marriage of the heirs, 21 January 1250-1 [3100, 3101, 3108]; and he is to pay the said fine by instalments of 500 marks per annum. It appears by an inspeximus of 26 November 1279 [II, 1618], that in 1247 Theobald held in Kilkenny Balligaveran, by the service of four knight's fees, of Richard de Clare as one of the heirs of the Earl Marshal. It again appears, in 1253 [II, 195, 264], that he had held certain lands of Walter de Lacy. It is very natural that this Theobald, dying at the early age of twenty-five years or less, should frequently have been confused with his father who died at the age of thirty or thereabouts in 1230; but the interval of some eighteen years between their deaths seems to be an established fact.

Theobald III married Margaret miscalled "eldest" daughter of Richard de Burgh, who had purchased this heir's wardship and marriage. She is to have her dower 3 August 1248, and 2 July 1249, after giving security not to marry without the King's licence [2958, 2996]. She had made a fine of 500 marks to marry whom she would [3041, 3043] by 27 April 1250.

The next heir was Theobald IV, le Butler, who is stated to have been six years of age at the death of his father in 1248. These calendars do not shew his age then, or at any other time; but the fact is doubtless well supported by evidence elsewhere. He is alleged to be the grantee of the prisage of wines in Ireland, evidence of which one would have expected to find in these Irish documents, but one does not find it; though there is direct confirmation [III, 622] that he had the prisage, it seems he was not the first to enjoy this franchise, for at the reference given the petitioner asserts that this Theobald and "his" ancestors enjoyed the right. The payments from John FitzGeoffrey for his wardship for three years to come are assigned to Peter of Savoy, about to join the crusade, 18 April 1253 and other dates, in part payment of the sum which the king has engaged to give to Peter [II 180, 181, 183, 198, 201, 254]; and in the event 2000 marks of the sum John FitzGeoffrey had agreed to give are remitted, 16 July 1253 [244, 249]. Geoffrey de Gyenville is to have the custody of the lands which Theobald's father Theobald (III) held of Walter de Lacy, 2 June 1253 [195, 264]. Theobald has licence to go to Ireland 11 May 1276 [1221]; and in 1278 the justiciary urgently begs for the return to Ireland of Sir Theobald whose absence may be calamitous [1510]; he is serving with his forces against the King's enemies in Thomond (co. Clare) in 1280, and has payments for his expenses, Midsummer and November 1281 and Hilary 1282 [1835, 1860, 1892, III, 169]. He died in his castle of Arklow 26 September 1285, having attained the relatively mature age of forty-three or thereby; and in July 1288 it is declared [468] that Nicholas de Clare should answer for his chattels.

Theobald IV married Joane daughter of John FitzJohn FitzGeoffrey, the granddaughter of John FitzGeoffrey who had bought the wardship and marriage of Theobald, sister and coheir of Richard FitzJohn, who had died s.p. in France in the year 1297 [IV, 457, 638]. Joane is mother of the heir Edmund [V, 198, 415]. She has letters of attorney 10 December 1285, and 18 April 1286, while she was remaining by licence in Ireland [III, 173, 219]. She has letters of attorney 26 July 1286 for three years since she is remaining by licence in England [260] together with Matilda, who has letters for the same period for the same attorneys, which Matilda is called daughter of Theobald, but is not called daughter of Joane. Joane is remaining in Ireland 21 August 1290 [761], and is returning to Ireland 12 September 1291 [952]. At Michaelmas 1297 she makes a payment for Bray of twenty shillings of service for le Combte [IV, 442]. Her purparty of her brother's Irish lands was extended at six and three-quarter villatae in the cantred of the Isles (barony of Islands) in Thomond, 21 November 1299, for which she had done homage [690]. By licence remaining in England 30 September 1301 [829], the justiciary is commanded, 13 October 1301, to allow her bailiffs to carry to England money of her Irish lands [830]. She has letters of attorney 16 May 1302 [V, 26]. She was dead 19 September 1303, when John de Tany her executor has letters of attorney [277, 278]; and Edmund le Butler is her heir 13 January 1303-4 [279].

Though at the death of his mother Edmund was Joane's heir, at the death of his father in 1285 the heir was Edmund's elder brother Theobald V, who had done his homage 22 February 1289-90 [III, 622], and the justiciary is to give him seisin after he shall have proved his age, and he proved himself of full age on the said 22 February [808, 622]. He petitions for the prisage of wines in April 1290 [622]; and the escheator admits that his father (Theobald IV) died seised of this franchise, but by what warrant the escheator knows not. Theobald is remaining in Ireland 1 June 1298 [IV, 482]. Distraint for sums due from him for his seisin and for wines received has not produced the required amounts, 24 January 1298-9 [592]. Relative hereto a payment is made 2 May 1299 [613]; as again on 17 August following [637, cf. 682]. He died however, by an inq. p.m., on 14 May that year; and Edmund his next brother and heir does homage, at Caerlaverock, 30 August 1300, for all the lands his brother had held in capite [759]. This Edmund, grantee of the mysterious dignity which as Mr. Round has shewn was not in reality an earldom of Carrick MacGriffin, survived till 1 September 1321; when he was succeeded by his son James, seventh Butler, who was a minor in 1325. James had a confirmation of the prisage grant 1 May 1326, and on 2 November 1328 he was advanced to the dignity of the Earldom of Ormonde.

SOME NOTES ON THE PARENTAGE OF DIONYSIA DE TYE.

By F. H. SUCKLING.

Since the publication in The Genealogist for 1905-6¹ of some notes on Barsham juxta Beccles, a very interesting discovery has been made as to the parentage of Dionysia de Tye, who died lady of the manor of Barsham in 49 Edw. III.

From her will, proved at Norwich 1st August 1375,² it has always been supposed that she was a daughter of John de Hoo. Also that it was for the repose of the souls of her father and mother that she directed her executors to sell her "manor of Hoo (and other lands) to purchase the patronage of some church . . . and to appropriate the same . . . to find two chaplains to celebrate for the souls of John de Hoo, Dyonisia his wife, and their son William." It is now, however, considered almost certain that she was the wife and not the daughter of John de Hoo, and that it was for her own husband and for herself that she intended these prayers should be said. Also, that she was by birth a Welyngton, and that the manor of Barsham descended to her through that family. She is thought to have been daughter of (possibly Roger) de Welyngton, and to have been married first to John de Hoo, secondly to Edward Charles of Kettleburgh, Suffolk, and thirdly to Sir Peter de Tye, whom she survived; that her son William de Hoo predeceased her; that his brother John de Hoo was a monk; that her eldest son by Edward Charles predeceased her, and his brother Edward as a Carmelite monk was disqualified, so that Sir Robert de Tye, her "son and heir," succeeded her. There are two reasons for these suppositions: first, that the later owners of Barsham quartered Welyngton with Tye, and also that her seal is still preserved on a deed which, in the year 1884, was in the possession of Mr. Alfred T. Everitt of Portsmouth, and by him then sent to the Society of Antiquaries for exhibition, its description being afterwards published in their proceedings. By Mr. Everitt's kindness I am able to quote here Dr. Spencer Perceval's original note on this deed and a release executed at the same time by Dionysia's son Robert de Tye.

"1369. Grant by Dionisia de Ty to John Attedamesende of North Elmham³ and Thomas Attebrigge of the same, draper, of three messuages, viz., Dunhamstede, Thornewelle, and le Hil, and three foldages in North Elmham, and all her lands, tenements, etc., in North Elmham, Betele, and Gatele, in fee. In witness, etc., Thomas Deye, John Dankyn, William and John Aniz (or Aviz), etc. Given at North Elmham, May 23, 43 Edward III. Seal in brown wax. Circular, one inch diameter. In three lobed panel a shield Crusilly fitchee a bend, dimidiated by a bend engrailed between two cotises.⁴ Leg. 'Sigillum dion . . . tye.'"

"1369. Same date as last. Release by Robert son of Peter de Tye, Kt., of the same parcells. Seal antique—a bull. Sigillum S(ecreti). Both printed in Carthew's History of Launditch, Norwich, 1872, part i, p. 289, from original charters from the muniment room at Elmham Hall."

The coat first described is clearly intended for that of Tye—a bend between six cross crosslets fitchée. The arms of Welyngton were, Sable, a bend engrailed between two cotises Or,⁵ and this coat impaled by Tye was, says Blomefield, in the chancel window of Weston Church, Norfolk, where Sir Peter de Tye held lands.⁶ According to Suckling, the family of Welyngton⁷ were of ancient descent, and were long seated at Barsham in Suffolk, where they held the third part of that manor so early as 9 Edw. II. On the 19th of November 1325, a fine⁸ was made at Westminster between Robert de Barsham and Henry son of Roger⁹ de Wellington, the object of this fine being probably to convey to Henry the entire manor and advowson of Barsham. How long he retained this manor does not appear, but according to Davy, "In the church glass are the arms of Norwich and Wellington, Sable, on a bend engrailed argent cotised Or, a mullet of the first."¹⁰ Suckling, who was Rector of Barsham in 1836, makes no mention of these arms, merely saying that the windows in the church contain here and there a fragment of ancient painted glass; but he says that "in the Church of St. George, South Elmham,¹¹ was anciently much stained glass with the arms of Welington, Ufford, and Norwich." Carthew mentions a Sir Henry de Welyngton's marriage to Margaret, daughter of Sir Alexander de Freville, who, according to the latter and also to Blomefield, was lord of the manors of Netherhall and Litcham, in the Hundred of Launditch in Norfolk, where Sir Alexander succeeded his brother Baldwin in 1288. It is noteworthy that in the nave of the Church of St. James, South Elmham, was anciently a brass plate, five inches long and two wide, inscribed "Edmund Ffryvill, Esquier." That Sir Emeric de Welyngton had some right in the Manor of Barsham is evident by the will of his nephew, Sir Robert de Tye,¹² who desired that "the meadow called the Park in Barsham should be given à Monsieur Roberd Charles or his heirs in the manner as it was ordained by the feoffees of Monsieur Emery de Welyngton, uncle to the said Roberd."¹³ Also, that after the sale of all his manors, lands, etc. (under certain contingencies), he desired there be given to the right heirs of Sir Emery de Welyngton 100 marks. It is also significant that there are bequests in this will to the Rector of Barsham, John Bray; and to William Marsh, Vicar of Sotterley, where according to Suckling,¹⁴ Hervey has recorded this inscription, now lost:—"Monsieur Guier de Welyngton, et Dame Hawes, sa femme."

³ In the Hundred of Launditch, Norfolk.

⁹ In 1299, Roger de Wellington held lands at Gisleham (see Cole's MSS., vol. xxxv).

¹⁰ Add. MS. 19,112.

¹¹ Vol. i. Thomas de Welyngton was Rector of South Elmham from 1364 to 1367. And Alicia de Welyngton presented Kentengeinde de Welyngton to the Church of Rushmere in 1328. South Elmham is near Barsham, and in Suffolk.

¹² Dated at Barsham the Wednesday next before the feast of St. George 1382 (1383?), proved at Norwich 24th August 1383, "by Elizabeth, the relict, and John de Hoo, brother of the deceased." (C.C. Norwich, Register Heydon, fo. 216.)

¹³ Sir Emery would be uncle to Sir Robert de Tye, and also to Robert Charles (born 1335, died 1359), son of Dionysia by Edward Charles of Kettleburgh (who deceased 1337), presumably her second husband.

¹⁴ Vol. i, p. 92.

Also, on the same authorities, the most ancient brass in Sotterley Church, of a knight in armour (without arms or inscription), belonged to Sir Robert de Tye, buried there on the 8th of October 1415, who is said to have been a posthumous son of Sir Robert de Tye beforenamed. "Emricus de Welyngton Miles," in 1347, was patron of the Church of St. George, South Elmham,¹⁵ when he presented Joës Long Stratton.¹⁶ Sir Emeric de Welyngton was Patron of the Church of Great Ryburgh, Norfolk, together with William, Rector of Ingoldisthorpe, 1356. All this leads to the supposition that Sir Emery de Welyngton was surviving in 1356, and that he was dead in 1375, when his sister, Dionysia, made her will and desired to be buried before the entrance of the Holy Trinity Church of Barsham, where she gave "twenty shillings to the making or repairing of the chapel where the bodies of my father and mother rest in peace." The foundations of this "chapel" or north aisle are supposed at the present time to be literally unearthed by the workmen who are engaged in digging for the re-building of the Catherine Chapel to be erected on the north side of Barsham Church to the memory of all Catherines, especially with regard to Catherine Suckling, mother of Horatio Viscount Nelson, baptised at Barsham in May 1725. In a letter dated January 1908, the present Rector, the Rev. Allan Coates, says: "I have long had a suspicion that the pillar which supports the two arches, now flush with the north wall of the Nave, and the responds to that pillar were not Perpendicular work, or at any rate so late a date as Sir Edward Ethingham's will (1538), but either very Early Perpendicular or Decorated, and about 200 years (or more) earlier in date. The architect and a professional friend corroborate me entirely, and I feel sure that the portion we have called the Catherine Chapel was in existence at least as early as 1330, and possibly earlier. In view of this, I read the will of Sir Edward Ethingham to provide a Chapel to St. Catherine to be built at the east end of the then existing north aisle of Barsham Church."

It would be interesting to know at what date Davy wrote as to Barsham Church, and if after his visit the old east window glass disappeared! The "North aisle or chapel" is said, by Suckling,¹⁷ who wrote in 1846, "to have been taken down about sixty years since."

The endorsement at the back of the fine (1325) which gave Barsham absolutely to Henry de Welyngton, bears the names, together with others, of John de Uggethale¹⁸ and Agnes Cokerel. With regard to this name of Uggethale, or Hoo, Blomefield,¹⁹ under the Manor of Hoo in Shelfanger (Norfolk) says, that "Hueine de Hugethale (or Uggeshale), so called from the place of his habitation, whose son Roger was surnamed de Hoo for the same reason, and Peter, son of Roger, . . . lived about 1196. His descendant, Roger de Ho, in 1307, upon marrying Agnes (surnamed Norwich, probably, for William de Norwico, clerk, was deforciant in the fine), settled it on them and on their heirs." The pedigrees of de Hoo in Blomefield, under Scarning,²⁰ and in Davy,²¹ are too late for the John de Hoo named in the will of Dionysia de Tye, as they begin with Sir William de Hoo, Knt., whose wife Alice, died in 1373. Indeed the latter authority makes Dionysia herself to be daughter of Eleanor Wingfield, and granddaughter of Alice and William aforesaid, and this has hitherto been very misleading. In Dionysia de Tye's will, she bequeaths a covered cup to John Hoo and "twenty pounds left him by his late brother, William de Hoo, Kt. To my son Edward Charles a hundred shillings for life out of Kessingland Manor." And here again Page, in his Suffolk Traveller, misleads, for Dionysia's husband, Edward Charles, was probably a younger son of Edward Charles of Kettleburgh (ob. 1329), the said Edward, the elder, being succeeded by his son Edmund Charles, born 1305, and aged twenty-four at his father's death. This Edmund was in his turn succeeded, in 1359 or 1360, by his son Edward, a nephew of Dionysia's husband. An Inq., after death of the latter, was taken at Wickham on the 21st of November 1337, in which year his widow Dionysia was licenced to marry whom she pleased. Before the year 1316 she married Sir Peter de Tye, and as his widow made the so often discussed will.

The following tentative pedigree has mainly been compiled from Inquisitions Post Mortem :—

Edward Charles, Inq. P.M. taken at Kettleburgh 27 April 1329; another at Burgh St. Peter 3 May following; and another in Yorkshire. His heir found to be his son Edmund.

Edmund Charles, aged 24 at father's death, and so born c. 1305. Inq. P.M. taken at Kettleburgh 1360. His heir found to be his son Edward.

Edward Charles, Inq. P.M. taken at Wickham 21 Nov. 1337, in which he is called "Edward son of Edward Charles deceased." Another Inq. P.M. taken at Wickham 14 Dec. 1337. His heir found to be his son Robert.

Dionysia (? dau. of . . . de Wellington, sister of Sir Henry de Wellington, and widow of John de Hoo). She had licence to marry whom she would 20 Dec. 1337, and in 1346 was wife of Sir Peter de Tye, Knt., by whom she left issue.

Sir Edward Charles, Knt., aged 26 at father's death and so born c. 1334. Inq. P.M. taken at Richmond, co. York, 26 Sept. 1375; another taken at Ipswich same month. Died 3 Sept. 1375. His heir found to be his son Robert.

Robert Charles, aged 2, Nov. 1337, and so born 1335. Died Jan. 1358-9. Inq. P.M. taken at Kettleburgh, 12 July 1359. His heir found to be his uncle Edmund Charles, then aged 50 and more.

Edward Charles, born c. 1336; a Carmelite monk; called "my son Edward Charles" in the will of Dame Dionysia de Tye, proved 1375; "brother Edward Charles" in the will of Sir Robert de Tye 1383; and "brother Edward Charles of the Carmelite Order" in the will of Dame Elizabeth relict of Sir Robert de Tye, proved 25 Sept. 1383.

Robert Charles, aged 22 years at father's death, and so born c. 1353.

SOME EXAMINATION OF THE GROUNDS FOR THE DECISION OF THE LORDS IN THE CASE OF THE EARLDOM OF NORFOLK.

It may not be without interest to consider whether the reasons which actuated the highest tribunal in unanimously declining to recognise the present Lord Mowbray as Earl of Norfolk are historically sound.

In 1906 he claimed the Earldom of Norfolk as senior coheir, under a charter in 1312 granting the Earldom to Thomas de Brotherton, which Earldom had been surrendered to the Crown in 1302 by Roger le Bygod. The Lords rejected the claim on the ground that though the claimant had undoubtedly proved his descent, yet the fatal blot in his case was that the surrender on which he relied was invalid in law. That is to say their Lordships took the view that the resolutions of the Lords in the Grey de Ruthyn case 1640, and in the Purbeck case 1678, which laid down that no such surrender was valid, not only settled the law then and for the future but also declared what it always had been since parliamentary institutions were established. Such a doctrine, though commending itself to lawyers, is eminently unsatisfactory to the historian, as tending to produce a complete divorce between the law and the fact.

Undoubtedly various surrenders did take place before 1640 and were at the time effective and undisputed (a good example being that by Michael de la Pole of the Dukedom and Marquessate of Suffolk to the Crown, in 1493; he being accordingly summoned to Parliament in 1495, as Earl of Somerset). Yet as to these Lord Ashbourne remarks in his judgment that such precedents in the Purbeck case "were brushed aside, as having passed sub silentio and without contest." Surely, however, a practice that passes "without contest" for some 350 years has a primâ facie appearance of legality. Of course there is nothing to prevent the peers from resolving that any peerage conferred on a man with red hair is invalid, and "brushing aside" any precedents on the ground that such creations had "passed sub silentio and without contest."

The unanimous judgment of the Lords in 1906 amounts to this, that though the King thought he had created, and the Lords summoned, Thomas de Brotherton, and Thomas sat as Earl of Norfolk, yet he and all his contemporaries were under a delusion in supposing him to have been Earl of Norfolk; because the grant to Thomas only purported to transfer to him the resigned Earldom, and because resolutions of the Lords centuries later justified the view that that Earldom having been illegally surrendered belonged to the heir of the resigner whoever he might be. Yet the most that this could show appears to be that there might be a Bygod and a Brotherton Earldom existing simultaneously.

The doctrine that what is Peerage Law always has been so, is, it is submitted, mischievous and conducive to error; e.g., the Lords have over and over again committed themselves to the view, that a summons by writ, from the earliest days of Parliament, if accompanied by evidence of sitting, conferred an hereditary Barony, descendible to and through female as well as male heirs. Nevertheless the historical student remains doubtful as to whether any one of these propositions was originally true.

It is, of course, one thing to venture to criticise their Lordships' ratio decidendi and quite another to maintain that Lord Mowbray as senior coheir was entitled, as of right, to the Earldom. Indeed it would appear that the Lords caught eagerly at the point of the supposed illegal surrender in 1302, so as to avoid pronouncing on the difficult problem whether an Earldom when the holder died leaving only female issue—

- (1) Reverted to the Crown ;
- (2) Descended to the senior coheir as a Scotch title of Peerage would do ;
- (3) Fell into abeyance between the coheirs, as would be the case with an English Barony by writ.

This judgment affords a very good example of the different point of view from which lawyers and genealogists regard a question of peerage law, and, in the estimate of the latter, very great legal luminaries, such as Lord Mansfield, appear to have been singularly incompetent for this branch of their work ; indeed the first Lord Redesdale is one of the few great lawyers to whom historical students would be prepared to give unqualified praise.

Isaac Heard Garter (LS) Principal King of Arms.

Thomas Lock (LS) Clarenceux King of Arms

John Bazely, the grantee of these Arms, was born at Dover in 1740, and died in 1809. He became an Admiral in the Royal Navy. There is some account of him in vol. xiv of the Naval Chronicle, for 1805, with a portrait. He had two sons—John Bazely, who was born in 1767, and also became an Admiral; and Henry Bazely, a Captain in the Royal Navy.

His elder son John Bazely, was father of the Rev. Thomas Tyssen Bazely, a well-known Oxford Coach and Proctor, afterwards Rector of All Saints', Poplar. His son, the Rev. Henry Casson Barnes Bazely (1812--1883), was well-known to Oxford residents twenty-five or thirty years ago as "The Oxford Evangelist"; and his "Life" has been written by the Rev. Canon Hicks, and published by Macmillan & Co.

The Admiral's younger son, Henry Bazely, had two sons and three daughters. One of the latter married the Rev. Francis Henry Wolryche-Whitmore, of Dudmaston Hall, Salop.

In the Grant of Arms we get a pedigree of three generations, John Bazely the grantee being a son of John and grandson of James, both of Dover, and both deceased in 1784. Any further particulars about this old Kentish family will be acceptable.

NOTES ON KENRICK FAMILIES.

By W. F. CARTER.

5b. THE KENRICKS OF BIRMINGHAM AND WEST BROMWICH.

This family branched off from the Wynn Hall Kenricks (5a) a century and a half ago, and having for four generations deserted Wales, and taken a leading part in the commercial, municipal and parliamentary life of Birmingham, West Bromwich, and the Midlands, its history naturally requires to be told in a separate chapter. If I desired to give a fair account of its first three generations⁷³ based strictly upon public services performed, some nine or ten detailed biographies would be requisite, and the amount of material necessarily included would astonish even the generously appreciative public of the Birmingham district. It would be tempting, also, did time and space permit, to thrird the genealogical mazes of several of the families with whom the Kenricks of Birmingham have intermarried. This however I am compelled to do seldom and briefly, though none of the pedigrees I have already dealt with would contain more interesting alliances.

The family was established at West Bromwich,⁷⁴ in South Staffordshire by :—

ARCHIBALD KENRICK, fourth son of John and Mary (Quarrell) Kenrick of Wynn Hall, as mentioned in the preceding account. He was baptized at the Chester Street Chapel, Wrexham, on the 12th November 1760 as "son of Mr. John Kenrick of Ruabon." I understand that the Wynn Hall Kenricks were at one time engaged in the smelting of ore, but I have no particulars, and cannot say what reasons led Archibald Kenrick to establish at West Bromwich, near Birmingham, the iron-founding and hollow-ware business which is still carried on by his descendants under the firm of "Archibald Kenrick and Sons." In December 1790, Mr. Kenrick married his first wife, who was the mother of his children. She was Rebecca Smith, daughter of Joseph Smith, of Hay Hall in Yardley, near Birmingham, who was fourth in descent from Anthony Smith, churchwarden of Stratford-on-Avon in 1607.⁷⁵ She died 4th January 1809, and on 7th May 1812, Mr. Kenrick married, as his second wife, Mary Eddowes, daughter of Joshua Eddowes, of Shrewsbury, whose ancestors had been settled at Whitchurch, Shropshire, for some four or five generations.⁷⁶ By his second wife, Archibald Kenrick had no issue. He died on the 26th October 1835,⁷⁷ and she in 1854. Archibald and Rebecca Kenrick had issue :—

1. Archibald Kenrick, of whom next.

⁷⁴ Where a family of Kendricks, evidently quite distinct, had been settled for at least two centuries. I have a few notes relating to them, of no general interest.

⁷⁵ A pedigree of this family will be found in Compton Reade's "The Smith Family," p. 116. It shows inter-marriages with several notable families of Birmingham and elsewhere, including the names of Ryland, Russell, Gatty, Osler and Rawlinson. Perhaps its best known member was Joshua Toulmin Smith, author of a standard work on "English Guilds." His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Toulmin Smith, is better known to a large public of readers as "L. T. Meade." The family is still well represented in Birmingham and, I believe, elsewhere.

⁷⁶ A very full pedigree of the Eddowes Family, brought down to quite modern times, is given in Hunter's "Familie Minorum Gentium," where also will be found a few references showing that its surname was established in quite early days in the Marches of Wales. A certain Ralph Eddowes interested himself in heraldry, and was a benefactor to the College of Arms in the seventeenth century. He seems to have taken out a Grant of Arms, but otherwise I think the Eddowes family were not armigerous. It would seem likely that there was some connection between him and "the Rev. Mr. John Eddowes," who possessed "The Germ or Pedigree of Robert Kenrick," mentioned under the division of these notes I have called "4a."

⁷⁷ Aris' Birmingham Gazette, 2nd November 1835.

2. George Smith Kenrick, born 11th January 1803, and died without issue 12th December 1848, being then of West Bromwich,⁷⁸ having married first on 1st August 1836, Eliza Bowman,⁷⁹ daughter of John Eddowes Bowman, of Nantwich and Welshpool; secondly in August 1848, Sarah Stevenson, his second cousin [see Pedigree (5a)], who survived him for many years, dying at Brighton 14th December 1879.⁸⁰
3. Timothy Kenrick. (See pedigree hereafter, following the account of the descendants of his brother Archibald.)
1. Rebecca Kenrick, born 1799, died unmarried 26th February 1891.
2. Mary Anne Kenrick, born June 1801; died without issue January 1888, having married as already stated her first cousin, Samuel Kenrick.

ARCHIBALD KENRICK (son of Archibald), of West Bromwich, and of Berrow Court, Edgbaston, was born in 1798. He was head of the firm established by his father and carried on by himself and his brothers. He took an active part in public affairs, and was for many years a Justice of the Peace for the County of Stafford. He died on the 10th March 1878, and was buried on the 14th at Hockley Cemetery, Birmingham. He married on the 20th October 1826, Anne Paget, daughter of William Paget, of Loughborough, who was descended from an ancient Leicestershire family,⁸¹ settled in Ibstock at least as early as 1469. Anne Paget's mother was Mary, daughter of the Rev. John ⁷⁸ Aris' Birmingham Gazette, 18th December 1848.

⁷⁹ She was a relation of her husband's step-mother. The quite extraordinary series of inter-marriages between the families of Eddowes and Bowman are also given in the "Familie."

⁸⁰ Birmingham Daily Post, 15th December 1879.

⁸¹ Valerian Paget was buried at Ibstock in 1580. Fifth in descent from him was Joseph Paget, an eminent agriculturist in the latter part of the eighteenth century, from whose eldest son descended the Pagets of Paget's Bank, Leicester. Joseph's second son, also named Joseph, born 1738, was of Loughborough, and had, with other issue:—

1. Thomas Paget, eldest son, of Leicester, surgeon, whose eldest daughter, Maria Paget, born 1808, married Timothy Kenrick (brother of the last-mentioned Archibald Kenrick), while his seventh daughter, Ellen Paget, married John Eddowes Bowman, of London.
2. William Paget, of Loughborough, whose daughter, Anne Paget, as mentioned in the text above, married Archibald Kenrick. Her brother, George Byng Paget, had an only son, George Ernest Paget, of Sutton Bonington, Notts, Chairman of the Midland Railway Company, who was created a Baronet in 1897. It was then, I suppose, that the Arms appearing in the Baronetages, namely Argent, a cross engrailed Sable fretty of the first; in the first and fourth quarters an escallop Sable were granted. These bearings are to some slight extent based on those of the Anglesey family, the Pagets of Beaudesert, whose origin, however, cannot be traced back to so early a date as that of the Leicestershire Pagets, even the parentage of the first Lord Paget (1552—1563) having apparently been lost sight of. (See W. G. D. Fletcher's "Leicestershire Pedigrees and Royal Descents.")

Byng, of Tamworth, for which reason Byng is still used as a Christian name in the Kenrick family. Mrs. Archibald Kenrick, who was born 16th March 1798, died in July 1854, nearly twenty-four years before her husband. They had issue:—

1. John Arthur Kenrick, of whom next.
2. William Kenrick, of whom subsequently (see p. 124).
3. George Kenrick. Born 1833, died 1901, unmarried.
4. Herbert Kenrick. Born 1836, died an infant.
1. Emma Kenrick. Born June 1828; married 5th December 1867, Howard Hutton. They have had issue—Bertram (dead) and Amy (living).
2. Caroline Mary Kenrick. Born 1834.
3. Harriet Kenrick. Born 1835; married—as his first wife—in July 1861, Joseph Chamberlain (now the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, P.C., M.P., etc.), son of Joseph Chamberlain, of Moor Green, near Birmingham. They had issue (together with a daughter, Beatrice) a son Joseph Austen Chamberlain, now P.C., and M.P. for East Worcestershire, etc. He was born 16th October 1863, and Mrs. Chamberlain died in the same month.

JOHN ARTHUR KENRICK, of West Bromwich, and of Berrow Court, Edgbaston (son of Archibald, son of Archibald), was born in December 1829. He married on the 28th of April 1866, Clara (born 1843), daughter of the Rev. John Taylor, of Bolton, Unitarian Minister. Mrs. Kenrick died 25th March 1907.

Mr. Kenrick was formerly Chairman of "Nettlefolds Limited," a Director and Deputy Chairman of "Lloyds Bank Limited," and is a Justice of the Peace for Staffordshire. Mr. and the late Mrs. Kenrick had the following issue:—

1. John Archibald Kenrick, born 19th March 1869, and now of Harborne House, Harborne, Birmingham. Married at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, March 1897, Grace Nettlefold, daughter of the late Edward Nettlefold, of Hallfield, Edgbaston. They have issue:—
 - (1). John Timothy, born 9th April 1898.
 - (2). Hugh Wynn, born March, 1903.
 - (1). Amy Joan, born 5th August, 1899.
 - (2). Frances, born November, 1901.
 - (3). Rebecca, born July 1905.
 - (4). Barbara, born 12th June 1907.
2. Arthur Colin Kenrick. Born 22nd April 1874, and now of the Field House, Clent, Worcestershire. Married at S. George's, Edgbaston, on 3rd September 1902, Marie Louise Goodman, eldest daughter of Edward Martin Goodman,⁸² of Meriden, by Diana his wife, daughter of Dr. Pierre Joseph Van Diest, of Belgium, Chevalier de l'Ordre de Leopold. They have issue :—

Catherine, born 23rd March 1907.

3. George Oscar Kenrick. Born 11th September 1876. Married at Edinburgh, Kate Gibson Middlemass, of Edinburgh, in November 1903. He died, without issue, 25th September 1906.
4. Clive Kenrick. Born 28th September 1878. Married at Edgbaston Parish Church, in April 1906, to Frances Flore Goodman, daughter of the above-mentioned Edward Martin Goodman, of Meriden, and sister of Mrs. Arthur Colin Kenrick, as above. They have no issue.
1. Sophie Kenrick, born 21st March 1867. Married 3 October 1893, at Kensington, to Gerard Lee Bevan, son of Francis Bevan, of the City of London, Banker, and of Trent Park, Hertfordshire. They have issue :—
 - (1). Clara Christabel, born 16th August 1901.
 - (2). Sheila Venetia, born 24th April 1905.
2. Mabel Kenrick, born 1st July 1868. Married at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, November 1903, to Hubert Kenrick Beale, son of Charles Gabriel Beale, of Maple Bank, Edgbaston, by Alice Kenrick, his wife, daughter of Timothy Kenrick, mentioned above. They have issue :—
 - (1). Malcolm, born August 1904.
 - (1). Clare Marian, born July 1907.
3. Dorothy Kenrick, born 28th June 1871. Married at the Church of the Messiah, on 27th June 1893, to Russell Jolly, of Birmingham, son of William Crucknell Jolly, of Home Lea, Bath. They have issue :—
 - (1). Denis Dobell, born 28th September 1900.
 - (1). Rachel, born 12th August 1897.
 - (2). Dorothy Eileen, born 25th May 1902.
4. Rosa Kenrick, born 7th September 1872. Married on 11th May 1908, at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, to William Tangye, second son of George Tangye, of Heathfield Hall, Handsworth, Birmingham.

WILLIAM KENRICK, of the Grove, Harborne, Birmingham (son of Archibald, son of Archibald, see p. 123), was born on 8th June 1831. He married in 1862, Mary, eldest daughter of Joseph Chamberlain, of

Moor Green, and sister of the (now) Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. Mr. Kenrick entered the Birmingham Town Council, of which he is still a member, in 1870, and was Mayor in 1877-8. He is a Justice of the Peace for the City of Birmingham. He was M.P. for North Birmingham from 1885 to 1899, and on his retirement from Parliament was appointed a member of the Privy Council. The Right Hon. William Kenrick and Mrs. Kenrick have the following issue, all of whom are living :—

1. Wilfred Byng Kenrick. Born 4th December 1872, and now of Metchley House, Edgbaston, Birmingham. Married at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, 24th July 1906, Norah, younger daughter of Charles Gabriel Beale, of Maple Bank, Edgbaston. They have issue :—

Norah Penelope, born 22nd May 1907.

2. Gerald William Kenrick. Born 25th September, 1876.
1. Cecily Kenrick. Married 8th November 1892, at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, to Ernest Ridley Debenham, elder son of Frank Debenham,⁸³ They have issue :—

(1). Piers Kenrick, born 28th July 1904.

(2). Gilbert Ridley (twin with Cecil Audrey), born 28th June 1906.

(1). Marjorie Cecily, born 3rd December 1893.

(2). Hester Mary, born 1895.

(3). Joan Millicent, born 24th February 1897.

(4). Alison Edith, born 18th February 1903.

(5). Cecil Audrey (twin with Gilbert Ridley), born 28th June 1906.

2. Millicent Mary Kenrick. Married 30th July 1897, at the Church of the Messiah, Birmingham, Claude Gerald Napier-Clavering, sixth son of the Rev. John Warren Napier-Clavering.⁸⁴ They have issue :—

(1). Mark, born 5th May 1898.

(2). Alan William, born 7th January 1903.

(1). Mary Helen, born 13th May 1900.

⁸³ The author of that interesting story, "Debenham's Vow," seems to have considered the original form of this surname as "de Benham," but it is obviously derived from Debenham, on the river Deben, in Suffolk.

COLLECTIONS FOR A HISTORY OF STAFFORDSHIRE, edited by The William Salt Archaeological Society, vol. xi, New Series. Including A HISTORY OF THE BAGOT FAMILY, by Major-General the Hon. George Wrottesley. London (Harrison & Sons), 1908.

The greater part of this volume is occupied with General Wrottesley's account of the Bagots, proceeding on the same plan as that adopted in his histories of the families of Wrottesley, Giffard and Okeover. It is no mere empty compliment to say that a better method of writing family history cannot be devised. The work is mainly based on ancient deeds in the possession of Lord Bagot at Blithfield, which have been examined for the period ending with the reign of Henry VIII, but the State Papers, Heralds' Visitations, the Memorials of the Bagot Family compiled in 1823 by the second Lord Bagot, and the invaluable Collections from Public Records printed in previous volumes of the Salt Society, have also been consulted. Copies of the Blithfield deeds have been printed in the Appendix. Many difficult questions are raised in connection with the early pedigree, as, for instance, the relationship of the Bagots of Bagot's Bromley to the Bagots of the Hyde, and to Hervey Bagot, who in 1192-3 came into possession of the estates of the baronial house of Stafford in right of his wife, and from whom descended in the male line the Staffords, Dukes of Buckingham. Hervey Bagot, instead of as hitherto being considered as a younger son, now appears as head of the house, and Simon Bagot, the undoubted progenitor of the Lords Bagot, is placed as son of a William Bagot, who was probably uncle of the above mentioned Hervey, and is identified with William Bagot the first of the Hyde. In the Liber Niger, 1166, William Bagot occurs as holding two-thirds of a knight's fee under Robert de Stafford, and it is contended, with much probability, that this was the fee afterwards known as Bagot's Bromley, but that it was the same William Bagot who was enfeoffed at the Hyde in Coppenhall before 1166, seems to us more doubtful. Another very important point is the author's identification of Bromley with the "Bradelie" of Domesday, which he believes to be a mere clerical error for Bramelie, i.e. Bromley. Lord Bagot in his "Memorials" had confounded Bramelie with Branselle, really Bramshall, which at the date of the Liber Niger was held by Hervey Bagot, father of the husband of the Stafford heiress, and at Domesday by Bagod the patriarch of the race. Coming to later times, we find the as yet unidentified Sir William Bagot of Baginton placed as a younger brother of Sir John Bagot of Bagot's Bromley, a prominent member of the household of Henry of Bolingbroke and Henry V. Sir William Bagot was one of "the luckless triumvirate," as Bishop Stubbs calls them, who were the agents of Richard II in those unconstitutional proceedings which cost him his crown. Possessors of Sir James Balfour Paul's Scots Peerage will be glad to note in the margin of that valuable work (vol. iii, p. 140), the marriage of Eleanor of Lovaine, widow of Sir William Douglas, to Sir William Bagot of the Hyde in 1305, and the confirmation which the suit quoted on p. 139 gives to Godscroft in making Sir Archibald Douglas a son of Eleanor. General Wrottesley in a most interesting chapter deals with the armorial ensigns of the family, which he shows to have varied very frequently until a stricter rule was inaugurated by the Heralds' Visitations. It is not a little curious that the Bagots of Bagot's Bromley and the Bagots of the Hyde in their earliest deeds are found to have borne the same coat, notwithstanding the very remote period at which these two branches separated.

The remainder of the volume consists of a short but valuable note from the pen of Mr. W. F. Carter on the identification of the Domesday "Monetvile," which, as he contends, means Monetae villa, "the vill of the mint"; and the Inquests on the Staffordshire estates of the Audleys, with an instructive introduction by Mr. Josiah Wedgwood, M.P.

NOTES ON THE EARLIER HISTORY OF BARTON-ON-HUMBER. By Robert Brown, F.S.A., vol. ii, A.D. 1154-1377. London (Elliot Stock).

The concluding volume of Mr. Brown's Notes on Barton-on-Humber should receive a welcome from local antiquaries, both for the carefully drawn plans it contains of the town as it existed in the reign of Henry III, and for the identification of ancient place names, the result of a laborious comparison of old charters, final concords, and other records with a collection of comparatively modern deeds. Much information has been brought together concerning the history of this once prosperous port and the merchant families which inhabited it during the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. The two great churches which the town boasts, St. Peter's and St. Mary's, have been fully described, and a list of Vicars supplied. Copies of many charters in the Bardney Cartulary are given, but it is to be regretted that there are no references to the folios of this Cartulary, which now forms Cott. MS. Vesp., E. xx (British Museum). In the historical account of the great house of Gaunt, the earliest possessors of Barton, we notice at p. 13 the Stemma Fundatoris, which will be found at folio 54 of the Cartulary. The form as here printed is misleading, for no words are left out after "Quo mortuo successit," as the dots imply; and why in the third line beneath has "hereditavit" been omitted? The sentence should read "Mortuus sine herede, hereditavit Regem Edwardum." This statement in the Stemma is not a full account of the transaction, for a fine levied in the Common Bench shows that the King gave to Gilbert de Gaunt a large sum in return for the surrender, in addition to the life interest referred to in the extract from the Patent Rolls printed on p. 73. In this extract dots have again been unnecessarily inserted and mention of the manors of Heckington and Edenham omitted. It may be of interest to add that on this occasion the Manor of Barton-on-Humber was, as extended, worth £82 14s. 3½d. per annum, and that Juliana de Gaunt held there for her life, by the concession of Gilbert de Gaunt, certain tenements of the value of £42 19s. ¾d. per annum. We could wish that the Pedigree of the House of Gilbert de Gaunt at p. 69 had been drawn in greater detail, and had added to our knowledge of this celebrated family. In the descent of the Beaumonts, the succeeding lords of Barton, on p. 127, Henry de Beaumont, the grantee of Edward II, is made son of Louis, second son of Charles of Anjou, brother of Louis IX of France. This G. E. C. and Mr. G. W. Watson in their notes to the Seize Quartiers of Henry IV of England (Genealogist, N.S., vol. xii, p. 118) have shown to be an impossibility.

The numerous explanations and translations which encumber the text are often quite needless, and sometimes inaccurate, as on p. 140, where an inscription clearly intended for the usual Cujus avine propicietur deus amen, is, in a footnote, rendered as "Apparently Cujus avine spiciet deus amore;" and on p. 110, where "Senescallo hospicii nostri" is actually translated "Seneschal of Our hunting box." The author might surely have known that Miles de Stapilton held the important office of Steward of the King's Household. We notice some serious misprints, and the Index is far from complete.

BIOGRAPHICAL LIST OF BOYS EDUCATED AT KING EDWARD VI FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, BURY ST. EDMUNDS. From 1550 to 1900. Suffolk Green Books, No. xiii. Bury St. Edmunds (Paul & Mathew), 1908.

This is no mere School Admission Book; its compiler has had a far harder task than the editing of such a calendar would have involved. Except for a few years at long intervals, no lists of scholars have been preserved, so that for the greater part of close upon four centuries the editor has had to depend for information upon outside sources, such as Admission Books of Colleges at Cambridge, autobiographies, biographies, old letters, prize exercises and enquiries from descendants and relatives of the boys. That he has succeeded in recording about 3,650 names is a most satisfactory result of his untiring efforts. The career of each student has been followed as far as has been found possible, and the publication of this calendar is certain to produce many corrections and additions. The list contains several names of boys probably, but not certainly, educated at the school, and the editor has even included some known not to have been pupils there, but in all these cases the uncertainty or negation is duly chronicled. In the Appendix copies of the few existing school lists are given; some of these are valuable, as they record the name and abode of the father of the scholar. It is worth noting that town boys went by the curious term of "royalists," while those whose parents were non-residents were dubbed "foreigners."

The alumni of Bury include some distinguished names, such as Sir Edward Hall Alderson, Baron of the Exchequer; Charles Austin, the jurist; Charles James Blomfield, Bishop of London; Simonds D'Ewes, the antiquary; John Mitchell Kemble, author of The Saxons in England; Richard Cumberland, the dramatist; Francis North, first Lord Guilford, and his brothers Dudley, John and Roger North; and William Sancroft, the nonjuring Archbishop of Canterbury.

THE GENEALOGISTS' POCKET LIBRARY. (1), CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS, by George F. T. Sherwood; (2), ROYAL DESCENTS, by the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher; and THE SCOTTISH RECORDS, by J. Bolam Johnson. Walton-on-Thames (Charles A. Bernau). London (Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co.).

Mr. Sherwood in his brief treatise on Chancery Proceedings writes as one thoroughly conversant with his subject; his explanations are so lucid and his illustrations so apposite that the reader cannot fail to gain an accurate idea of the storehouse of information opened to genealogists and students of English literature by a patient search among the records of the Court of Chancery. We cordially agree with the closing words of this little book—"better and more modern Calendars and Indexes are a pressing necessity."

Mr. Fletcher shows why Royal Descents are worth tracing; how they became possible; and how to trace them. He also gives a timely warning as to 'the extreme care that is needed to avoid errors in working out a descent from royalty.

The space allotted to Scottish records is hardly in proportion to their importance, but Mr. Johnson has done his best to elucidate a difficult subject within a very limited compass.

Notes and Queries.

NEVILL OF BIGBY AND HALE.—I should like to add the following note to Mr. Massingberd's Bigby and Hale pedigree in the July number:—

Feudal Aids 1303. Thomas de Nevill and Thomas de Rasen, 1 fee in Bekeby which Hugo de Nevill formerly held.

De Lora de Gaunt and Ada de Loghton, 3 parts of 1 fee in Hal which Hugo de Nevill formerly held.

De Banco Roll, Mich. 30 Ed. 1, Linc. Robert, s. of Hugh de Nevill, and Peter, brother of Robert, v. Adam de Loghton and Margeria, his wife, 1 windmill cū pñ in Great Halle.

Coram Rege Roll, No. 19, Mich. 5 Ed. III, Linc. Robert de Nevill de Bekeby v. Lambert Bally de Quaplade, and his son Thomas, de pl. transgr. m. 8 d.

Feudal Aids 1346. Thomas de Nevill and Thomas Waselyn held one fee in Bekeby which Hugo de Nevill formerly held. Linc.

Coram Rege Roll, No. 99, Easter 25 Hen. VI, Linc. William Robynson de Bekeby frankeleyn v. Thomas Nevill de Bekeby husbandman, for forcibly entering his close at Somerethy and dis-parking cattle. m. 69 d.

De Banco Roll, 9 Hen. V, Mich., Linc. Thomas Nevylle de Bekeby v. William Sharpe de Bekeby, husb., for taking corn and grass worth 40 sol. at Bekeby.

De Banco Roll, Mich. 19 Ed. IV, Linc. Robert Nevylle v. John Nevylle nuper de Bekeby husb., depasturing cattle at Bekeby, £20. m. 11 d.

Evidently the family went down in the world as far as social status was concerned.

EDMUND NEVILL.

PEDIGREE OF DR. EDMOND HALLEY.—Mr. McPike may be interested in an advertisement in the London Gazette of March 24-27, 1684, which gives a description of the personal appearance of the Astronomer's father. The considerable reward offered does not suggest that the family were in poor circumstances. Disappearances such as that of Edmond Halley usually mean suicide. Has Mr. McPike any further information on this point, which is of some little interest as bearing on the connection between madness and genius?

The following is a copy of the advertisement:—

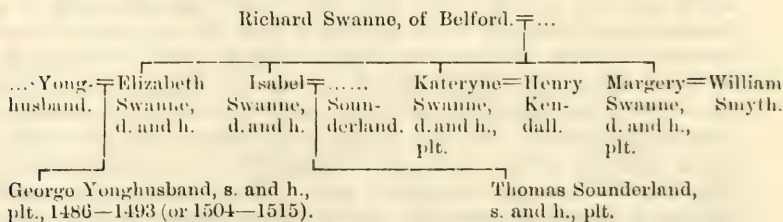

“Mr. Edmond Halley who went from his House in Winchester-street on Wednesday the 5th instant, about One of the Clock, not having since been heard of, otherwise than that it's thought he was seen that Evening towards Hogsden with two men, the one a tall and the other a short man. The said Mr. Halley is a tall man of about Sixty years of Age, having a Mole on his right cheek, with a plain Band, a brown short Perriwig, and a broad brim'd Black Beaver, having a Black Cloth Suit on, his Breeches wide at knees, and an Iron Gray Cloth Coat over it, and Black Worsted Stockings on. Whoever brings true notice of the said Mr. Halley to his wife Mrs. Halley in the said Winchester-street, where he is, alive or dead, shall have One Hundred Pounds for a reward, which shall immediately be paid by her, or at a Goldsmiths.”

The advertisement was repeated in four successive numbers of the London Gazette, on the last occasion, April 7-10, with the two final words changed to "Mr. John Tassell's a Goldsmiths at the Bunch of Grapes in Lombard-street."

YOUNGHUSBAND FAMILY.—Some years ago there was an interesting account of the Younghusband family in The Genealogist (O.S., ii, 7, 53). Perhaps it may be worth while to print the following addition taken from (the Calendar of) Early Chancery Proceedings, Bundle 182, No. 20.

W.F.C.

WILLS FAMILY OF CO. SOMERSET.—I should be very greatly obliged if any subscriber could give me any information relating to the Wills Family of Seabrough and Crewkerne, co. Somerset. Vice-Chancellor John Wills, D.D., Warden of Wadham College, Oxford, was a member of this family. I am endeavouring to obtain sufficient data to enable me to prepare a complete pedigree of the family, and I shall consequently be grateful for any information which will help me.

R. VAUGHAN GOWER.

“THE CHESTERS OF CHICHELEY.”

SOME ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

By the Rev. W. G. D. FLETCHER, M.A., F.S.A.

The “Genealogical Memoirs of the Extinct Family of Chester of Chicheley,” by the late Mr. R. E. Chester Waters,¹ is usually considered to be one of the very best of our many family histories. Mr. Waters detested inaccuracy, and delighted to expose the blunders of heralds and antiquaries. But his book, unlike many genealogical works, is most readable and interesting, and it displays throughout the most patient energy and the most minute investigation.

Some little time before his death, I purchased a large package of papers chiefly relating to Leicestershire, and amongst these were some documents relating to the Chester family, which supplement the information given in his book. I sent these to Mr. Waters, and he told me that he should publish them in some form. As, however, he died before he could carry out his intention, I venture to send to The Genealogist some few additions to “The Chesters of Chicheley,” compiled from an abstract I made of the documents before sending the originals to Mr. Waters; and I have also added one or two corrections of erroneous statements that I have discovered in his book. They add somewhat to Mr. Waters’s statements, and they also throw light on the estates owned by the Chester family. I will deal with these additions and corrections in the order in which they occur in “The Chesters of Chicheley.”

Vol. i, p. 356.—Mr. Waters states that Dorothea Wilson (née Chester) gave to Loughborough Church two large silver flagons and two silver salvers, “which are still used in the service of the Holy Communion.” As a matter of fact, all this valuable communion plate, which was kept in a chest in the “evidence chamber,” over the south porch of Loughborough Church, was stolen on 6 May 1857, and never recovered. The silver flagons weighed 5 lbs. 14 ozs. and 5 lbs. 12 ozs. respectively, and were inscribed “D. Willson.” The two salvers weighed 3 lbs., and bore the initials, “D.W.” Mrs. Wilson also gave in 1735 to Tugby Church, a silver salver, weight 18 ozs., diameter 9½ inches, date 1729, inscribed with the Arms of Wilson impaling Chester; and a silver basin, weight 14 ozs., diameter 9¼ inches, date 1735, having on the edge, “Tugby Church Plate, 1735, D.W.” (See Trollope’s Church Plate of Leicestershire, Vol. i, pp. 45, 46, 249, 251.)

Vol. i, p. 359.—Penelope Chester, the thirteenth child of Sir Anthony Chester, 3rd Bart., married in 1706 or 1707, as his second wife, the ¹ Mr. Chester Waters passed away on 25 November 1898, at 11, Clarendon Road, W., in his seventy-second year. It was my good fortune to know him in the early eighties, when he was residing at 57, The Grove, Hammersmith.

Rev. John Alleyne, B.D., Rector of Loughborough. The marriage licence, dated 7 Nov. 1706, is preserved at Leicester—to marry at Bosworth, Loughborough or Shenton. (Leicester Licences, 1706, No. 80.) Penelope was buried at Loughborough, 28 February 1731. She left an only child, Penelope, who (Mr. Waters alleges) was “born in 1708, and died unmarried on 16 August 1773, at the age of 65.” This is an error on the part of Mr. Waters. Penelope Alleyne was baptized at Loughborough, 6 October 1708, but, so far from dying unmarried, she married her cousin, the Rev. Richard Alleyne, Rector of Stanford, Notts, and had a family of eight children. Penelope’s marriage is clearly proved by the will of her father John Alleyne, which Mr. Waters overlooked.

WILL OF JOHN ALLEYNE, CLERK, RECTOR OF LOUGHBOROUGH, CO. LEICESTER. DATED 21 JANUARY 1735, 9 GEO. II.

“I devise my lands not already settled in Gadesby, co. Leicester, and in Litton, co. Derby, and Congune Lane Close in Tideswell, to my daughter Penelope Alleyne, wife of Richard Alleyne, clerk, in fee.

“My lands, etc., in Ilston and Frizeby, co. Leicester, and all other my lands, to Edward Butler, LL.D., President of Magd : Coll : Oxon, John Toller of Lincoln’s Inn, Esq., and the Revd. Richard Arnold, of Thurston, clerk, upon trust to pay the rents to my son Thomas Alleyne, Fellow of Eman : Coll : Cambridge, for his life ; and after his death to my daughter Penelope Alleyne for her life ; and after the decease of the survivor to sell the same.

“My ready money and securities, &c. (except what was given to my daughter Penelope Alleyne by Mrs. Woolaston) to my said trustees, in trust to pay debts and legacies ; and then to pay the yearly proceeds to my son Thomas for life, remainder to my daughter Penelope for life ; and after the decease of the survivor, both as to my personal estate and as to the moneys arising from the sale of my lands at Ilston and Frizeby, in trust for the children of Penelope, as she shall by deed or will appoint, in default of appointment to such children in equal shares, if none to the executors or administrators of Penelope.

“To my daughter Penelope Alleyne, £20 ; to my grand-daughter Dorothea Alleyne, £10 ; to my sister Wilson, £1 1s. for a ring ; and to the poor of Loughborough, £10.

“I appoint the said Edward Butler, John Toller and Richard Arnold, executors ; and I give each of them £10 for mourning.

“(Signed) JOHN ALLEYNE.

“Witnesses : Sam : Martin, Robt. Roberts, John Trotman.”

Admon., with the will annexed, granted by P.C.C., 31 March 1748, to Thomas Alleyne, son and residuary legatee, Edward Butler and John Toller having died, and Richard Arnold having renounced. And a Definitive Sentence being first pronounced for the validity of the will.
(70 Strahan.)

There seems to have been some unpleasantness between the Rev.

Thomas Alleyne (only surviving child¹ of John Alleyne, the testator, by his first wife) and his half-sister Penelope Alleyne by reason of this will. An agreement was arrived at on 12 October 1739, about six months after John Alleyne's death, and was signed by the parties; but in Trinity Term, 1746, a Bill was filed in Chancery, between Richard Alleyne & Penelope his wife, and Dorothea Frances, John, Penelope, Catherine, Ann, and Richard, their children, infants, by Richard Alleyne, their next friend, complainants, and Thomas Alleyne and Richard Arnold, defendants. The cause was finally heard, and decree made, on 31 October 1750. Three years later, on 31 December 1753, Thomas Alleyne and Richard Alleyne and Penelope his wife came to terms, and executed an indenture by which they agreed to a division of the personality.

Thomas Alleyne, however, carried his animosity to such a pitch that by his will, which is dated 9 June 1757, and two codicils, he disinherited his half-sister entirely. He bequeathed £100 to Emanuel College, Cambridge, and £50 to his cousin, William Roos, and he devised his houses and lands in Derby, Parkfield Loughborough, Quorndon, and Lowdham and elsewhere in Suffolk, to his cousin Mrs. Elizabeth Woodhouse, of Critch, co. Derby, spinster. His will was proved in P.C.C., 11 August 1761, by Elizabeth Woodhouse. (275 Cheslyn.) After his death, Elizabeth Woodhouse applied in the Archdeaconry Court of Leicester for leave to erect a monument in Loughborough Church to his memory. This application Penelope Alleyne opposed, but ultimately the Court, on 12 May 1763, decreed that a faculty should be granted. Elizabeth Woodhouse became the wife of the Rev. Richard Gifford, Vicar of Duffield.

Richard Alleyne, the husband of Penelope, and her first cousin, was the son of Richard Alleyne,² of St. Werburgh's, Derby, and was born in 1706. He was educated at Derby School and at Emanuel College, Cambridge, where he graduated B.A. in 1726, and became M.A. and Fellow in 1730. He was ordained Deacon by the Bishop of Lincoln, 22 Dec. 1728, and the next day was licensed to the curacy of Walton-on-the-Wolds. In 1734 he was ordained priest, and became Curate of Sharnford. He is described as "of Loughborough" in 1738. On 11 November 1740 he became Curate of Stanford-on-Soar, and was instituted Rector on 14 April 1755. An interesting letter of Richard Alleyne is preserved, addressed to his eldest daughter, when she was on a visit to East Haddon, and dated 15 December 1760; it well describes the daily home-life in a quiet country rectory.

¹ Mr. Waters speaks of Thomas Alleyne as the only child of John Alleyne, by Jane Staveley, his first wife. (Vol. i, p. 359.) He had had, however, three other sons who died young, viz., John, baptized and buried 1697; Robert, baptized and buried 1704; and Richard, baptized and buried 1705. (Fletcher's Rectors of Loughborough, p. 49.)

² Richard Alleyne was born at Derby, 6 April 1666, and buried in December 1760. He was younger brother of John Alleyne, the Rector of Loughborough, who was born 26 September 1657, and died 25 March 1739. John and Richard were sons of John Alleyne, of St. Werburgh's, Derby. For particulars about the Alleyne family, see Fletcher's Rectors of Loughborough, pp. 27-32, 49-52, and the authorities there cited.

"You desire the news of y^e neighbourhood; & a rational request it is! & you are very likely to be gratified in it. For was I to speak only from personal knowledge, my province would be much confined, & I could only give you a long detail of our short journeys from the bedside to the parlour fire; how we breakfast till past ten, dine till betwixt two & three, drink tea between 5 & 6, play at cards till almost supper time, & at supper riot in all the luxury of oatmeal hasty pudding, & soon after ten to bed again. This is our continual round; & an agreeable one you'll say it is. Why it is enough indeed for people of such indolent inactive dispositions as we are; but for others of sprightliness & activity, for our friends at Haddon, it would by no means do; they must hear, see, & know more of the world than we can expect in our small Hotel & retir'd Villa."¹

Richard Alleyne died 12 November 1767, in his 62nd year, and was buried at Stanford-on-Soar, where a flat stone in the aisle records this inscription:—"Here lies interred the body of the Rev. Mr. Richard Alleyne, Rector of this Parish, who departed this life the 12th day of Nov. 1767, in the 62 year of his age. Here also lies the body of Penelope Alleyne, Relict of the Revd. Mr. Richard Alleyne. She departed this life the 16th day of August 1773, in the 65th year of her age."

His widow retired to Loughborough after her husband's death, but she survived him less than six years, and was buried at Stanford, 20 August 1773. The following is an abstract of her will:—

WILL OF PENELOPE ALLEYNE, OF LOUGHBOROUGH, WIDOW OF RICHARD ALLEYNE, LATE OF STANFORD, CLERK, DECEASED. Dated 22 June 1771.

"In pursuance of the power given me by an Indenture dated 16 October 1733, made between my late honoured and esteemed father John Alleyne, clerk, deceased, of the 1st part, Richard Alleyne, clerk, my late husband, of the 2nd part, and Edward Butler, LL.D., and Richard Arnold, B.D., of the 3rd part, I appoint and devise all those lands, &c., lying at Litton & Tidswell, co. Derby, to my son John Alleyne, & his heirs; and all those messuages, lands, etc., at Gaddesby, co. Leicester, to my daughters Dorothea Frances Alleyne, Penelope Alleyne and my son Thomas Alleyne, as tenants in common.

"And under the power given me by the will of my late father John Alleyne, dated 21 Jan. 1735, I appoint that the moneys to arise from the sale of the lands at Ilston & Frisby, now vested in the Rev. Brownlow Toller and Edward Ellis, and £440 6s. 8d., the residue of his personal estate also vested in them, shall be paid as follows: £1,000 to my daughter Ann, the wife of John Bosworth; £100 to my daughter Catharine, the wife of John Stacey; £500 to the children of Catharine Stacey, as she shall appoint, if none live to attain 21 then to my daughters

¹ This letter was in the possession of Mrs. T. W. Rowland, of Normanton-on-Soar, in 1882. To her I am indebted for many of the documents about Penelope Alleyne and her husband which are given in this paper.

Dorothea Frances Alleyne & Penelope Alleyne & my son Thomas Alleyne in equal shares.

"I give £20 to my son John Alleyne for mourning, and also the moneys to arise from the sale of the lands in Litton & Tideswell.

"The residue of the moneys arising from the sale of the lands at Ilston & Frisby, to the said Dorothea Frances, Penelope, & Thomas Alleyne equally.

"The sum of £440 6s. 8d. to the said Dorothea Frances Alleyne & Penelope Alleyne equally.

"Specific bequests of watches & plate. The residue to my daughters Dorothea Frances Alleyne & Penelope Alleyne, and I appoint them executrixes of my will.

“(Signed) PEN : ALLEYNE.

“Witnesses : Samuel Abell, junr., Mary Clayton, John Blunt.”

Richard and Penelope Alleyne had issue, eight children, namely :—

1. Dorothea Frances, of Loughborough, died unmarried and was buried at Stanford-on-Soar, 28 May 1807. Her will is dated 21 November 1787 : she devises her lands at Gaddesby to her sister Penelope Hunt, for life, remainder to her brother John Alleyne, in fee ; bequeaths her money and plate, etc., to her sisters and the children of her brother John Alleyne, and appoints her brother John Alleyne and her brother-in-law John Bosworth, executors of her will.
2. John Alleyne, of Nottingham, silk mercer. He married, at St. Mary's, Nottingham, by licence, 18 March 1765, Mary, daughter of Thomas Morris, of Nottingham, and was buried at Nottingham in 1793. They had issue, a son who died young, and four daughters :—
 - (1) Mary, born 1766, married at St. Peter's, Nottingham, 26 January 1792, John Cradock, of Loughborough, attorney, and had issue, six sons and three daughters. She died 11 August 1807, aged 41, and was buried at Loughborough. M.I. He was born 26 February 1766, and died 18 March 1833. The family is now represented by John Davys Cradock, of Quorn Court. (See Pedigree of Cradock in The Genealogist, O.S., Vol. vi, pp. 19-23, Burke's Landed Gentry, and Leicestershire Pedigrees and Royal Descents.)
 - (2) Penelope, born 1768, died unmarried, 27 March 1805, aged 37, and was buried at Quorndon, where is this inscription : “Sacred to the memory of Penelope Alleyne, died March 27, 1805, aged 37.” (Nichols' Leicestershire, Vol. iv, p. 403.)
 - (3) Anne Frances, married at Althorpe, near Packington, in 1794, William Middleton, of Loughborough, banker, and had issue. She died March 1838. He died 8 Oct. 1843. (See Pedigree of Middleton in Burke's Landed Gentry, 5th edition.)

- (4) Catherine, married at St. Mary's, Nottingham, in 1803, to Thomas Holdsworth, of Alvaston, co. Derby, and had issue—Catherine and Ellen.
3. Penelope, baptized at Loughborough 15 October 1734; married there 23 September 1776, Thomas Hunt, of Loughborough, surgeon, and died s.p., 1797.
 4. Catherine, baptized at Loughborough, 26 April 1738; married John Stacey; died 22 May 1794, and was buried at Coleorton. M.I.
 5. Ann, baptized at Stanford-on-Soar, 30 September 1741; married at Loughborough 11 February 1771, John Bosworth, of Beeby Grange. He died 10 December 1812, aged 79, and she died 2 March 1831, and was buried 9 March at Beeby. On the floor of Beeby Church is a stone with this inscription: "In memory of John Bosworth, who departed this life Dec. 10, 1812, aged 79 years. Also Anne, the wife of John Bosworth, who died March 2^d 1831, aged 90 years. She was the daughter of the Revd. Richard Alleyne, Rector of Stanford-on-Soar, and Penelope his wife." John and Ann Bosworth had issue, two sons, Thomas and John. The younger son, John Bosworth, born 11 May 1774, was an Alderman and Freeman of Leicester; he married at Stanford, 31 Oct. 1809, Sarah, daughter of William Rowland, and had issue by her seven children—John Alleyne Bosworth, of Humberstone; Rowland Bosworth; Benjamin Bosworth; Mary; Catherine Anne, the wife of Thomas Westland Rowland, of Normanton-on-Soar; Robert Rowland Bosworth; and Frances Sarah. John Bosworth of Leicester died 26 January 1857, and was buried at Leicester.
 6. Elizabeth Priscilla, baptized at Stanford-on-Soar, ~~25~~ August 1742, and was buried there 17 April 1743.
 7. Richard Alleyne, born 3 August 1743, and baptized 10 August at Stanford; died 25 May 1751, and was buried 28 May at Stanford. On 28 May 1751, Elizabeth Denny, of Stanford, made an affidavit before Theophilus Hastings, Curate of Leake, "that the body of Richard Alleyne, Son of Richard and Penelope Alleyne, deceas'd the twenty fifth of May in the year of our Lord 1751, was not wrapp'd or wound up for Burial, in any thing but what was of Sheep's Wool only."
 8. Thomas Alleyne, of Lambeth, silk-mercier; born 24 October and baptized 28 November 1749, at Stanford-on-Soar.

There are several releases extant, dated in June 1776, for the legacies and shares of these children made under the wills of their mother, Penelope, and grandfather, John Alleyne. The Arms of Alleyne, as borne by this family are: Argent, a cross moline Sable. Some of Penelope's descendants possess Archbishop Cranmer's watch and other relics of their distinguished collateral ancestor. The watch was exhibited at a meeting of the Leicestershire Archaeological Society on 31 March 1884, and it was then the property of Mr. Rowland Bosworth, his collateral descendant in the ninth generation. Sir Anthony Chester, third Bart., married in 1657 Mary, daughter of Samuel Cranmer, Alderman of London, who was great-grandson of John Cranmer of Aslacton, the Archbishop's elder brother. (See the Leicestershire Archaeological Society's "Transactions," vol. vi, p. 95; and pedigree in the "Chesters of Chicheley," vol. ii, pp. 444-6.)

Vol. ii, p. 525.—John Chester (afterwards fourth Baronet) married Anne Wollaston on 2 November 1686. A post-nuptial settlement was executed on 18 October 1687. It is made between Sir Anthony Chester, [third] Bart., and John Chester, his son and heir-apparent, of the first part, the Hon. Lewis Watson and Sir William Villers of the second part, William Wollaston, Esq., and Anne Chester, his daughter and wife of the said John Chester, of the third part, Sir Villers Charnock, Francis Duncomb, Esq., John Cholmondeley, Esq., and John Cave, Clerk, of the fourth part, Sir Henry Campbell, Bart., and William Farrer, Esq., of the fifth part, Charles Toll, Esq., and Thomas Roper, Esq., of the sixth part, and John Manning and Francis Brace, gent., of the seventh part. In consideration of a marriage portion of £10,000 paid by William Wollaston, Sir Anthony Chester and John Chester released to the said Watson and Villers the manors of Chicheley and Thick-Thornes, co. Bucks, and of Tilsworth, co. Bedford, Liddington Park, and lands in Liddington, Marston, and Millbrook, co. Bedford, and in Hanbridge, Marston, Crawley, Emerton, or Sherrington, in cos. Bucks and Bedford, and the rectories of Chicheley and Tilsworth, upon certain trusts. As to certain lands in Tilsworth, to the said Toll and Roper for eighty years, with ultimate remainder to John Chester in tail male, and failing such issue to Sir Anthony Chester in fee. As to the manor and rectory of Tilsworth, etc., to John Chester and Anne his wife in tail male. And as to lands in Chicheley and Emerton, to Sir Anthony Chester during the lives of himself and Dame Mary Chester his grandmother, and Dame Elizabeth Chester his mother; remainder to John Chester for life, remainder to his sons successively in tail male, remainder to Sir Anthony Chester in fee. The term of eighty years is to enable Anne Chester to receive the rents of certain lands in Tilsworth during her life.

Vol. ii, p. 533.—Mr. Waters says that the will of Sir John Chester, fourth Baronet, though afterwards the subject of a Chancery Suit, is not to be found in the Registry of the Prerogative Court. I am able to give an abstract of this will, but I do not know where it was proved:—

WILL OF SIR JOHN CHESTER, BART. DATED 25 JANUARY 1725-6.

"To my son William Chester and his heirs, lands in Chalgrave, co. Bedford, and a piece of land called the Berry peice in which the Water house stands, and the Coney hills without the Parke at Littleington in co. Bedford.

"To my son John Chester and his heirs, farm at Clifton, co. Bedford, and farm at Sherrington, co. Bucks, and the farm at Hockley, subject to the payment of £90 per annum to my daughter Elizabeth Chester, and of £15 per annum to my daughter Anne Chester, for life.

"To the said Anne Chester, farm at Kempston, co. Bedford; remainder to my son Francis Chester and his heirs.

"To my brother Cesar Chester, £20 per annum for his life, payable out of such lands as I shall devise to my executors; and to my nephew Anthony Chester, £25 per annum for his life, payable out of the said lands.

"To my wife Dame Frances Chester, and my son-in-law John Toller, all my messuages and lands in Littleington, Marston, Millbrooke, and elsewhere, not by me formerly settled or otherwise disposed of, for the term of 100 years, in trust to apply the rents and profits thereof to aid my personal estate in the payment of debts and legacies; and when all these are paid, I give the said lands to my son John Chester in fee.

"I appoint my wife, my son John Chester, and my son-in-law John Toller, executors of my will."

Vol. ii, p. 581.—There was a lawsuit, in the Chancery or Exchequer, sometime between 1708 and 1726, in which John Wilkins, of Ravenstone was complainant, and William Chester, of Brooksby, Esquire, defendant, but I have no particulars of this suit.

Vol. ii, p. 583.—Mrs. Elizabeth Wollaston, the widow of William Wollaston, of Shenton, was buried there 28 March 1717. The following is an abstract of her will:—

WILL OF ELIZABETH WOLLASTON, OF SHENTON, CO. LEICESTER, WIDOW AND RELICT OF WILLIAM WOLLASTON, ESQUIRE, DECEASED. DATED 8 JANUARY 1716.

"My body to be interred in the parish church of Shenton, in a decent manner, without any funerall pomp or expence.

"I devise all those my closes called Bynions Closes in the parishes of Chicheley and Emarton, co. Bucks, and all other my lands which I bought of William Hartley, late of Newport, deceased, unto my grandson William Chester, Esquire, and his heirs.

"To my daughter Rebecca Wilkins, the wife of John Wilkins, Esquire, £50 for mourning.

"The residue to my grandson William Chester, whom I make sole executor. I revoke all former wills.

"(Signed) ELIZA WOLLASTON."

Will proved in the Archdeaconry Court of Leicester, 27 March 1717, by William Chester, of Shenton, Esq., the executor. Nul: Inv:

Vol. ii, p. 605.—William Chester, afterwards fifth Baronet, married Penelope Hewitt on 5 March 1716-17. Shortly before the marriage, by Indenture dated 29 January 1716, and made between Sir John Chester, Bart., and William Chester, Esquire, his son and heir-apparent of the one part, and Francis Brace, gent., of the other part, the estates tail and remainders in the premises settled on 18 October 1687 were barred. And in Hilary Term, 3 George I., a Recovery was suffered of the manor of Tilsworth, Lilleington Parke, the Rectory of Tilsworth, and lands in Chicheley and Emerton.

The Settlement on the marriage is dated 4 and 5 March 1716, the Release made between Sir John Chester, Bart., and William Chester, Esquire, his son and heir-apparent of the first part, Penelope Hewitt, daughter of George Hewitt, Esquire, deceased, of the second part, Sir James Robinson, Bart., and Francis Duncomb, Esquire, of the third part, Sir Pincet Charnock, Bart., and William Jesson, Esquire, of the fourth part, and William Hewitt, Esquire, and Francis Duncomb, junior, Esquire, of the fifth part. In consideration of a marriage to be solemnized between William Chester and Penelope Hewitt, and of £3,000 marriage portion paid by her, Sir John Chester and William Chester released to the said Robinson and Duncombe senior, the Manor and Rectory of Tilsworth, Comber or Lilleington Park, and lands in Littleington, Marston and Millbrooke, co. Bedford, and in Chicheley and Emerton, co. Bucks, To the uses of the Indenture of 18 October 1687, until the said marriage shall be solemnized; and afterwards to William Chester for his life; remainder to the use of the sons of the said William and Penelope successively in tail male; remainder to Sir John Chester and his heirs. And as to the residue of the said manor of Tilsworth, etc., to Trustees, to raise portions for the younger children of the marriage, if one, £2,000, if two or more, £4,000.

Mr. Waters is not quite accurate in his statement about this settlement, on page 606.

Vol. ii, p. 607.—The Chancery Suit contesting the provisions of Sir John Chester's will, was between Penelope Chester, Elizabeth Chester, Anne Chester, Catharine Diana Chester, Dorothy Chester, and Mary Chester, the six daughters and co-heirs of Sir William Chester, late of Brooksby, co. Leicester, Bart., deceased, by Dame Penelope Chester, their mother and next friend, plaintiffs, and Sir John Chester, Bart., Dame Frances Chester, John Toller, Esq., Sir Pincet Charnock, Bart., William Hewitt, Esq., and Francis Duncombe, Esq., defendants.

There is of course no difficulty in adding to the information given in almost any genealogical work; but it seemed to me that the additions and corrections here given are such as Mr. Chester Waters would have himself inserted in any revised edition of his work, and are worthy of being placed on permanent record in the pages of The Genealogist. What became of the documents here abstracted, after his death, I do not know.

THE CAREWS, BARONETS OF ANTONY, CO. CORNWALL.
(ADDITIONAL NOTES.)

The former treatise on the Baronetcy of Carew of Antony, Cornwall, in The Genealogist (N.S., vol. xxiv, p. 22) was, to myself at any rate, a most unsatisfactory effort, as it left the devolution or extinction of the Baronetcy upon the death in 1799 of the Rev. Sir Alexander Carew, eighth Bart., undetermined. I now, therefore, offer the following additional notes with a view, as far as possible, to shew that the Baronetcy came to an end on the death of the Vicar of St. Wenn.

In the former article I had, I venture to say, successfully dealt with the issue male of Thomas, fifth son of Sir Alexander Carew, second Bart., and with all senior to him in that line. Alexander, the (probably younger) brother of this Thomas, was of Smyrna and died a bachelor. Administration of his estate was granted P.C.C. 19 Feb. 1673-4 to his brother Richard, Dame Jane Carew, his mother, renouncing.

Richard Carew, the only other son of Sir Alexander Carew, was baptised at St. Minver, Cornwall, 21 Apr. 1641. He was M.P. for Saltash 1689 until his death, and was probably M.P. for Callington 1679-81 (though this may be his uncle, Richard Carew, of Barley, hereinafter referred to). He married, probably at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, co. Middlesex (lic. Fac. Office, 31 July 1674), Penelope, second daughter and coheir of Rice Tanat, of Abertanat, co. Salop, who was then aged 24. By the will of the said Richard Carew then of Abertanat aforesaid, dated 22 Aug. 1691, probate P.C.C. 20 Jan. 1691-2 (Fane 5), it appears that his wife predeceased him and that he died s.p., as he left the residue of both lands and goods to his brother Sir John Carew, Bart.

With regard to the issue male of the first Bart., Sir Alexander Carew was the youngest, but only surviving, son of the first marriage. By his second marriage, however, with Grace Rolle (his eldest son's future sister-in-law) Sir Richard had six sons, viz. :—

- I. John Carew, born 3, baptised at Antony 7 July 1622, matriculated at Gloucester Hall, Oxon., 1637, aged 15; admitted to the Inner Temple; M.P. for Tregony 1646-53. He was one of the Regicides and as such was executed at Charing Cross 15 Oct. 1660. He was, of course, attainted, and his issue, if any, would be thus passed over on a question of descent of a title. I do not, however, think he was ever married. Colonel Vivian, in his "Visitations of Cornwall," very kindly supplies him with a wife, to wit, Anne, daughter of Richard Hoblyn, whom he is there said to have married 26 July 1664, some three or four years after he was duly hung, drawn and quartered. On referring to the Hoblyn pedigree I find that a Richard Hoblyn, of Antron, married Anne, daughter of John Carew, of Penwarne, on that very date (26 July 1664) at St. Columb Major, which Anne Carew was the Regicide's first cousin.

- II. Wymond Carew, born 28 Aug., and baptised at Antony 7 Sept. 1623, and was buried there 9 Aug. 1624.
- III. Sir Thomas Carew, the only son of Sir Richard's second marriage to leave issue, of whom hereafter.
- IV. Richard Carew, of Barley, Devon, baptised at Antony 18 June 1626; possibly M.P. for Callington 1679-81. His will, dated 2 Oct. 1685, was proved 15 Nov. 1686 (Princ. Reg., Exeter), by Sir John Carew, Bart., and Daniel Vinicombe, two of the executors in trust for testator's nephew Henry, son of his brother Sir Thomas. The testator apparently left no issue, at least none is mentioned in the will.
- V. Robert Carew, of St. Margaret, Lothbury, London, baptised at Antony 16 Sept. 1627, died a bachelor. His nuncupative will dated 2, was proved 30 Jan. 1654-5, P.C.C. (Aylett 31), by Joseph Carew, his brother and residuary legatee.
- VI. Joseph Carew, of Aleppo, baptised at Antony 11 Jan. 1628-9. Will dated 20 Apr. 1671, probate P.C.C. 20 Feb. 1674-5, (Dyce 11), by his brother Richard Carew; no wife or child is mentioned.

Sir Thomas Carew, of Barley, the third son of the first Baronet's second marriage, was baptised at Antony 19 July 1624. He was a Barrister-at Law of the Inner Temple and was M.P. for Callington 1658-9, for Michael 1660, and for Exeter 1680-1. He was knighted at Dartmouth 21 July 1671, and died 25, and was buried with his wife at St. Thomas', Exeter, 29 July 1681. His will, dated 11 July 1681, was proved 15 Dec. 1682, and again 28 Aug. 1688 in Exeter Consistory Court. He married Elizabeth, possibly daughter of John Cooper, of Exeter, but more probably widow of . . . Cupper. Her administration as Dame Elizabeth Carew alias Cupper, was granted out of P.C.C. 1 July 1681. Sir Thomas had, with three daughters, five sons, viz.:—

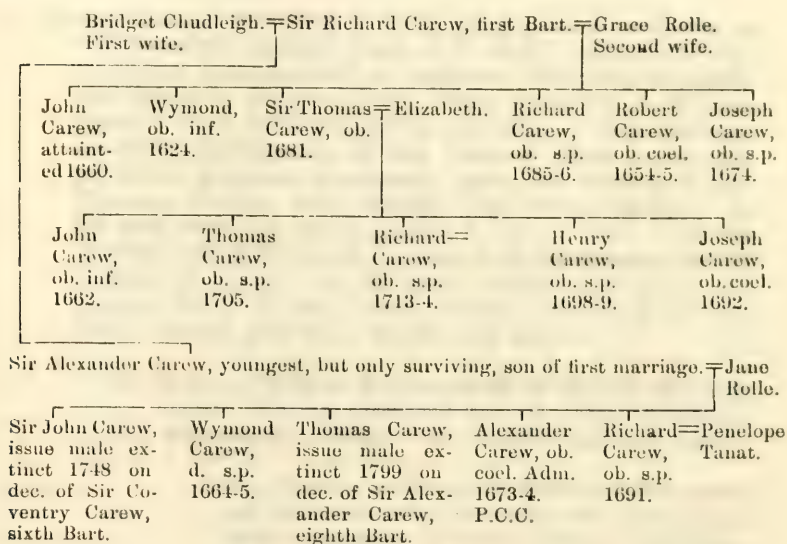

- I. John Carew, buried as eldest son and heir apparent at St. Thomas', Exeter, 16 Mar. 1662.
- II. Thomas Carew, of Barley, Devon, M.P. for Saltash 1700-5, bur. at St. Thomas', Exeter. Will dated 29 Mar., probate 24 May 1705, P.C.C., and a copy thereof was left in the Consistory Court at Exeter. He thereby left all his lands to his brother and executor Richard Carew.
- III. Richard Carew, of Barley aforesaid, matriculated at Exeter College, Oxon., 1683, aged 19. He was buried at St. Thomas'. In his will and codicil both dated 15 Nov. 1713 and proved 4 Nov. 1714 in the Exeter Consistory Court by Sentence, he refers to his wife then alive but unnamed, and makes his sister Katherine, wife of William Pinnick, his executrix and residuary devisee. No children are mentioned.

IV. Henry Carew, of St. Thomas the Apostle, Devon, one of the four Tellers of the Exchequer, was under age 1686, but 21 by 8 Oct. 1690, when he proved the will of his uncle Richard Carew. His will, dated 13 Mar. 1697-8, was proved 20 Jan. 1698-9, P.C.C. (Pett 89). He mentions neither wife nor child, and makes his brother Thomas his executor.

V. Joseph Carew, of Exeter, gent., died a bachelor. Administration granted out of P.C.C. 8 Oct. 1692 to Richard, Henry and Elizabeth Carew, brothers and sister.

Failing the appearance of any son of the first Baronet hitherto undiscovered, it seems safe enough to say that the Baronetcy of Carew of Antony, created 9 Aug. 1641, came to an end upon the death of the eighth Baronet, Rev. Sir Alexander Carew, Vicar of St. Wenn in 1799.

A further tabular pedigree may make the results of these notes more clear :—

REGINALD M. GLENCROSS.

STUBBS OF STAMFORD AND NASSINGTON.

ARMS: Sable, on a bend between three pheons (? Or), as many buckles (? Gules). CREST: A demi-eagle, wings expanded.

Two pedigrees of this family have been published—one by Mr. W. C. Metcalfe in The Genealogist, O.S., vol. iii, p. 311, from the Visitation of Cambridgeshire, 1684; the other by Canon Maddison in Lincolnshire Pedigrees, vol. iii (Harleian Society, vol. lii), p. 933, based on MS. D. 23 at Heralds' College (the last Visitation of Lincolnshire, 1666). The following notes largely extend, and in regard to the marriages materially amend, the published pedigrees, and trace the connection of one branch of the family with Nassington, Northants.

- I. Joseph Stubbs, described in both the published pedigrees as "of Stamford, Leicestershire, in December 1604 (day of month not legible in parish register) Mary, daughter of William Gulston, rector of Wymondham, and sister of John Gulston, sometime prothonotary of the Common Pleas (whom the published pedigrees erroneously make her father), of Dr. Theodore Gulston (who mentions his "sister Stubbes" in his will, dated 26 April, proved P.C.C., 1 June 1632, 64 Audley), and of Nathaniel Gulston, D.D., the father of Bishop Gulston of Bristol and of Mrs. Addison (Cf. Notes and Queries, 10 S. X. 201). Mrs. Stubbs was living 11 Oct. 1666. Joseph and Mary Stubbs had issue—

- (1) Justinian Stubbs, who occurs as of Ryhall, Rutland, clerk, 1662-75, probably first as Curate-in-charge, afterwards as Vicar. He married and had issue—

John, educated at Stamford School for four years, and at home under his father for three years, before admission to Caius College, Cambridge, 20 June 1664, at the age of 18. John Stubbs graduated M.B. 1670, and died s.p. before 1684.

- (2) John Stubbs, of whom below.

- (3) Sheffield Stubbs, born circa 1614. Of St. Paul's, Covent Garden. An overseer of the will, dated 17 Nov., proved P.C.C., 29 Jan. 1657-8 (1 Wootton), of Henry Waite, citizen and leather seller of London. His will, dated 11 Oct., proved P.C.C., 30 Oct. 1666 (150 Mico), mentions his wife Sarah (executrix), his daughter Elizabeth Ker, his son Sheffield Stubbs, and his daughter Strainge (who was born 18 March, baptized at St. Paul's, Covent Garden, 24 March 1656-7), and makes his brother, John Stubbs, and his cousin, Nicholas Waite, overseers. The younger Sheffield Stubbs, who was under age 11 Oct. 1666, was of Ely in 1684; married and had issue.

- (4) Richard Stubbs, of Bristol, merchant. His will, dated 18 May, proved P.C.C., 1 July 1675 (78 Dycer), mentions his wife Mary, his sons Thomas (of London), Richard, Charles, and John, and his daughters Basrell, Ann Tufley, and Elizabeth.

11. John Stubbs, born circa 1611, of Barnard's Inn, attorney-at-law. Co-surety with William Sharpe of Nassington for Daniel Thorowgood of Stamford, 17 Jan. 1637-8. Cited as co-trustee with Robert Maltward of several leases of lands, etc., at Witham, Essex, in the will of John Gulston, dated 13 June 1643, proved P.C.C. (at Oxford) 13 April 1644. John Stubbs married, firstly, Elizabeth Barnewell, of Nassington, spinster, daughter and eventually heiress of George Barnewell (erroneously called Francis Barnewell in the Lincolnshire pedigree) of Rochester by his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter of Edmund Ferby of Paul's Cray Hill. Marriage licence, in which John Stubbs is described as of Stamford St. Martin, gentleman, for marriage at Caistor, dated 19 Jan. 1635-6 (Peterborough Diocesan Registry). In his will dated 20 Aug., proved P.C.C., 2 Oct. 1625 (104 Clark), George Barnewell left 40s. to the poor of Rochester and the same sum to the poor of Nashington (sic), Northants, and asked his "father Carter" (Cf. pedigree of Carter of Nassington in Lincolnshire Pedigrees, vol. i, p. 231) and his mother to be good to his daughter Elizabeth. John and Elizabeth Stubbs had issue—

- (1) Robert Stubbs, of whom below.

- (1) Bazill, died before her father.

- (2) Elizabeth, married at Stibbington, Hunts, 6 Jan. 1662-3, John Lawrence, M.A., Vicar of Nassington, afterwards Vicar of St. Martin's and Warden of Browne's Hospital, Stamford, and had issue.

- (3) Catherine, married . . . Ring.

- (4) Mary, of Upton, Northants, spinster, died 27 Jan. 1679. M.I. in chapel of Browne's Hospital. Arms: On a bend between three pheons, three roundels (Wright, "Story of the 'Domus Dei' of Stamford," p. 64). Her will, dated 22 Jan. 1679, in which she makes her "beloved brother-in-law" John Lawrence, residuary legatee and sole executor, was proved P.C.C. 4 May 1680 (66 Bath).

John Stubbs married, secondly, Bridget, widow of John Edwards of Stibbington. Marriage licence (V.G.) dated 8 May 1662. The will of John Stubbs, in which he is described as of Stibbington, date left blank, was proved P.C.C., 2 Jan. 1670-1 (9 Duke), by Catherine Ring alias Stubbs.

- III. Robert Stubbs, born circa 1641. Of Barnard's Inn, 3 Dec. 1657, when he was admitted to Gray's Inn. Acquired under his father's will a life interest in all his lands and freehold and copyhold messuages at Nassington. A party to an indenture, dated 16 Nov. 1667, relating to property in St. Nicholas' parish, Rochester, therein described as "son and heir of Elizabeth Stubbs, deceased, late wife of John Stubbs, of Barnard's Inn, co. Middx., gent., the said Elizabeth being surviving daughter and heiress of George Barnewell, late of the city of Rochester, co. Kent, gent., deceased" (Archæologia Cantiana, vol. xviii, p. 214). Owned the house at the west end of Browne's Hospital, Stamford, in which the founder is supposed to have resided (Wright, "Story of 'Domus Dei,'" p. 65, footnote). Robert Stubbs married Elizabeth, daughter of John and Bridget Edwards of Stibbington. Marriage licence (V.G.) of the same date as her mother's. Administration of the goods of Robert Stubbs was granted to his widow Elizabeth, P.C.C. 15 Feb. 1676-7.

- IV. John Stubbs, son of Robert and Elizabeth Stubbs, born circa 1664, on whom his grandfather settled his Nassington property in remainder after his father, was living 1684.

By W. F. CARTER.

I now return to TIMOTHY KENRICK, third son of Archibald, son of John and Mary (Quarrell) Kenrick (see ante, p. 122). He was born 26th June 1807, and joined his father and brothers in the West Bromwich business. He became in 1858 a Director, and later, Deputy Chairman, of the Midland Railway Company, and was also Deputy Chairman of Lloyd's Bank. He was among the number of those who helped to secure for Birmingham the Hall and part of the Park of Aston, once the seat of the Holte family. Mr. Kenrick lived at Maple Bank, Edgbaston, and was a J.P. for the County of Stafford. He married on the 10th of February 1837, Maria Paget, daughter of Thomas Paget, of Leicester, surgeon; she, as already shown,⁸⁵ was first cousin to Ann Paget, wife of Archibald Kenrick the younger. Mrs. Timothy Kenrick, who was born 21st February 1808, died at Maple Bank, aged 68 years, on the 5th May 1876,⁸⁶ and Mr. Timothy Kenrick died 23rd February 1885.⁸⁷ Their issue was as follows:—

1. Archibald Kenrick, born 30th April 1842, and now of Broom House, Bournemouth. He married at Birmingham, 27th July 1869, Emily Purdie Selman, daughter of John Selman,⁸⁸ of Birmingham, and by her, who died 25th April 1907,⁸⁹ had the following issue:—

⁸⁵ See ante, p. 122.

⁸⁷ Ibid.

⁸⁸ This is a surname, the rarity of which almost justifies the inference that all those bearing it in one district are of one family. In the sixteenth century there was a family of the name at Aqualate, Staffordshire, of whom Michael, William and Thomas were "abull men" at the muster of 1539; another William and John being at Marston. Michael, it appears, was lord of the manor of Moreton, and there was a Chancery suit about his inheritance. There are a few Selman wills at Lichfield, but I have made no special enquiry as to bearers of the surname. I suspect the Staffordshire Selmans of being descended from Roger Selyman, a burgess of Stafford, in the time of Edward III.

⁸⁹ "Birmingham Daily Post."

- (1). Archibald Kenrick, born 14th August 1875, and now living unmarried at Fountain Road, Edgbaston.
- (2). Hugh Kenrick, born 21st September 1877, now living unmarried at Salisbury.
- (1). Bertha Kenrick, born 14th April 1870, and died unmarried in 1899.
- (2). Sylvia Kenrick, born 26th May 1871, and now living unmarried at Fountain Road, Edgbaston.
- (3). Adelaide Kenrick, born 16th April 1872, and now living unmarried at Bournemouth.
- (4). Dorothea Kenrick, born 17th August 1873, and now living unmarried at Bournemouth.
- (5). Maria Kenrick, born 11th October 1879, and now living unmarried at Bournemouth.
- (6). Emily Kenrick, born 21st October 1881, and now living unmarried at Bournemouth.
2. Hubert Kenrick, born 27th May 1843, and died unmarried 10th November 1865.
3. George Hamilton Kenrick, born 13th January 1850, now living unmarried at Whetstone, Edgbaston. Mr. Kenrick was educated at a private school at Brighton, and subsequently at London University School. He joined the family firm, but residing at Birmingham, was on 16th December 1880 co-opted a Member of the Birmingham School Board, in place of Dr. R. W. Dale, who retired. Mr. Kenrick became Vice-Chairman of the School Board on 30th May 1906, and in 1907 was again elected Vice-Chairman for a period of three years. In 1902, on the abolition of School Boards, he was elected to the Birmingham City Council. On the 6th April 1903, he became Chairman of the Education Committee of the Council, and in November 1908 was elected Lord Mayor of Birmingham.

1. Emily Kenrick, born 15th July 1838. She married, on the 8th of May 1860, Thomas Martineau,⁹⁰ an eminent Solicitor

⁹⁰ The Martineau family was founded in England by Gaston Martineau, of Bergerac in Perigord, who came over about the time of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, and was naturalised in 1688. He is called in the official document son of Elie and Margaret Martineau of Bergerac, and the "Dossier Martineau" in the National Library of Paris traces the descent of this Elie through four (but it should probably be five) generations from Romain Martineau who, about 1450, was a member of the French Noblesse, "Ecuyer," and "Seigneur de Romas," which lordship is on the borders of Saintonge and Poitou. These Martineaus generally bore for arms—Azure, three towers Argent, masoned Sable, but the English Martineaus have always used—probably under a misapprehension—Paly, counter-paly Or and Gules, on a fess of the second three roses Argent, the arms of the Touraine Martineaus. Gaston's grandson David was the father of four sons, ancestors of as many families of Martineau. Thomas, the youngest of the four, was the father of Harriet Martineau, the celebrated authoress, James Martineau, D.D., the noted Unitarian divine and philosopher, and Robert Martineau, father of the above-mentioned (Sir) Thomas Martineau. See "The Martineau Family," by David Martineau, privately printed, 1907, an admirable model of a family history.

of Birmingham, son of Robert Martineau, Mayor of Birmingham in 1816. Mr. Martineau served for many years (1876-1893) on the Town Council of Birmingham, of which city he was three times (1884-1887) Mayor; and in 1887 received the honour of Knighthood. He died 28th July 1893, and Lady Martineau 26th December 1899. They had issue:—

- (1). Ernest Martineau, born 1861, now living; a City Councillor of Birmingham and Lieut.-Colonel in the Sixth Battalion of the Royal Warwickshire Regiment. He married Margaret Kendrick, daughter of Walter and Margaret Kendrick, of Birmingham. They have issue, three children.
- (2). John Hubert Martineau, born 1867, died 1878.
- (1). Clara Martineau, born 1874.
2. Eliza Rebecca Kenrick, born 20th October 1839. She married 14th April 1863, Henry Follett Osler,⁹¹ of Burcot Grange, Bromsgrove, and dying 10th July 1903, left issue, one daughter, Jessie Follett Osler, born 1869.
3. Clara Maria Kenrick, born 17th January 1841. She died unmarried 17th May 1860.
4. Alice Kenrick, born 26th May 1845. She married, 7th August 1868, Charles Gabriel Beale,⁹² of Maple Bank, Edgbaston. Mr. Beale, who is a member of the well-known firm of Solicitors acting as legal advisers to the Midland Railway Company,

⁹¹ I have not a detailed pedigree of the Osler family, which is well known in Birmingham, where it was founded by Thomas Osler (1745-1825), of Bridgwater. He had issue, Thomas Osler (1783-1861), who married Fanny Follett, and had issue:—

- I. Abraham Follett Osler (1808-1903), married Mary Clarke, and had issue, Henry Follett Osler, now living, who married Eliza Rebecca Kenrick, as stated above.
- II. Thomas Clarkson Osler (1811-1876), married Amy Lewis Hornblower, and was father of Alfred Clarkson Osler, born 1846, who married Elizabeth Catherine Taylor, daughter of William Taylor, and niece of the late Peter Taylor, M.P. for Leicester. Mr. Alfred Osler, died in 1903, leaving two sons surviving; John Taylor Osler and Julian Alfred Osler.

⁹² This typically Warwickshire name has been in the county for centuries, chiefly in the south and in the district bordering on Leicestershire. I believe it is in one of George Eliot's novels—but I have mislaid the reference—that one of the characters lays it down that "Bales and Beales be all the same," and accordingly both are found sprinkled pretty plentifully throughout the "Register of the Guild of Knowle," which refers chiefly to the fourteenth century. In several generations of the Beales of Birmingham "Middlemore" appears as a Christian name, for which and other reasons I have no doubt that they are descended from Richard "Bale" of Nuneaton, who, according to the 1682 Visitation of Northamptonshire, married Dorothy, daughter of Richard Middlemore of Whitley juxta Coventry, afterwards of De la Pree, Northants. She was doubtless the Dorothy Beale who in her nuncupative will, dated 4th August 1664, being then a widow, mentions her son Charles and her daughter Elizabeth.

has been three times Lord Mayor of Birmingham (1897, 1898, 1899), and is Vice-Chancellor of Birmingham University. Mr. and Mrs. Beale have issue :—

- (1). Hubert Kenrick Beale, born 1869, married in 1903 Mabel Kenrick, second daughter of John Arthur Kenrick, of Edgbaston (see ante, p. 124). They have issue, two children.
 - (2). Edmund Phipson Beale, born 1870, married Annie Lucy Smith, daughter of Arthur Smith, of Edgbaston.
 - (1). Edith Mary Beale, born 1870, married George Slade. They have issue, four children.
 - (2). Norah Beale, born 1874, married in 1906 Wilfred Byng Kenrick, of Edgbaston, elder son of the Right Hon. William and Mrs. Kenrick (see ante, p. 125). They have issue, one daughter.
5. Florence Kenrick (twin with her sister Louisa), born 19th August 1847. She married, as his second wife,⁹³ Joseph Chamberlain (now the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, P.C., M.P., etc.), and died 14th February 1875. The issue of this marriage was as follows :—
- (1). Arthur Neville Chamberlain.
 - (1). Florence Ida Chamberlain.
 - (2). Caroline Hilda Chamberlain.
 - (3). Ethel Chamberlain, born 1873, married W. L. Richards, and died in 1903, leaving issue, one daughter.
6. Louisa Kenrick (twin with her sister Florence), born 20th August 1847. She married, 3rd June 1869, Arthur Chamberlain, son of Joseph Chamberlain, of Moor Green, near Birmingham, and younger brother of the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. She died 18th January 1892. The issue of this marriage was :—
- (1). Arthur Chamberlain, married Helen Jackson. They have issue, one child.
 - (2). John Chamberlain, married Hilda Poynting. They have issue, one child.
 - (1). Margaret Chamberlain. She married John Sutton Nettlefold, a City Councillor of Birmingham and J.P. for the County of Worcester, author of "Practical Housing." They have had issue, five children.
 - (2). Helen Chamberlain, married Gerald Beesley. They have issue, three children.

⁹³ Mr. Chamberlain's first wife was, as already stated (ante, p. 123), daughter of Mr. Archibald Kenrick the younger, and consequently the two wives were first cousins.

- (3). Katharine Chamberlain, married Nathaniel Bishop Harman. They have issue, two children.
- (4). Bertha Chamberlain, married Donald Hope. They have issue, two children.
- (5). Mary Chamberlain.
- (6). Ruth Chamberlain.
- (7). Charlotte Chamberlain.

I now give the three pedigrees called "A," "B" and "C," omitted for the sake of clearness from the account of the Kenricks of Wynn Hall, and concerning which I can add but little to the information given by the Family Pedigree.

PEDIGREE "A."

EDWARD KENRICK (son of Samuel, son of Edward⁹⁴) was born presumably about 1680, and was the eldest son. He was a Nonconformist minister of Bron-y-clydwr, near Towyn, Merionethshire, and died 3rd May 1741, being buried at Llanegryn on the 6th. He married . . . Owen, one of the two daughters⁹⁵ and coheirs of Hugh Owen, of Bron-y-clydwr. They had issue (together with a son, Samuel,⁹⁶ of whom I only know his name, and a daughter of whom it is only known that she was married) a son :—

JOHN KENRICK (son of Edward, son of Samuel, son of Edward). He is described⁹⁷ as "The Reverend John Kenrick, of The Green, Wrexham." In 1730-4, and afterwards, he was studying at Glasgow College.⁹⁸ He married first, . . . who died in 1731,⁹⁹ and second, . . . Owen, who died 24th January 1763. He died 6th January 1791, and was, I suppose, the John Kenrick buried on the 10th at the Chester Street Burial Ground, Wrexham, as "John Kenrick, of the parish of Wrexham, aged 80."¹⁰⁰ He had, by his second wife, the following issue :—

1. Edward Kenrick, born 20th June 1749 ; died in Jamaica, 1826-7.
2. John Kenrick, of Manchester, born 9th February 1753 ; married . . . Evans, of Bala, and had issue :—
 - (1). Hugh Kenrick.
 - (2). David Kenrick.

⁹⁴ See vol. xxiv, p. 171.

⁹⁵ This is Mr. Palmer's statement, the Family Pedigree says "only daughter."

⁹⁶ Ex inf. Mr. A. N. Palmer.

⁹⁷ Family Pedigree.

⁹⁸ Ex inf. Mr. A. N. Palmer.

⁹⁹ So states the Family Pedigree, but if the date is correct, he must have married very young, and been a widower when studying for the ministry.

¹⁰⁰ Mr. Palmer thinks this may have been another person, and moreover called "The Reverend;" but the coincidence of dates seems so exact as to practically prove the identification.

- (3). John Kenrick, of London, Solicitor.
- (4). Edward Kenrick.
- (5). William Kenrick.
- (1). Ann Kenrick, married Tomlinson, of Manchester, Solicitor.
- (2). Catherine Kenrick.
- (3). Mary Kenrick.

3. Hugh Kenrick, born 5th March 1754, and died 2nd April 1833. He married Sarah Willington, by whom he had three sons and five daughters, as follows:—

- (1). John Owen Kenrick, born 17th May 1796; married Mary Milne of Usk.
- (2). Hugh Edward Kenrick, born 10th September 1798. Died 1st February 1799.
- (3). Edward Kenrick, born 14th April 1801. Died 7th April 1815.
- (1). Anne Kenrick, born 15th May and died July 1786.
- (2). Mary Kenrick, born 3rd February 1788. Died February 1792.
- (3). Anne Kenrick, born 22nd November 1789.
- (4). Sarah Kenrick, born 13th March 1792.
- (5). Doreas Kenrick, born 27th April 1804; married in 1826, W. Gregory.

PEDIGREE "B."

SAMUEL KENRICK (son of Samuel, son of Edward) was born about 1685-1690, is mentioned in his father's will and was a dyer of Wrexham.¹⁰¹ He married Elizabeth Parkins,¹⁰² who was, perhaps, the "Elizabeth Kenrick, widow," buried as "Elizabeth Kenrick, Brookside, widow," at the Rhossdu Burying Ground, Wrexham, 25th May 1758. If so, he probably died between that date and 31st January 1755, when Elizabeth, whom I take to have been his son's daughter, was baptized¹⁰³ as "daughter of Samuel Kenrick, junr." He had, according to the Family Pedigree, the following issue¹⁰⁴:—

- 1. Samuel Kenrick, of whom below.
- 1. Elizabeth Kenrick, "baptized at Wrexham," 14th April 1704. Living 1712.¹⁰⁵

¹⁰¹ Mr. Palmer's information.

¹⁰² Family Pedigree.

¹⁰³ At the Presbyterian Chapel, Wrexham.

¹⁰⁴ He can hardly have been the father of the "William son of Samuel Kenrick" baptized at the Chapel 25th April 1747, or of "Margaret daughter of Samuel Kenrick" baptized there 16th July 1749.

¹⁰⁵ Family pedigree, probably on the authority of her grandfather's will: if so, my abstract is incomplete.

SAMUEL KENRICK (son of Samuel, son of Samuel, son of Edward). He, as we have seen,¹⁰⁶ was mentioned in the will of his grandfather. If he was father of William or Margaret, mentioned in note 104, he cannot have been the Samuel Kenrick, bachelor, of Wrexham, who married Hannah Parry, spinster, of Wrexham, on 10th November 1751.¹⁰⁷ He may have been the "Samuel Kenrick, dyer," whose burial on 29th February 1780 was registered at the Presbyterian Chapel. He may have had the following issue, but I cannot speak with certainty as there seems to have been a contemporary of the same names in the town¹⁰⁸ :—

1. William Kenrick, "son of Samuel Kenrick, dyer," buried 27th January 1759.¹⁰⁹
1. Elizabeth Kenrick, "daughter of Samuel Kenrick, junr.," baptized 31st January 1755.¹⁰⁹ Identical, I suppose, with "Elizabeth the daughter of Samuel Kenrick, dyer, and wife of Jonathan Perry," buried 22nd February 1782.¹⁰⁹
2. Martha Kenrick, "daughter of Samuel Kenrick, dyer, of Mold," baptized 15th March 1762.¹⁰⁹

PEDIGREE "C."

EDWARD KENRICK (son of the Rev. John, son of Samuel, son of Edward¹¹⁰) was born 20th September 1731, and was a Banker at Bewdley with his brother Samuel. He is mentioned in the will of his mother, and was one of her residuary legatees and executors. He died in 1779, having married Elizabeth Hassall, by whom he had the following issue—

1. John Kenrick, of whom below.
1. Sarah Kenrick, born 1772, died 1855. She married Henry Haywood, of Paddington.
2. Elizabeth Kenrick, born 1775, died 1820. She married William Kenrick, who was "of Berkshire," but of whom it is understood that he was no relation.

JOHN KENRICK (son of Edward) was born in 1769. He was of Birmingham, but died in Batavia. His wife's name is unknown, but they had issue :—

¹⁰⁶ See vol. xxiv, p. 172.

¹⁰⁷ Mr. Palmer, from the Parish Registers of Wrexham.

¹⁰⁸ See note 104 above. The will also of Daniel Kenrick of Wrexham, distiller, dated 25th Feb. 1747 and proved at Chester 20th May 1757, mentions among his four children, all apparently of full age, a son Samuel.

JOHN DE VERDUN.

In the course of an article on the Butlers in The Genealogist for October 1908, Mr. Hamilton Hall endeavours to prove that John de Verdun was not, as has hitherto been supposed, son of Theobald the Butler by Rohese de Verdun his wife, but son of Rohese by a previous unknown and unsuspected marriage. In support of this theory he quotes the letters close dated 4 Sep. 1225, by which Henry III gave his consent to the marriage of Theobald and Rohese, and points out that Rohese was succeeded by John de Verdun as her heir of full age, 3 May 1247. This was 21 years and 8 months after the date of the letters, and therefore proves nothing, even supposing which is a good deal to suppose—that John was 21 years old, and not a day less, on 3 May 1247.

Mr. Hall continues:—"He [John de Verdun] was also of full age by 14 May 1244; for on that date mandate issues that he and Margaret his wife shall have seisin of their as yet undivided moiety of the lands of her grandfather Walter de Lacy. It is therefore clear that he was born by May 1223 if no earlier." Now in an article on the family of De Lacy [Genealogist, N.S., vol. xxi], I cited this mandate of 1244, and also admitted that John de Verdun was son of Theobald the Butler. The letters of 4 Sep. 1225 mentioned above are not only in the printed Close Rolls and noticed by Lynch, but are also duly quoted by Dugdale in his Baronage. No one dealing with the subject could have possibly overlooked them. If therefore the order of May 1244 proves on the face of it what Mr. Hall assumes it to prove, it follows that I have been guilty of an inexcusable lapse.

But the fact is that this letter is merely evidence that the two ladies, Margaret and Matilda de Lacy, had each reached her age of 16, and affords no information at all concerning the ages of their respective husbands. Mr. Hall is unaware that the husband's age was altogether a matter of indifference in such a case. And that therefore any document giving to John de Verdun "by grace this seisin in his nonage" would be superfluous and impossible. There is no doubt whatever about this. Bracton is precise, and concise:—

"Si autem vir et uxor vel e contrario hereditatem et rem uxorem simul petant, quorum unus eorum sit infra ætatem, si vir plenæ ætatis fuerit et uxor infra, sive ante breve impetratum sive post contraxerint, remanebit loquela sine die usque ad ætatem uxoris quæ fuerit infra ætatem, et hoc si nupsit ante breve impetratum. Si autem post, cadit omnino breve si tenens voluerit, vel differtur actio usque ad ætatem uxoris de cujus jure agitur. Si vero maritus fuerit infra ætatem et uxor plenæ ætatis, non remanebit loquela propter minorem ætatem viri (ut supra) si contraxerint ante breve."

As to Mr. Hall's further objection that "one has not met . . . with mention of any dower of Roesia, save what she took by the precipitate mandates on the death of Theobald," there is an order on the Close Rolls concerning this dower, dated some fifteen months after Theobald's death. It of course possesses no genealogical significance whatever.

¹ There would seem to be two clerical errors in the documentary evidences relating to this family. (1) The entry in the Act of Naturalization gives us:—David Pratviel, son of Petr Malacare by Lydia Auriol also at Castres aforesaid. But the refugee's father is believed to have been Tristan Malacare. The M. de Malacare, who found his way to S. Carolina about the same time as John de Lagayé, belonged to a different family—that of de St. Julien. (2) The Church Register Books, four in number,—of the British "Factory" at Lisbon, now preserved in the Vicar-General's Office, from which the baptisms of David Pratviel's nine children have been obtained, give his bride as Mary Sendal. But there is abundant proof that her name was Sarah, and it has been altered accordingly. These books, invaluable as they are, are only transcripts, the "Factory" archives having been lost in 1808, when, on the entry of the French into Lisbon, it was thought advisable to send them for safety to England, and the ship which carried them foundered in a storm in the Bay of Biscay.

² These were David, bap. 5 April 1729; Peter, bap. 27 July 1732; Frances, bap. 7 Jan. 1734; Elizabeth, bap. 28 Nov. 1734; and Isaac, bap. 4 Feb. 1737.

THE SCOTS PEERAGE. Edited by Sir James Balfour Paul, LL.D., Lord Lyon King of Arms. Volume v. Edinburgh (David Douglas).

Nearly all the pedigrees in this fifth volume of the Scots Peerage commence in feudal times, and some of them at an almost pre-historic period, so that the contributors have had a by no means easy task. It will be very generally agreed that they have for the most part acquitted themselves with marked ability and success.

The Rev. A. J. Macdonald in his article on the Lords of the Isles has had to deal with one of the most difficult of Celtic genealogies, and he has greatly improved on the historical account of the Macdonalds contained in Wood's Douglas, showing among other alterations that Sir Walter Scott's hero, Angus Og, was brother, not son, of Alexander the preceding Lord of the Isles. In one instance Mr. Macdonald has been less cautious than Wood, for he admits the descent of the Alexanders, Earls of Caledon, from a brother of Angus Mor, which we do not remember to have seen satisfactorily made out.

The Rev. John Anderson, whose work is always remarkable for accuracy and industrious research, contributes to this volume articles on the Celtic Earls of Lennox and the ancient Earls of Mar. In the case of the former he has discarded the Saxon origin suggested by Crawford and since adopted both by Douglas and Sir William Fraser, in favour of the view taken by Dr. Skene in his Celtic Scotland, which considers Alwin, who was Earl of Lennox between 1154 and 1185, as descended from Celtic forefathers, who had probably long been Mormaors of the territory afterwards known as Lennox. Coming to later times, Mr. Anderson gives the true descent of Walter of Faslane, husband of the heiress of the ancient Earls, and shows him to have been next heir male of the line.

The article upon the feudal Earls of Mar closely follows that by the late Dr. George Burnett, Lyon King of Arms, in the fourth volume of the new series of this Magazine, though with some changes and corrections; the somewhat mysterious Countess Orabilis, for instance, is made wife of Earl Gilchrist and not of his predecessor Morgund. In his commendable anxiety to avoid re-opening the thorny discussion as to the existence of the ancient Earldom, Mr. Anderson has, perhaps, rendered it a little difficult for posterity to comprehend the questions at issue between the parties to the controversy, which ended in one of the most extraordinary Acts of Parliament which has ever been placed upon the Statute Book—the Mar Restitution Act of 1885. It may be noted in passing that in this article on p. 629, Mary Erskine, Countess of Kintore, is said to have died 19 February 1772, while on p. 241, under “Kintore,” the date of her death is given as 9 May of the same year.

We have unfortunately no space to consider the many other valuable articles in this volume, but may signal out for notice those on the Stewarts, Dukes of Lennox, and the Boyds, Earls of Kilmarnock, both of which are especially interesting and most carefully written.

MEMORIAL RINGS, CHARLES THE SECOND TO WILLIAM THE FOURTH, IN THE POSSESSION OF FREDERICK ARTHUR CRISP. (Privately printed.)

The collection, of which this substantial volume is a catalogue with explanatory notes, is probably the largest of its kind in existence, numbering over one thousand rings in memory of the departed. Mr. Bower Marsh's introduction gives to the subject of these sad mementoes an interest we hardly expected to find. He divides them into four divisions, the first covering the period from the date of the earliest inscribed ring to the reign of Queen Anne, the second from that time to about 1775, the third as comprehending the following twenty-five years, and the last as embracing the nineteenth century. The mourning ring of old days is said to have developed after the execution of King Charles into the memorial ring, and there exist some to that unfortunate monarch's memory bearing the legend, Emigravit Gloria Angli: Ja: the 30 1648. It is somewhat remarkable that this large collection should consist entirely of gold rings, many enamelled and jewelled, with the exception of but two, which are of silver, one to commemorate the death of George I, the other in memory of the Poet Gay. The earliest is dated 1653, the latest 1835, and the list of names includes many royalties, heroes, celebrities and unknown individuals, one of the last having the strange surname Madfaces. Armorial bearings seem to have been but rarely represented, and we note only one and that on a ring inscribed M.B. ob. 25 Aug. 1720 æta 47. The arms are undoubtedly those of Basset, and it should be possible to discover to whose memory it relates. There are numerous other rings commemorating the deaths of persons as yet unidentified, but those that have been accounted for constitute a high percentage, and the notes given in most cases consist of much valuable genealogical matter. Sometimes these notes show a discrepancy between the actual and the inscribed date of death. There are several instances of a testator leaving a list of the persons he desired should receive memorial rings, of which two occurring on pages 119 and 273 are noteworthy. Of the inscriptions, perhaps the most curious is to be found on number 909, which runs as follows:—John Napier of Merchiston Inventor of Logarithms died 1617. Mary Napier Dun his 4th great grand Daughter died 1798, showing a period of over 180 years for four generations. There are many known instances of a similar nature, and some still more remarkable. The late Captain Francis Maude, R.N. (son of Lord Hawarden), who died in 1886, occasionally referred to the fact that his grandfather was born in the reign of Charles II. In regard to the printing, paper and cover of this handsome volume, it is sufficient to say that it issues from Mr. Crisp's private press and is as charming in appearance as the best of his numerous publications.

BALL FAMILY RECORDS. GENEALOGICAL MEMOIRS OF SOME BALL FAMILIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, IRELAND AND AMERICA. Compiled by the Rev. William Ball Wright, M.A. Second Edition, Enlarged and Revised. York (Printed for the Author by the Yorkshire Printing Co. Ltd.).

Though "Great Britain, Ireland and America" appear upon the title page, this book in fact relates almost exclusively to Irish families, only one entirely English, two American, and no Scottish pedigree being contained within its covers. The Irish records have been very carefully investigated, and in a few instances researches have been made in England, with a view to tracing earlier descents; the often disheartening result being in no way due to the author, who may be congratulated upon having produced a work of permanent value and interest. Among the Irish families whose genealogies are given are:—

(1) The Balls of St. Audoen's, Dublin, Ballygall and Ballsgrove, Drogheda, members of which family were leading Aldermen, Sheriffs and Mayors of Dublin during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. They acquired some interesting connections, including a relationship to Archbishop Ussher, whose portrait in the Bodleian Library has been here reproduced, and a descent from the Huguenot family of Desminieres of Rouen. Of this line was Captain George Ball of Ballsgrove, who served in the 59th Regiment at Bunker's Hill, and his portrait is among the many illustrations to this work.

(2) The Balls of co. Fermanagh and of Dublin, who curiously, though not related to the Balls of Ballsgrove, also possessed a Desminieres descent, by intermarriage with the family of Blackall. A descendant, Captain Blackall William Ball, son of an emigrant to Pennsylvania, was a prominent officer in the American revolution.

(3) The Balls of Bampton, co. Devon and Youghal, co. Cork, ancestors of Sir Robert Stawell Ball, Lowndes Professor of Astronomy at Cambridge.

(4) The Balls of St. Mary's parish, Dublin, from which stock came the late Right Hon. John Thomas Ball, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, one of the most distinguished of Irish judges, of whom a graceful notice appears on pp. 144-147.

The concluding chapters are devoted to the consideration of the Balls of Virginia, maternal ancestors of George Washington. Though it cannot be said that a substantial addition is made here to what has long been familiar to genealogists, the pedigree and accompanying notes are welcome. The Appendix contains some valuable transcripts of Irish records and a pedigree of the Desminieres. The Index of names is unfortunately far from complete.

PEDIGREE OF THE COCHRANES OF COCHRANE, LORD COCHRANE OF DUNDONALD; EARLS OF DUNDONALD, LORDS COCHRANE OF PAISLEY AND OCHILTREE, WITH A FEW DETAILS OF THE BRANCHES OF PITFOUR, LEE AND ASCOKE, BARBACHLAW, FERGUSLIE, OCHILTREE, WATERSIDE, KILMARONACH, CRAIGMURE AND ASHKIRK. 1908. (Sold by Bernard Quaritch.)

For upwards of twenty years Mrs. Katherine Parker has been working on the genealogy of the Cochrane family, and in 1906 contributed to the third volume of the Scots Peerage an able and detailed account of the Cochranes, Earls of Dundonald. In the present chart pedigree she embodies the essential facts and dates contained in that article with several additions, chiefly to the descents of the Cochranes of Pitfour, Barbachlaw and Ashkirk, which are much enlarged. An important correction or alteration is made in the early part of the pedigree owing to the discovery, since the publication of the Dundonald article, of a valuable inventory of writs. John of Cochrane, who was living temp. James II, the successor and probable son of Robert, now appears as brother and not as suggested father of Alan of Cochrane, the progenitor of the Cochranes of that ilk. A simple coloured representation of Lord Dundonald's achievement gives a finish to this excellent chart, which is printed on linen and folded in a stiff cloth cover. The Rev. John Anderson, Curator of the Historical Department, Edinburgh, has revised the work, thus adding valuable testimony to its accuracy.

WILTSHIRE NOTES AND QUERIES. AN ILLUSTRATED QUARTERLY ANTIQUARIAN AND GENEALOGICAL MAGAZINE. Vol. v. 1905-1907. Devizes (George Simpson); London (Phillimore & Co.), 1908.

There is always much that is interesting and, better still, much that is worth remembering in the triennial volume of "Wiltshire Notes and Queries," which maintains its reputation as one of the best of local archaeological periodicals. Miss E. M. Thompson continues her notes on Erchfont with Stert, which consist entirely of carefully selected extracts from public records. Mr. Fry's Calendar of Feet of Fines for the County is carried to Michaelmas Term, 9-10 Elizabeth, and Mr. Norman Penney also continues his valuable Quaker Records. The Rev. Edmund Nevill contributes the Chrysom Book of St. Thomas, New Sarum, 1569-1592, and this of itself is sufficient to recommend the volume to the notice of antiquaries, for, as Mr. Nevill says, it is almost unique to find a Chrysom Book pure and simple. Other interesting articles are those on the families of Eyre of Wilts and Stokes of Seend, "Lacock Abbey," and "Wilton House and its Literary Associations." The volume is profusely illustrated, and the Index of Places, as it always is in this Magazine, has been compiled with great care, considerable pains having been taken to give the modern equivalent of archaic place names.

WILLS, REGISTERS AND MONUMENTAL INSCRIPTIONS OF THE PARISH OF BARWICK-IN-ELMET, CO. YORK. Edited by George Denison Lumb, F.S.A. (Printed for the subscribers by Knight & Forster, Water Lane, Leeds.)

It is pleasing to be able to bear testimony to the careful way in which these important Registers have been transcribed and edited. Mr. Lumb sets an example, which we hope may be widely followed, of printing Wills, Monumental Inscriptions in Church and Churchyard, and Bishop's Transcripts, together with the Parochial Registers. The Registers of Barwick-in-Elmet do not commence until 1653, so that the transcripts at York previous to that date are of more than ordinary value; they are for the period 1631-1642 unusually complete. No less than ninety-four wills, most of them proved in the Exchequer and Prerogative Court of the Archbishop of York, have been printed in extenso, the earliest in date being that of William Canon, Rector of Barwick, 1404-1420. Among the most prominent families in the parish in early times were those of Gascoigne of Lasingcroft, Barnbow and Parlington, and Ellis of Kiddall. There are also entries relating to many gentle families, as Bathurst, Cooke, Engleby or Ingleby, Hallowes, Lumb, More, Perrot and Tempest. The editor has added footnotes containing much interesting information and there are several notices of Church Briefs, one of them in 1694 being for the relief of poor Protestants who came from France.

KERRY ARCHEOLOGICAL MAGAZINE. No. i. October, 1908.

This is a new venture, to which we wish every success. The most important contribution to the opening number is the first instalment of an article on Castle Magné, or Castlemaine, by the Rev. J.

Carmody, who inclines to the view that this ancient fortress standing on the bridge which spans the river Maine, was built by Maurice Fitzgerald about 1215. Mr. Pierce Gun Mahony, Cork Herald, gives a pedigree of the Mahonys of Knockavony, with a request for further information. The Editor of the new Magazine is Miss Charlotte Hussey, Aghadoe House, Killarney. A portrait of the Earl of Kenmare, President of the recently inaugurated Kerry Archeological Association, appears as a frontispiece.

Notes and Queries.

HALLEY, HAWLEY, WHALLEY FAMILIES.—Since the publication of my article on the Halley family in The Genealogist for July, 1908 (N.S., vol. xxv, pp. 5-14), the remarks following have been made by Richard H. Thornton, Esq., of London:—

“I incline to think that Halley, Whalley and Hawley are variants of one name, and that wh and h are sometimes equivalent: living examples being found in who, whole, etc.: and obsolete ones in whot for hot, whome for home, etc. (see Aldis Wright’s ‘Bible Word-book’). Also the surname Hipple became Whipple and whist and hist are equivalent.

“I used to pronounce Halley with a short ă, having probably picked up that use when a child; but I suppose it should be like Hawley.”

It might be added that Lower says of the English surname Halley, that it is local but he cannot name the place. The coats armorial of the families of Whalley do not seem to have any resemblance to those of Halley or Hawley.

Mr. Ralph J. Beevor, M.A., of St. Albans, who recently visited the registry at Lichfield, has favoured me with an extensive list of Halley and Hawley wills and administrations recorded there. The names Halley and Hawley appear to have been interchangeable. Among the most interesting items is the administration of Humphrey and Margaret Halley (July 1, 1597) of Cheddleton in Staffordshire (reg., fo. 190 b). The will of Margerie Halley, of Nether Teane, widow, dated Feb. 17, 1629, proved May 24, 1630, says: “to be buried at Checkley,” and among others mentions her son Edmond. The will of her husband, John Hawley, dated March 12, 1606, was proved April 7, 1607.

WILLIAM FERRERS OF TAPLOW.—Arms recorded in the Visitation of London, 1633-4—Gold, on a bend Sable three horseshoes Silver. These are the arms of the Devonshire Ferrers. Memorials in Bere Ferrers Church, Feniton Church and Bradley Woods, and also recorded in Lysons' "Devonshire." Taplow was Church land until it was surrendered into the King's hands in 1538; so William Ferrers would appear to have been at Taplow in the King's service. According to Stow (London—Farrington Without) in 1539 Thomas Ferrers was Sheriff. John Ferrers of Churston Ferrers (Patent Roll, xvii, 1389), had a younger son, Thomas of North Abynton, who died 1453 (will and I.P.M.), having had a son Henry; two of whose sons, Martin of Holborn (will 1503), and William of London (Patent Roll, xx), settled in London. William Ferrers of Taplow's descendants are continued in the Visitation of Berkshire 1663-4.

HASSAL, LONGSDON, MILWARD AND JACKSON FAMILIES.—I should be greatly obliged if any readers of The Genealogist would kindly give me the following details:—

(1). My ancestor Thomas Beresford of Newton Grange, co. Derby, married Agnes, daughter and heir of Robert Hassal of Arclid, co. Chester. As I am descended from this union in a double line (through both the Gell and Ferne families), I am anxious to know details of the ancestry of this Agnes Hassal.

(2). The ancestry of Agnes, daughter of John Longsdon of Longsdon, co. Derby, who married Hugh Beresford of Newton Grange, co. Derby (will proved 1524).

(3). The ancestry of Felicia, daughter of Robert Milward of Eaton, who married John Ferne of Parwich.

(4). The ancestry of Ann, daughter of Roger Jackson of Ashburn, who married John Ferne of Crakemarsh. (Vide The Genealogist, O.S., vol. iv, p. 22.)

I would ask for details of their ancestry, and not for mere general information concerning their family.

FRANCES, DAUGHTER OF LORD SEYMOUR OF TROWBRIDGE.—May I crave space to correct an error in Burke's Peerage? It is one connected with the second Lord Seymour of Trowbridge. Burke (ed. 1907), says that Frances was his youngest daughter. The following autograph letter shews that she was not.

Salisbury Diocesan Registry. Bundle 3. Bishops Bonds 1663-4. "I hereby consent that Sir George Hungerford, Kt. and Barronet, shall enter-marriage with Frances my eldest daughter, and therefore desire the Lord Bishop of Sarum his surrogate Register, or other official to grant Lyeence for the consummation thereof accordingly witness my hand and seale. C. Seymour. 28 Mar. 1664." (Underneath in fainter ink, Liña 30 Mar. 1665.)

Why also does Burke call the first Baron "Lord Seymour of Trowbridge," the second "Lord Trowbridge" only?

THE PARENTAGE OF SIR WILLIAM WHEELER, KNIGHT AND BARONET.

Twenty-three years ago readers of The Genealogist were introduced to a "comely Old Gentleman wth a round plump face, a rudy cheerfull countenance adorned wth curled grey hair,"¹ Sir William Wheeler, of Westminster, Knight and Baronet, the first holder of a title in which he has had twelve successors. There are, however, other reasons that make Sir William an object of interest than the Baronetcy conferred on him in the early days of the Restoration. A prominent figure in the financial world, he was useful in turn to King and Commonwealth, to Protector and those that worked for the Restoration, and once more to King safely restored. His tomb at Derby bears witness² to his claim to have received the honour of knighthood from "the Royal Martyr," but in his life as he lived it was the Protector's sword at Hampton Court that first made him "Sir William." The State Papers of the Long Parliament, of which he was a member long after the Royalist secession, are evidence of his work as Parliamentary Paymaster, and Eichel records the often repeated story of the mysterious summons he received to his sovereign's presence in the very shadow of the scaffold, while Pepys himself has noted his long conference with Montague on board the "Swiftsure," when the King was about to come into his own again.

The public life of Sir William is of interest to the historian, and I believe his private life (of which Sir George Wheeler and Pepys have given us glimpses) to be also of interest, but my present purpose is more modestly concerned only with genealogy. Six years after he had been created a Baronet, Sir William died at Derby without surviving issue and without a father; that is, not only without a living father, hardly to be expected at his age, but without even the record of one that had lived. His "cousin" and successor, Sir Charles Wheeler,³ entered the family pedigree in the Visitation of Warwickshire, taken in 1682, and put on record six generations of Wheelers, but gives no hint of the parentage of the first baronet. It has been suggested that such an omission was intentional, and due to the fact that Sir William had annulled a former will by which his successor would have greatly benefited, as had been agreed, when the "cousins," as it were hand in hand, approached the fountain of honour. I do not think this was the case. Sir Charles does not point out the particular place in the family tree that his predecessor should occupy simply because he did not know it. The account of the family he gives in 1682 is only a continuation of that given in 1638,⁴ fuller but otherwise identical with that of the Visitation of London, 1634; indeed, such information as the family possessed was imparted freely to Wotton and is embodied in his opening sentence on the Wheelers: "This family having long been of knightly degree was advanced to the dignity of a baronet in the person of Sir William Wheeler of Westminster, Knt."⁵ Le Neve, in his MS. "Baronetage," volunteers the further information that Sir William was a "fourth son born in Holland,"⁶ but at this interesting point his inspiration ceases, and the name of the father is withheld, and for more than a hundred years the first Baronet is the child of his works as self-made and fatherless as any hero of the late Samuel Smiles; indeed, Burke, in his annual volumes, did not furnish him with a father till late in the last century. To the best of my knowledge this kind office was first undertaken by Betham, who describes him as the eldest son of John Wheeler, of London, goldsmith, by Martha, his wife, daughter of Robert Kerrick⁷ (sic), and first cousin of Sir Charles Wheeler. This discovery did not find favour with Burke, and at length he announced a rival father in the person of Sir Edmund Wheeler, of Datchet, great-uncle of Sir Charles. The late Mr. Foster adopted this reading in his "Baronetage," but thought there was much to be said for the other; and Sir Edmund retained the favour of Burke till last year (1908) when he was withdrawn in favour of John. It is only necessary to briefly state here that William Wheeler, the fourth son and heir of Sir Edmund, married Jane, daughter of Sir Edward Wardour, and died in April 1649, leaving one son, William (who seems to have been of weak intellect), and seven daughters.

John Wheeler, the husband of Martha Herrick, has triumphed over Sir Edmund, and has moreover obtained the powerful support of "G.E.C." in the "Complete Baronetage,"⁸ where, however, some of the difficulties of the attribution are fully admitted. It is acknowledged that to these parents a son William could not have been born before 1610, and so the "comely old gentleman" was barely over fifty when young George Wheeler saw him, and his tomb at Derby overstates his age by ten years. John and Martha Wheeler were married 6th October 1606, and a year later the baptism of their son John is recorded in the Martin Husingtree Registers, and is followed by those of Mary, George, Martha, Susannah and Elizabeth (although only the three last baptisms as taking place in that parish), and the burial of the youngest child, Elizabeth, 16th April 1618; the names of the other five children are all found in the will of their father, John Wheeler, dated 1 April 1620.⁹ The final argument given in support of this theory is a very valuable piece of evidence, the extract quoted from the burial register of Allhallows, Staining, under the date, 22nd May 1663: "Anne Winne, widow of Tobyah Winne of London, Haberdasher, da. of John Wheeler, Esq., and sister to Sir William Wheeler, Knt. and Baronet."¹⁰ by which Sir William is at last on evidence that cannot be gainsaid, provided with a father and sister. But if that father was the husband of Martha we have to admit of another child, Anne, whose name is equally wanting in the Martin Register and John Wheeler's will; and again, the allegation for Anne Wheeler's marriage licence is as follows: "Tobias Wynne of St. Christopher-le-Stocks, London, haberdasher, bachelor, and Anne Wheeler, of St. Mildred's-in-the-Poultry, London, spinster, daughter of John Wheeler, gent., deceased, at St. Michael, Queenhithe, London,"¹¹ and is dated 25 September 1619; and so the father of Sir William was dead in September 1619, but the husband of Martha Herrick did not make his will till April 1620.

At this point I propose to leave the Baronetages and give as briefly as possible my own account of the family of Sir William. His grandfather was Henry Wheeler, of St. Mary Magdalen, Milk Street, London, Citizen and Grocer, and buried in his parish church, 20th February 1564/5; by his wife, Agnes, who proved his will¹² 9th March following, he was the father of four children, all baptized at St. Mary Magdalen's, between the years 1558 and 1564, of whom the three younger, John, Henry and Nicholas, survived him. In the November following his death, Agnes Wheeler re-married with Thomas Elliott, also of St. Mary Magdalen's, Citizen and Draper; there were two daughters of this second marriage, and their descendants are constantly named in the wills of the Wheeler family. Their mother was again a widow in September 1589, and at her death was buried beside her two husbands in St. Mary Magdalen's, 28th October 1612. Two sons are mentioned in her will,¹³ the youngest, Nicholas, Citizen and Draper, who was her executor, and the eldest John, Citizen and Grocer, then residing at Middelburgh beyond the seas.

The third son, Henry Wheeler, "of St. Lawrence Jewry, gentleman," had died without issue in his mother's lifetime, and was buried at St. Lawrence, 22nd July 1598, leaving a widow, Margaret, who proved his will¹⁴ 24th July 1598.

Nicholas Wheeler was the last of the brothers to marry; he survived his wife, Sarah Burdenfield, the widow of John Hampton, Citizen and Haberdasher, by some fifteen months, and was buried in St. Mary Magdalen's, 4th December 1619. His will is of such importance to this account that I give a brief abstract of it:—

"Nicholas Wheeler, Citizen and Draper of London, to be buried in St. Mary Magdalen, Milk St., where lieth buried my father Mr Henry Wheeler, my father-in-law Mr Thomas Elliot, Draper, Agnes Elliot, my mother, wife and relict of them both, and now lately, 5 September 1618, was my loving wife, Sarah Wheeler there also interred—the five children of my brother John Wheeler by his first wife, William, Elizabeth, Anne, Mary and Cicely—to my son Henry my houses in Milk Street and in Aldgate and in St. Katharine Cree—my daughter Susan Wheeler—my uncle Matthew Garret—the three other children of my brother John Wheeler by his second wife and his widow now resident at Dort in Holland—kinsman Thomas Harrison—Mary, daughter of John Hampton and Sarah my deceased wife—Aunt Marcus and cousin Coulte—to the maiden children of Christ's Hospital to buy wigges and figges for fower yeares in Lent fower nobles—the four youngest children of my uncle Mr. John de Creets—cousin Ruddier—godson Mark Garret—the first wife of my brother John was Mrs. Anne Ingeltr, daughter of Mr. Harvey, of Richmond." Dated 28th January 1618/9. Pd. 14th December 1619 by James Rudyard, one of the executors. (P.C.C. 113, Parker.)

His daughter, Susan Wheeler, died unmarried, 13th December 1624, and her brother Henry was found¹⁵ her heir. He was born 4th June 1616, matriculated from Queen's College, Oxford, in November 1631, and was admitted to the Middle Temple in 1633; he died abroad 17th February 1638/9, and at the Inquisition¹⁶ taken 23 March following, William Wheeler, Esq., was found his kinsman and next heir, being the son of John Wheeler, Esq., deceased, brother of Nicholas Wheeler, Esq., deceased, father of the said Henry, and was then aged 30 years and more.

His cousin, "William Wheeler, of Westminster, Esquire," was the residuary legatee and sole executor named in his will,¹⁷ dated 14th November 1636; he desired to be buried in Milk Street, by the side of his father and mother, left a legacy to Queen's College, Oxford, "where I was once a member," and mentions in addition, the four sisters of my cousin, William Wheeler—"my cousin Wheeler's brother-in-law's child at nurse in 1634 at the coblers"—cousin Wheeler's wife—Mr. Cole and Mrs. Cole—my kinsman "Mr. John Wheeler the marchant," and other relations but no other Wheelers.

Thus by the year 1640, the only living descendants of Henry Wheeler who died in February 1561/5, were through his eldest son, John, who was baptized at St. Mary Magdalen's, 17th March 1559/60. John Wheeler, as has been seen in the will of his brother, was twice married, and left children by each marriage; he was a merchant and seems to have lived more in Holland than in London, where, however, he probably died on the day that he made his will,¹⁸ 11th November 1617, in which he described himself simply as "Citizen and Grocer," mentioned his wife, Sarah,¹⁹ and entrusted all his children, whom he did not name, to the care of his brother Nicholas. In the Act Book²⁰ he is described as of All Hallows, Staining, and was probably buried there. Left a widow with three young children, Sarah Wheeler took as her second husband, Lawrence Goffe, of St. Peter's, Cornhill, Citizen and Draper, and as his wife was buried in St. Peter's, 8th March 1642/3. A petition in Chancery,²¹ dated 1st May 1646, records a complaint of "John Wheeler, Agnes Wheeler and Clara Wheeler, children of Sarah Goff, deceased, by her former husband, John Wheeler, and Sarah Goff, daughter of the said Sarah by Laurence Goff "as to the administration of their inheritance from their mother by the trustees, William Wheeler, Esq., and Francis, brother of Lawrence Goff. Of John Wheeler here named I know nothing further; he is not mentioned in the will²² of his step-father, dated 13th April 1652, in which his sisters are referred to as Mistress Moone and Mistress Vandervelde.

The first wife of John Wheeler, the father, was Anne, daughter of Henry Hervey, of Chessington, co. Surrey, sister of Sir William Hervey, created in succession a Baronet, Baron Hervey of Rosse in the peerage of Ireland, and Baron Hervey of Kidbrooke in that of England, whose only surviving daughter, Elizabeth, married her cousin, John Hervey of Ickworth. Anne Hervey's first husband we have already seen was named Ingelar, and her son, William Ingelar, is mentioned in the will²³ of his uncle, Lord Hervey, 16th December 1637. We are indebted again to Nicholas Wheeler for the names of her five children by her second husband, John Wheeler: William, Elizabeth, Ann, Mary and Cicely. The eldest daughter, Elizabeth, married Simon Aston, of St. Peter's, Westcheap, Citizen and Grocer, who entered his pedigree in the Visitation of London of 1634,²⁴ and dying in August 1638 left his wife, Elizabeth, executrix, and his brother, William Wheeler, Esq., overseer of his will.²⁵ Ann Wheeler, as has been seen, married in September 1619, Tobias Wynne, and was buried in All Hallows Staining, where it is probable her father had been buried. Mary Wheeler I identify with Mary Ainsworth (or Eensworth), who died a widow in 1681, naming in her will²⁶ her daughters, Mary and Anne, and a grand-daughter, Wise. Cicely Wheeler, the youngest of the four sisters, was living in November 1636, when her cousin Henry made his will, but I have not been able to trace her further.

In this same cousin's will, their only brother, William Wheeler, is already "of Westminster" and "Esquire," and is the first of his family to be so described, though his father seems through him to have reached this distinction after death, as has been seen in the Inquisition taken after this cousin's death. Like his half-brother, William Ingelar, he is mentioned in the will of his uncle, Lord Hervey, and is also possibly the William Wheeler that witnessed the will. The further identification of this William Wheeler, whose parentage I have sketched, with Sir William, of Westminster, first Baronet, is best shown by the latter's will, of which I give a somewhat detailed abstract:—

Mary Oldfield & the rest of my servants. Witnesses, Henry West, Ax^r. Prior, Humfrey Stickland. Dated 20 June 1665. Proved by sentence 6th July 1667, by Dame Elizabeth Wheeler. (P.C.C. 96, Carr.)

Of the litigation to which this will gave rise, Sir George Wheeler has told us much; but the second Baronet was not alone in considering himself aggrieved by its terms. The Caveat Book of the Prerogative Court for the year 1666 contains four caveats against this will. Mary Eensworth, sister, was the first in the field on 17th August, and is followed three days later by John Winne, nephew "by sister," and it is evident that it was for no want of relations that Sir William adopted as his heir George Wheeler.

Sir George Wheeler has explained in his Autobiography that his father, Charles Wheeler of Charing, never at any time claimed relationship with their benefactor; that the name was the same seems to have contented the testator and he does not even require his heirs to change their arms. Relationship with his successor in the title is stated in the Patent, but neither in the account of Sir William's family as here given or in a somewhat close examination of that of the second baronet have I been able to find any clue as to its nature.

BOWER MARSH.

NOTES ON KENRICK FAMILIES.

By W. F. CARTER.

6. THE KENRICKS OF MARCHWIAL.

Marchwiel is a village about three miles south-east of Wrexham, in the direction of Whitechurch, and is part of the great lordship of Bromfield. It would appear from the pedigree given below that a certain Llewelin, who is described as an illegitimate son of Madoc Voel, was of Marchwiel about the time of Edward III; by which I suppose we are to understand that he was lord of the manor and owner of the demesne attached to the Hall. His wife is called a daughter of Madoc ap Lluwelin ap Griffith,¹¹¹ but whether he was lord of Marchwiel in her right or received it from his father I cannot say.

The authority for Llewelin's ancestors and descendants seems to be Harleian MS., No. 4181, which is a volume of Welsh pedigrees, "presented to my Lord Oxford by Mr. Hugh Thomas." This pedigree as given on the following pages appears chiefly on pages 308 and 309 of the MS., but Robert ap Howel and Elen his wife, and their children, are given on page 326. For the sake of convenience, I have divided the pedigree into two parts, of which the second consists largely of Mr. A. N. Palmer's additions. I am greatly indebted to the kindness of the Editor of The Genealogist for comparing my copy with the original. The pedigree is headed by these Arms:—A lion rampant in a bordure, and Crest:—On a cap turned up Ermine, a demi-lion rampant.

¹¹¹ This seems to mean that her father, Madoc, was son of Llewelyn ap Gruffyd ap Madog ap Gruffyd Maelor, which Llewelyn, known as of Chirkland, was dispossessed of his lands for joining in Prince Llewelyn's rebellion of 1280, but (on the death of his young nephews in 1282) became the rightful (Welsh) Lord of Bromfield, as heir of Gruffyd Maelor. But Mr. Palmer considers that by the time it gets back to Madoc Voel the "Marchwial" pedigree is "very mythical."

[In the following part of the ~~Journal~~, the additions in italics have been made by Mr. Palmer, who has examined the title deeds of the Marchwood estate.

113 The pedigree in "The History of Powys Fadog," vol. ii, page 582, calls him "Robert ab Jowerth ab Howel of Llwyn On in the Manor of Abvabury. Arms:—Ermine a lion rampant Sable," but quotes (I believe) no authority for the additions.

¹¹⁶ A district partly in Marchwiel.
¹¹⁷ The pedigree in "The History of Powys Fadog," vol. ii, page 382, calls him Edward Erlvs 1540 ab John Erlvs of Erlvs. See Note 112, in Part I.

118 He appears in the "Powys Fador" pedigree referred to above, but on what authority he is there added, I do not know.
119 He had no issue by her. He died 1623. See his Funeral Certificate "Misc. Gen. and Her." third Series, i. 176.
120 The will of a Kenrick Edisbury was proved in 1638 (P.C.C. 122, Lec) as "of Chatham."

A little calculation will show that the eleven generations between Tudor Trevor, who flourished about A.D. 880 to 948, and David of 17 Richard II (1393-4) are too few, while the four generations between this David and John Kenrick, living in 1627, also seem insufficient. Comparison with other versions of the early part of the pedigree might reduce the discrepancies, but a more valuable work (which I do not propose to undertake) would be to see how far the pedigree can be supported by charters and by evidence in the Public Records.

It will be seen that there was another Cynrig or Kenrick of the same generation as Kenrick Roberts, who might be the ancestor of descendants using "Kenrick" as a surname, but Mr. Palmer knows of no such descendants, while after thoroughly examining the Marchwiel deeds he finds it evident that Kenrick Roberts' only son, John Kenrick, died without issue, and cannot therefore have been the father of Edward ap John Kenrick of Gwersyllt, the ancestor of the Wynn Hall family.¹²¹

I now give in order of date the few notes and abstracts of wills concerning the "Marchwiel" pedigree and Kenricks of Marchwiel, which I have been able to collect. Will-searching I found quite hopeless in dealing with this almost surnameless region and period.

In 1606 the families of Powell, Brereton and Roydon were concerned in a dispute about lands in Marchwiel.¹²²

In 1607 John Kenrick and Katherine his wife, and Jasper Mottershead and Elizabeth his wife were plaintiffs, and John Randall and David Randall and Amy his wife were defendants, in an action concerning lands in the lordship of Bromfield and Yale. The lands had lately belonged to Morgan Matthew and Doulee his wife. Morgan had conveyed lands to his wife, setting aside his children Katherine and Elizabeth, two of the plaintiffs. Doulee had married David Randall and thereupon changed her name to Amy. She was daughter of Piers Tilston.¹²³

In 1617 Robert Powell ap David ap Robert ap Howell was plaintiff in respect of lands in Marchwiel.¹²⁴ This proves the second, third, fourth and fifth generations in the direct line of Part II of the pedigree.

In 1620 Norden's Survey of the Lordship of Bromfield and Yale, which I have already mentioned, gave under Ruabon:—

Kenric Edgbury (i.e., Edisbury), a freeholder.¹²⁵

¹²⁴ Ibid., Hilary 14 James I., 18.

¹²⁵ The Will of a Kenrick Edisbury of Chatham was proved in P.C.C. in 1638 (122 Lee). I also find that in Hilary Term, 1675, a Kenrick Edisbury was sued by one Jeffries for selling to him a horse which was "moon blind." The Depositions in this case were taken at Wrexham. (Exchequer Depositions.) Mr. Palmer kindly informs me that this later Kenrick Edisbury was son of Richard Edisbury, the youngest son of the above Kenrick Edisbury of Ruabon.

John Kenrick, of Marchwiell, gentleman, owner of one capital messuage, three tenements and forty acres.

Kenric Dunbabin, a freeholder in Marchwiell.

Also, under Iscoyd :—

John Kenricke pays for free lands.

In 1670 the Hearth Tax for Denbighshire¹²⁶ mentions under Marchwiell Martyn Kenricke and William Kenricke, and I understand Mr. Palmer to believe that the latter was son of Kenrick Dunbabin mentioned above, as living in 1620.

On 31st July 1684, Martin Kenrick, of Marchwiell, yeoman, being "aged & weake in body," made his will. He mentions his daughter, Margaret, wife of Samuel Thomas, and their daughter Alis. His daughter Elizabeth, 5 shillings. His daughter Sarah, 5 shillings. Residue to beloved wife Ermine, and she executrix.

Overseers—Cozens Roger Griffith of Abinbury, and John Kenrick of Marchwiell.

Proved at St. Asaph 25th May 1685. Inventory, £23 11s. 2d.

On 11th December 1702, John Kenrick, of Sontley, yeoman, made his will. "And first being heartyly sorry for my sins past," etc. To son Peter Kenricke, £10, and £10 to be divided among his children. To the poor of the parish of Marchwiell, £5 for ever, to be laid out for them, and my trusty and well-beloved friend Philip Roberts, of Sontley, Gent., his executors and administrators to be overseers of the said £5.

Residue to my daughter Margaret Digkinson, and she executrix.

The testator sets to the will his mark and seal.

Witnesses—Phillip Roberts, Samuel Kenrick, Robert Hughes.

Proved at St. Asaph by the executrix, 13th November 1704, the testator being described as of "Marchwhiall."

On 4th October 1727 John Kendrick, of Marchwiell in co. Denbigh, made his will. He desires "my debts and funeral expenses to be paid by my principall executor." Sonne Joseph one shilling. Daughter Hanna one shilling. Brother Cornelious Leech, ten shillings. The residue to Sarah Kendrick my wife, and she sole executrix. And Cornelious Leech my brother-in-law, and John Williams of Pentrey Velin Bilstone, to be executors with my wife that they may be in power to see that this my last will be fulfilled.

Witnesses—John Williams, Jonathan Williams and Edward Williams.

Proved at Chester by the executrix, 4th December 1728, and power reserved for the other two. The following Inventory is attached :—

¹²⁶ Quoted by "H.G.W." in "Bye-gones," vol. vii. It is, I believe, that numbered 364 in P.R.O.

"A true and full Invitary of the goods & chattels of John Kendrick of the township of Cly in the parish of Bangor in the county of Flint, deceased," includes "Coles at the hous, 6s.; saddle & bridle and waring aprill, 9s. 6d.; the hay, £1 5s.; one cow & caulf taken away by his son-in-law, £2 10s.; total, £16 19s. 6d. Don by us—William Evans, Job + Probbert."

I have also sundry notes of Kenricks who were of Ruabon before the Wynn Hall family, and these were possibly descendants of the "Marchwiell" family. As to this, however, I have no evidence except the contiguity of Ruabon and Marchwiell. Still, it would seem likely that the following extract¹²⁷ from Llansilin Registers relates to a Kenrick of gentle descent, seeing that the Kyflins were a family of some importance. :—

"Edward Kynerick, of the parish of Rhywabon, and Susanna Kyflin of the parish of Llansilin, married" in 1676 (no day or month stated).

7. THE KENWRICKS OF OFFENHAM, WORCESTERSHIRE, AND ATHERSTONE-ON-STOUR, WARWICKSHIRE.

In Grazebrook's "Heraldry of Worcestershire" this family is said to be of Stock and Bradley, a small parish in that county, lying near to Feckenham, and also of King's Sutton, Northamptonshire. I am quite satisfied that it was a branch of the King's Sutton Kenwricks, and it was established by :—

EDWARD KENWRICK, who (described as "Edward Kenwricke, Gent., of King's Sutton, Northants, aged about 30, bachelor") had licence at Worcester, dated 28th April 1693, to marry Ann Emms, of Offenham,¹²⁸ aged about 24, spinster. He evidently lived at Offenham, and was doubtless the Edward "Kenwick," a freeholder in Offenham, who appears in the 1703-4 List of Worcestershire Landowners, which forms the Twelfth Appendix to Grazebrook's "Heraldry of Worcestershire." There is (or was) a mural monument to his memory in Offenham Church, displaying the Kenrick arms—Ermine, a lion rampant Sable, and stating that he was born at King's Sutton, Northants, and died 13th September 1727, aged 63. This goes near to identifying him with Edward, fifth son of Robert Kenwick, of King's Sutton, which Edward, according to Baker's "Northamptonshire," was baptized at Sutton, 17th September 1663, and was "living in 1681." "Edward Kenrick Gent. and Anne Emes" were married at Offenham, 11 May 1693, and the monument states that she died 22nd September 1747, aged 79. Not having made any search in the Offenham Registers, ¹²⁷ Kindly supplied by E. Hughes, Esq., of Glyndwr, Wrexham.

¹²⁸ Memoranda of the late H. S. Grazebrook, doubtless taken from Mr. Wadley's "Worcester Marriage Licenses."—The Genealogist, O.S.

or at the Worcester Probate Registry, I am unable to say more about their issue¹²⁹ than that Edward and Anne Kenrick had a son :—

EDWARD KENRICK, who, as “son of Edward Kenrick,¹³⁰ of Uffingham, co. Worcester, pleb.,¹³¹ matriculated at Balliol College, Oxford, in 1710-11.¹³² He took his B.A. degree from St. Alban’s Hall in 1714, and his M.A. from Magdalen Hall in 1717. Foster states that he was Rector of Atherstone on Stour (Warwickshire) in 1719, and Vicar of Stratford-on-Avon from 1736 to 1762, from which it appears that he was a pluralist, for a monument in Atherstone Church states that he was Rector there for “upwards of forty-two years.”¹³³ On 26th December 1721, “The Reverend Edward Kenrick Rector of Atherston, and Mrs. Mary Field” were married at Offenham.¹³⁴ The following particulars of their descendants are taken almost entirely from what I may call the “Cox Pamphlet,” to which the “Germ or Pedigree” of the King’s Sutton Kenricks, already mentioned, was prefixed. (See Vol. xxiv, pp. 100, 101.) This pamphlet gives a pedigree of the Cox family, and also a copy of the lengthy inscription concerning the Kenrick family which is (or was) in the chancel of Atherstone Church, and in the pamphlet the name is throughout spelled “Kendrick.” The inscription states that Mary, wife of the Reverend Edward “Kendrick,” died 20th February 1742, aged 47, and that she was “daughter of Oliver Field, of the City of Bristol, gent., by his wife, Ann, daughter of Cristopher Newington,¹³⁵ of Offenham, in the County of Worcester, gent.” The Reverend Edward Kenrick and Mary his wife had the following issue :—

1. Edward Kenrick, died 3rd September 1724, aged 4 months.
2. Robert Kenrick, died 9th December 1727, aged 2 years 6 months.
3. Edward Townsend Kenrick, who as “son of Edward Kenrick, of Stratford-on-Avon, co. Warwick, ¹²⁹ In Kelly’s Directory for 1884 Robert Kendrick appears as a farmer at Bradley-and-Stock.

¹³⁰ Both forms of the name being given by Foster, I presume that one or the other was used indifferently.

¹³¹ The description of his father as “plebeian” made me doubtful as to his descent from the King’s Sutton Kenricks, which, however, seems hardly disputable considering the evidences I have given. I fancy that gentle birth was sometimes ignored in order to secure scholarships intended for the poorer classes.

¹³² Foster’s “Alumni Oxonienses.”

¹³³ Atherstone and Stratford are only three miles apart, and it is a polite fiction to describe Atherstone Rectory in these days as a “living.”

¹³⁴ Memoranda of the late H. S. Grazebrook.

¹³⁵ The “Heraldry of Worcestershire” gives no account of any Newington family, but the 1703-4 List of Worcestershire Freeholders mentions a William Newington at Offenham. There are Newington pedigrees in Berry’s “Sussex Pedigrees” and “Kent Pedigrees,” but I have not examined them.

Clerk," matriculated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, in 1758, aged 16. He was doubtless named "Townsend" in memory of his ancestor, George Townsend, the prothonotary already mentioned,¹³⁶ whose family seems to have endowed some college, for the Cox Pamphlet states that the Kenricks claimed scholarships as kin to the Townsend family. Edward Townsend Kenrick was a D.D. and for 33 years Rector of Atherstone, and is said to have kept a pack of Harriers.¹³⁷ He died—evidently unmarried, though it is not so stated—16th August 1799, aged 58.

1. Ann Kenrick, died 16th June 1792, aged 69.
2. Mary Kenrick, died 5th September 1727, aged 4 months.
3. Mary Kenrick, died 16th July 1767, aged 39.
4. Elizabeth Kenrick, married the Reverend Thomas Cox, who was born in 1724, and in 1754 was Chaplain of Deritend and Bordesley in the parish of Aston-juxta-Birmingham. They had a large family, including the Rev. Thomas Cox, Rector of Baginton, Warwickshire, whose son, the Rev. Thomas Cox, D.D., died 10th January 1868, aged 79 years, having been fifty-two years Rector of Atherstone-on-Stour. Another son of "Chaplain" Thomas Cox and Elizabeth was Edward Townsend Cox, a notable surgeon of Birmingham, born 1769 and died 1863, whose son, William Sands Cox, F.R.S., was also a well-known townsman of Birmingham. Another descendant of the marriage was, I presume, the Rev. Cecil Walker Cox, Rector of Atherstone in 1884. Elizabeth (Kenrick) Cox, was the last surviving child of her parents, and dying 14th November 1810, was buried at Aston-juxta-Birmingham.
5. Ursula Kenrick, died 26th February 1783, aged 49.
6. Catharine Kenrick, married Butler Simmons, gent., and dying 11th March 1806, aged 70, was buried at St. Paul's Church, Bristol.
7. Margaret Kenrick, died 20th February 1809, aged 71.

1 Ann Lacaux names in 1769 four Séguier cousins—Peter senior, Peter junior, David, and Ann. Peter junior may be pretty confidently identified with a sculptor of this name, who executed a medallion profile in marble of David Garrick; and David with a picture-dealer of that name, two of whose sons, William and John, became known as topographical and landscape painters. William (1771-1843) was the first Curator of the National Gallery, and John (1785-1856), who was commissioned to restore the Rubens ceiling of the Whitehall Banqueting Hall, succeeded William as Superintendent of the British Institution.

THE OUTFIT OF A NAVAL CADET IN THE REIGN OF GEORGE II.

CONTRIBUTED BY KEITH W. MURRAY, F.S.A.

Among some miscellaneous papers relating to a branch of the great family of Ogilvy,¹ was found the following detailed account of expenses incurred for the outfit necessary to start a "Volunteer," or "King's Letter boy," in his career on entering the Royal Navy nearly two hundred years ago. Alexander Ogilvy, for whose benefit the various items enumerated were purchased, many of which in these days appear curious in the extreme, was second surviving son of George, fourth Lord Banff. Born in 1718,² he entered the Navy in his fifteenth year, the warrant appointing him to the "Dreadnought"³ being dated the 16th February 1732-3.⁴ A little more than five years later he succeeded his elder brother in the title and estates, and thereby became sixth Lord Banff, but remained in the Navy until his death in 1746. It may be worth noting that we glean from this account that the "Dreadnought" was at Portsmouth under the command of a Captain Geddes in 1733.

Notices of Books.

THE PLANTAGENET ROLL OF THE BLOOD ROYAL, BEING A COMPLETE TABLE OF ALL THE DESCENDANTS NOW LIVING OF EDWARD III, KING OF ENGLAND. By the Marquis of Ruvigny and Raineval. The Isabel of Essex Volume. London and Edinburgh (T. C. and E. C. Jack).

Another instalment of the Plantagenet Roll makes its appearance, resplendent in the now familiar blue and gold covers, but lacking the beautiful photogravures, and other illustrations which added so greatly to the attraction of its predecessors. The Roll has now reached the issue of Isabel, wife of Henry Bourchier, first Earl of Essex, and paternal aunt of Edward IV. This volume not only contains the descendants, or rather the descendants that have been found, of this Princess, but also Supplements to the three previous volumes, and these we trust may be continued in the future, for the only hope of obtaining anything like a complete Roll of the Blood Royal lies in the probability that as time goes on, families as yet unaware that a strain of royal blood flows in their veins may discover, and desire to record, the fact. Many of the descents have been worked out very fully and with much care, especially where the compiler has been fortunate enough to obtain the co-operation of living descendants and of well known genealogists; in other cases names seem to have been copied out of printed books, with but little or no attempt to trace the lines further. It is most interesting to find that Charles Darwin, the eminent naturalist, sprang from Isabel of Essex, while the descent of his wife appears in the Clarence Supplement. Other interesting lines are those of a race of Shropshire colliers coming from the Leightons of Ford; the posterity of Donagh MacCarty the forfeited Earl of Clancarty; and the numerous descendants of William Money of Pitsford, some of whom now bear the double surname of Money-Coutts. In the Clarence Supplement the line of Sir Geoffrey Pole has been worked out further and in the Supplement to the Exeter volume we are glad to observe that, in response perhaps to some hints contained in our last notice, many pages of royally descended persons have been added to the Roll, including the issue of Barbara Ann Spooner by her marriage with William Wilberforce, the philanthropist. This Supplement also records a hitherto unknown branch of the noble family of Fane.

On p. 156 Richard Heber of Marton, who died in July 1766, is said to have died s.p.; he had, however, three daughters and coheirs, one of whom left descendants. On p. 188 we do not see the name of Sir Algernon West, author of a charming volume of "Recollections," and on p. 487 no descendants are supplied of William and Louisa Garforth, though some of them have been recorded in the Exeter volume, and several others, including Admiral Edmund St. John Garforth, C.B., are in existence. Another omission occurs on p. 534, where no attempt has been made to work out the posterity of Bridget, wife of Francis Savage, for which reference should be made to the pedigree of Savage of Ballymadun in the 1850 edition of the Landed Gentry. In a book containing so many particulars of family history, too much stress must not be laid upon misprints and errors in dates, but there are two obvious slips in the wording of the Preface which ought to have been corrected, and in some other respects the work requires careful revision; for instance, the first wife of Lord Mexborough, who died in 1900, is entered as living, while on p. 599 of the Exeter Supplement a lady still alive and in good health, has been prematurely despatched, though the date of her supposed decease has been left blank.

VISITATION OF ENGLAND AND WALES. Edited by Frederick Arthur Crisp. Volume xv. (Privately printed.)

The period covered by the earlier generations comprised in Mr. Crisp's Visitation is often a most difficult one to English genealogists, and both the family historian and the family lawyer of the future will be grateful for the good work which, with so much accuracy of detail, is now being accomplished. There is a continuous thread of connection running through the Visitation, which adds greatly to its value and interest; the majority of the pedigrees dovetail with each other, and the cross references are many. The genealogies contained in this volume include those of the Earl of Warwick, Viscount Goschen, Lord De Ramsay, the late Lord Amherst of Hackney, and three baronets, Sir Dudley Baines Forwood, Sir Frederick Dixon-Hartland, and Sir Charles Hubert Hastings Parry. The family of Fanshawe has a most distinguished naval and military record, and among other pedigrees of especial interest are those of Deacon of Birchin Lane and Mapledon, Arkwright of Sutton Scarsdale, and Murray of Titchfield, the last named family being derived from Lord William Murray, third son of the third Duke of Atholl. The illustrations are not very numerous, and, except for some curious silhouettes, are entirely armorial. An odd mistake occurs on page 117, where Portland Place, West Kensington, has been given as the birthplace of one of Lord Derby's brothers, instead of the better known street of the same name in the parish of St. Marylebone. A most satisfactory and comprehensive index completes a very interesting and excellently edited volume.

THE NORFOLK ANTIQUARIAN MISCELLANY (Second Series). Part iii. Edited by Walter Rye. Norwich (Gibbs and Waller).

Part iii of the Norfolk Antiquarian Miscellany makes up in quality for what it lacks in quantity, and contains, moreover, the Index to the three parts which have been published. Mr. H. F. Killick discusses the origin and history of Thetford Hill; and Mr. Richard Howlett, F.S.A., has edited the Early Bede Roll of the Merchants' Guild at Lynn, and has been at great pains to identify and date many of the brethren of the Guild. Among these occurs the name of John Chaucer, believed to have been great grandfather of the poet. Prince Frederick Duleep Singh contributes a transcript of an old Latin pedigree of the Knyvetts from the Le Neve MSS., drawn up in 1651, and containing some critical remarks written by Le Neve in and about 1697. The early generations are more or less fabulous, but the later descents appear more likely to be correct than in the version contained in the works of Sir Bernard Burke and his many copyists. We shall look forward with much interest to the notes foreshadowed to appear in a future number of the Miscellany. Mr. Rye, who has been much occupied with the preparation of his forthcoming Visitation of Norfolk, has only one paper in this Part, an article on the origin of Hubert de Burgh the Justiciary, in which as usual, he propounds a theory which is entirely novel, for after showing that Burgh by Aylsham, not Burgh St. Margaret, was the original home of the de Burghs, he contends that Hubert was paternally of the great house of Bigod. A tabular pedigree illustrates the suggested descent.

SOME ROYAL DESCENTS OF THE FAMILIES OF FLEETWOOD, BERRY, AND HOMAN-MULOCK. Edited by the late Sir Edmund T. Bewley, LL.D., F.S.A. (Printed for Private Circulation.) Dublin (printed at the University Press by Ponsonby and Gibbs).

This little book possesses a special interest as the last work of Sir Edmund Bewley, whose lamented death has left a gap among Irish genealogists which it will be difficult to fill. Starting as his base with the pedigree of the Fleetwoods of Kilbeggan recently contributed by him to the Genealogist, Sir Edmund, with his accustomed thoroughness of method, has traced the descent of that family through the Springs of Lavenham, Waldegraves of Smallbridge, Wentworths of Nettlestead, Le Despencers and De Clares from Joan, daughter of Edward I. Other tables carry the pedigree still further to Alfred the Great and Charlemagne, in a manner which will be familiar to genealogists.

Notes and Queries.

PEDIGREE OF DR. EDMOND HALLEY.—I am much obliged for the information given about Edmond Halley, sen., in Mr. Ernest Axon's note, printed in The Genealogist for October last (vol. xxv, pp. 143-144). Some additional facts can be found in a broadside, relating to the same subject, preserved in the Guildhall Library. A few remarks about the broadside (mentioned also in Notes and Queries, 10th Series, vol. v, p. 265) are included in a series of "Extracts from British Archives," published in the Magazine of History (New York, 1906-1907). I understand that twelve good men and true decided that Edmond Halley, sen., had been murdered. Are we able now to dispute the correctness of their verdict? It is just possible that troublesome times with some acute financial worries at the end, may have slightly disturbed the peace of mind of Edmond Halley, sen., shortly before his decease in 1684, but I am not at all prepared to believe that such a condition, if it existed, could have had any prenatal effect upon his son, the famous astronomer, born in 1656. There are two, perhaps relevant, but wholly unconfirmed, statements about Edmond Halley, sen., to be seen in Hearne's "Remarks," vol. iii, pp. 472-473, and vol. vi, p. 231. A list of Halley and Hawley wills (1532-1729) indexed in the Probate Registry at Lichfield was published in the Magazine of History (New York) for November last (vol. viii, p. 293).

BARONETCY OF LIVESEY.—A certain mystery surrounds the fate of Sir Michael Livesey, who, as of Eastchurch within the Isle of Sheppey, co. Kent, was created a baronet 11 July 1627, with remainder to the heirs male of his body (Patent Roll, 3 Charles I, Part xxxvi, No. 5). As a regicide Sir Michael after the Restoration fell upon evil days, and fled to the Continent. From the State Papers it appears that on 4 Sept. 1663 he was at Arnheim, and soon after landed at Plymouth, and on 16 April 1672 a certain Silas Taylor speaks of a packet boat in which came over "one Livesey, a commander under Oliver." On 27 Feb. 1665-6 admon. of the goods of his wife Dame Elizabeth Livesey of Maidstone, co. Kent, described as a widow, was granted to Deborah Livesey, her daughter, but whether the testatrix, an abstract of whose will is given below, was identical with this Deborah, I have as yet no certain proof. There was another daughter, Anne, wife of Sir Robert Sprignell, Bart.

4 August 1713. I Deborah Livesey of St. James's, Westminster, Spinster. To my Neice Elizabeth Sheldon—Money in Mr. Courtney's hands—To my Neice Mary Dodson her father's picture set in gold, &c.—my own picture in the little dressing Room—To my Brother Edward Wright money in Mr. Haswell's hands—To my Servant maid Jane Lund my picture over the Chimney in my Bedchamber. To Mr. Michell the Box of Chocolate I made last. To my Friend Mrs. Mary Groome—I make John Salvetti, Esquire and Mrs. Mary Groome executors. Signed, "Deb. Livesey."

Witnesses—Edward Beach, Elizabeth Doody.

16 September 1713, appeared Robert Laws of St. James's, Westminster, Apothecary and Jane Lund, wife of Thomas Lund of same parish Gent., and deposed that they had heard the deceased say, and particularly in her last sickness, that £30, part of the debt due from George Courtney, Esqre., to her upon Bond, was the proper moneys of John Salvetti, Esqre., one of the executors named in her last Will.

Proved P.C.C. 16 Sept. 1713 by John Salvetti Esqre., and Mary Groome (211 Leeds).

According to the newspapers, a claim was some years ago made to this baronetcy by the late Mr. Joseph Montague Livesey, of Stourton Hall, Lincolnshire, but descent does not seem to have been alleged from the first baronet, and the title does not appear to have been assumed by Mr. Livesey's son and successor in the family estates.
